CITY HALL GIVES UP TO GANGDOM, LYLE CHARGES

BY PARKE BROWN.

Judge Lyle last night condemned both Mayor Thompson and Acting Commissioner of Police Alcock for what he called their confessions of their inability to cope with the crime situation in Chicago.

At a noon luncheon in the Hotel Sherman, the candidate introduced stage properties into his activities. As an offset to the Thompson "jackass show," he displayed a submachine gun and a sawed-off shotgun. At two big meetings in the evening he again turned to his favorite topic of war against gangland. The first gathering was a dinner given by the Chicago Business Men's Republican committee in the La Salle. The second was a mass meeting in the Calumet High school.

Judge Lyle did not, however, forsake the ridicule that he began Monday night when he spoke repeatedly of his chief opponent as "Jumbo the Food Relief Quack." This time he called him "William Hale-itosis Thompson, the bad breath of politics."

Speakers Praise Lyle.

Other speakers at the business men's dinner also stressed the crime issue. Dr. John Dill Robertson, the "smash-crime-rings" mayoralty candidate of four years ago, said that Chicago was "headed for vigilantes and lamp posts" when Judge Lyle started the present fight.

William F. Mulvihill, state superintendent of waterways for more than five years, who has been in charge of all the recent construction work, entered an emphatic denial to Thompson's claim of credit for any part of the waterway work.

Charles J. McGowan, former state chairman of the La Follette organization, condemned the demoralization of labor unions by racketeers under the present administration. Alexander Fyfe hailed Lyle as the only Republican who can win on election day. Walter E. Bacon, as toastmaster, also praised Lyle.

Judge Quotes Thompson.

"Thompson," Lyle told his audiences, "makes the amazing statement from the public rostrum and in his platform that he can't stop crime. How does he know he can't stop crime? He's got to try first.

"The acting commissioner of police—I say 'acting' in a moment of generosity—also makes an amazing statement.

"Commenting on the bombing of the Lakeside Press, he says: 'I'm not surprised'.

"Well, as a matter of fact, none of us are much surprised at anything of that nature any more. But the acting commissioner of police also makes a prophecy. He says: 'There'll probably be a couple of more of the same sort.'

Suggests Advance Knowledge.

"Imagine such an admission from the head of the police department! It sounds as though he had advance information. I want to tell you right now that no police commissioner in the Lyle administration will make such a statement.

"And Alcock winds up by saying chuckalantly: 'Let 'em come. I'll catch up with them yet.

"In about two months' time he's going to have plenty of time to catch up with something, even if it is only sleep.

"Alcock is not a candidate and I wouldn't mention his name here but for the fact that the mayor has called him the best chief of police Chicago ever had, and that there were 37 robberies in the city during 24 hours of the last week-end, followed by a bombing."

Calls Thompson Counterfeit.

Some of his attacks on Thompson were even more direct.

"Our counterfeit mayor," he said at one point, "likes to refer to himself as a cowboy. As a matter of fact the closest he ever came to being a cow hand was to perform the duties of a chamber maid in a ranch bunk house in Wyoming.

"But it is not so important whether he was a real cow hand or just a bunk house flunkey. The important question is: How did it happen that he went out west where few questions are asked strangers about their past?

Puts Query to Thompson.

"Thompson sent paid emissaries down to my birthplace in Indiana and to my boyhood home in Tennessee to try to dig up some boyish wrong of mine if he could find one. He was disappointed; but if this comedy cowboy, Pitchfork Bill, wants to dig into the past, I'll ask him this: What happened

BUBBLE BURSTS; BANKRUPT, SAYS FINANCE WIZARD

Belvidere, Ill., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—The Benham financial bubble, which had floated this town and adjacent countryside on a sea of fancied affluence for more than a year, burst tonight.

The amateur financier, A. W. Benham who had paid all comers from 10 to 50 per cent interest and persuaded nearly all to reinvest, sent a statement to a Rockford newspaper declaring himself bankrupt.

A Rude Awakening.

Unaware of the crash, Belvidere's 8,000 residents slept peacefully tonight, but a repercussion is expected in the morning when the news becomes public. Benham's creditors in Belvidere alone are said to number 800 and his liabilities are reckoned at about $400,000.

In, his 600 word statement to the newspaper Benham made vague reference to enemies who "had conspired to ruin him," and made a bid for public sympathy by picturing himself as a man broken by jealous plots.

"I have sold everything I own to meet my outstanding obligations and a majority of the people who have invested money with me have had it returned," the statement averred.

In an interview afterwards at his home Benham estimated his liabilities at about $75,000, an announcement seemingly at variance with the claim in his statement.

Blames Troubles on Enemies.

"If some people and certain institutions had paid more attention to their own business and less to mine I would have been in good shape today," the statement asserted.

"I am through with the business world," it went on, "and all I ask is to be left alone. After a short rest, of which I am sorely in need, I will try to obtain employment and come back again."

It appeared unlikely that Benham's request to be "let alone" would be heeded. State's Attorney Alexander J. Strom, who had planned to present the case to the Boone county grand jury yesterday and deferred action because of the anticipated crash, announced the matter will now be taken up next Monday.

Started as Boy in Factory.

Benham, 40 years old and of bluff and jovial disposition, grew up in Belvidere. As a boy he began work for 50 cents a week in the town's largest factory, the National Sewing Machine plant, and was advanced by degrees to chief shipping clerk with a salary of $200 a month.

It was a year ago last December that he first began the financial operations which earned him almost idolatry from some of his neighbors. His initial stake, it is said, was $4,000, borrowed from a local bank on the security of his own and a neighbor's home.

On pay days he would approach his fellow workers with a tip that he had secret sources of speculation enambling him to win enormous sums. Some of the men entrusted him their wages, which he promptly returned with the promised interest.

Benham began to win regard as a "pretty smart boy." Word spread through the town and soon housewives began to call at the factory to make investments with Benham. Officials of the company, discovering the scope of his operations, planned to discharge him. He nonchalantly walked into the president's office and resigned.

Federal Inquiry Secret.

Belvidere bankers became alarmed when, in the course of one week, they discovered that $300,000 had been withdrawn from savings and checking accounts to be sunk in Benham's scheme. His exploits came to the attention of the internal revenue department and solicitors were sent to examine his books.

Although the solicitors strictly adhered to the federal regulation of secrecy in such investigations, Benham sought advice from other sources and the report was spread that he had filed a report indicating assets of $60,000 as against liabilities of $461,000.

Since then there had been a steady drain on his resources, it is said. Last Friday, for the first time, he refused prompt redemption of their notes to several creditors. The report of the defalcation spread and scores of investors called at his office only to be told there was a "big deal on" and that they would be paid on Wednesday.

The "big deal," it transpired, was Benham's announcement of bankruptcy.

BOMB MANSION IN GLEN ELLYN; TOWN SHAKEN

Glen Ellyn was shaken last night by a bomb explosion, which wrecked the rear of a new $100,000 home being built for J. K. Marshall, Chicago jeweler, in Hill avenue, just east of Main street.

Many dwellings blocks away were jarred and scores of windows were broken. Harry McCabe, a watchman, was knocked to the ground by the blast, but escaped uninjured. Many residents of the town rushed to the scene, but were kept from approaching too close because of a fear a second charge of explosive was still in the place.

The bombing was believed due to labor troubles. Last September Marshall supplanted union help with non-organized labor when complaint was made by the union workers against an outside shipment of lumber. Since then the jeweler has received two anonymous threatening notes, he said last night.

He was unable to estimate the damage, but it was believed it would run high because of belief that the foundation of the home might have been weakened by the blast. Marshall lives at 553 Hill avenue, Glen Ellyn.

$200,000 HEIRESS IN BOSTON WILL WED A PLUMBER

Newton, Mass., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Pillsbury Phillips, daughter of the late Albert E. Pillsbury, former attorney general of Massachusetts and ardent anti-feminist, revealed today a new romance, eight days after her divorce in the Reno courts.

The $200,000 heiress and Ellsworth W. Poole, 38, plumbing inspector, said they planned to be married Saturday.

The former attorney general left bequests of $25,000 each to Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Columbia universities for the express purpose of "combating feminism" and teaching women that their proper place was the home. Harvard, Yale, and Princeton have rejected the legacy.

Mrs. Phillips, who is 23, was granted a divorce Feb. 2 from Richard B. Phillips, Edinburgh university medical student, in Reno, Nev.

Arrested 18 Times, Given Year as Dry Law Violator

Logansport, Ind., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Carl Warnke, 44, arrested eighteen times as a scofflaw, was today sentenced to serve one to two years in state prison upon a plea of guilty to violation of the dry law. It was his third offense. Three other felony charges against him were dismissed. It was Warnke's first sentence to the state prison.

Congress Passes Bill for Air Mail Service Medal

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—(AP)—The senate tonight passed and sent to the White House the Phipps bill authorizing the President to present an "air mail fliers' medal of honor" to those who distinguish themselves in this service.

2 Darby Day Companies in Receivership

Judge William J. Lindsay yesterday appointed receivers for two of the group of casualty insurance companies controlled by Darby A. Day of Chicago. This action follows the filing of a suit in the Superior court which charged Day and an associate with conspiracy and alleged that the assets of the defendant companies were being removed and concealed.

Alvin S. Keyes of Springfield was named receiver for the Chicago Fidelity and Casualty company, of which Day is president, and Will H. Wade of Chicago was appointed receiver for the Darby Day Investment corporation, fiscal agent for the first named company.

Two Complainants in Suit.

The complainants in the suit are the Federal Surety company of Davenport, Ia., and the International Reinsurance company of California. Their action arose out of the agreement of the Federal Surety company during July and August of 1930 to guarantee the purchase price paid by the Darby Day Investment corporation for the Automobile Underwriters and the Liberty Insurance company.

This liability at one time, it is alleged, amounted to $840,000, divided as follows: $499,762 to guarantee the represented price per share of the Chicago Fidelity and Casualty, which was exchanged for stock of the Automobile Underwriters; $200,000 for the stock of the Liberty company; $100,000 for a loan negotiated with the Terminal National bank of Chicago on the stock of the Automobile Underwriters, and $40,000 on an attachment of funds in Ohio.

Reinsurance Is Demanded.

The bonds of the Federal Surety as to the Liberty company and the Terminal National bank were later discharged, and the Federal company insisted that its liability of $499,762 on the Automobile Underwriters be reinsured, according to the suit.

The petition alleged that Day and Jerome B. McCutchan, the secretary and treasurer of the Chicago Fidelity and Casualty company, had prevailed on the International Reinsurance company to reinsure this liability on the representation that the Chicago Fidelity and Casualty company held assets in excess of $4,000,000.

The petition further alleged that the company did not possess and never has possessed assets of this value, and discusses the worth of the assets in its possession, principally mortgages on Missouri farm lands and stock in the subordinate companies.

Two Others Made Defendants.

W. L. Taylor, former president of the Federal Surety company, and W. P. Anderson, lumberman of Cape Girardeau, Mo., chairman of the board of the Chicago Fidelity and Casualty company, are made party defendants.

Judge Lindsay issued temporary injunctions to restrain the use of the assets of the defendant companies several days ago, but at that time postponed action on the receivership pleas on the representation of counsel for the Chicago Fidelity and Casualty company that a deal was under way to reëstablish the solvency of the subordinate companies and discharge the liability of the complaining surety company.

Mr. Day has been ill for several weeks. He began the formation of the Chicago Fidelity and Casualty company in April, 1930, after many years in the life insurance business.

STOCK MARKET HAS ANOTHER BUSY DAY OF CLIMBING PRICES

New York, Feb. 10.—[Special.]—It was judgment day on the New York Stock exchange again for speculators who have been selling their country short.

Forces of construction took charge once more at the opening of the market and by dint of heavy and persistent buying sent prices whirling up $2 to $14 a share to new high levels for the year. The demand was general and all groups, industrials, utilities, oils, rails specialties shared generously alike in the gains.

Transactions totalled around 4,800,000 shares, the largest turnover since Dec. 17 last and the largest on a rising market since last spring.

Enthusiasm engendered by the rise on the big board spread to other markets. Substantial gains were registered on the New York curb exchange and bonds advanced all along the line.

REJECTS PLEA OF PLUMBERS FOR SPECIAL ELECTION

Demands for a special election of officials of the Plumbers' union were turned down last night by John Coefield of Washington, D. C., international president, at a meeting of 3,500 members at the union headquarters, 1340 Washington boulevard.

The requests were made in an effort to oust several of the officers, who were accused of looting the organization funds. Recently a complaint charging the theft of funds was made to the state's attorney's office, and books of the local were seized for examination.

Mr. Coefield told the union members last night that an election at this time would be illegal. He said he would take the organization books to Washington for an audit, and would determine whether a special election should be held. Another speaker was "Dapper Dan" McCarthy, a business agent, who has been drawing a salary, it is charged, although he has been in California for years.

U. S. to Frank Mail in Drive for Job Fund

The drive for the $5,000,000 relief fund being conducted by the governor's unemployment commission, which was scheduled to end tonight, will be extended into next week, it was announced last night. The federal government will aid in the final drive by extending franking privileges permitting the solicitation by mail of every Chicago householder.

It is planned to have the mail carrier deliver to 1,125,000 Chicago residents envelopes with a request that they be returned with a relief fund contribution inclosed.

The decision to extend the drive was reached after a meeting of committee heads yesterday afternoon, at which it was shown it would be impossible to raise the remaining $353,879 today. Total collections last night stood at $4,552,621, with "provisional plus" subscriptions, collection of which depends on subscription of the entire quota, bringing the total amount pledged to $4,646,121.

Board to Act Till April 1.

The present campaign, conducted through trade group committees, and obtaining funds through personal solicitations, will end Saturday night. The mail solicitation will follow.

While the fund raising committee will be disbanded as soon as the relief quota has been completed by means of the mail campaign, the commission as a whole will function until April 1 to disburse the funds to the needy.

In announcing the franking of mail solicitations Philip R. Clarke, chairman of the fund raising committee, said: "Since the inception of the drive we have felt that a great number of people would gladly contribute if we could but reach them. We decided to reach each home by mail.

"With some modifications this plan has been approved by the government. The envelopes will be sent through the mail free of charge. A return envelope, to be used to inclose a donation, will be sent to each home."

In Line with U. S. Policy.

This is the first time the government has extended the franking privilege for such a purpose.

An official of the postoffice department last night said the privilege was not extended directly by the postmaster general, but was given in response to a request from the department of commerce, which, he said, had the right to do so.

The unprecedented move, it was pointed out, was in line with the federal government's policy to contribute every available federal facility to the relief of the destitute.

Yesterday's contributions, many of them small sums accompanied by a letter of explanation as to why they were not larger, totaled $66,123. Many small donations were anonymous.

Among the contributions were: $500 from the Junior league of Chicago, $2,000 from the People's Gas club, composed of employés of the Peoples Gas company, and $253.50 from pupils of the Francis Parker school.

The larger gifts included $4,000 from Sears, Roebuck & Co. and employés, $5,000 additional from Halsey, Stuart & Co., $1,000 from the partners of the Pierce Electric company, $1,000 from the Acme Steel company and employés, $4,858 from the employés of the Alemite company, an additional gift of $650 from the Chicago Bridge and Iron works, $300 from J. Arnold, and $300 from the employés of Guy S. Osborn, Inc. The woman's division, under Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, announced that it had raised $23,465 of its $50,000 quota.

HOUSE PASSES O'GRADY WET MEASURE, 91-56

35 Republicans, 56 Democrats for It.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—The house tonight passed the O'Grady repealer to wipe out the Illinois prohibition law and the search and seizure act. The vote stood 91 to 56, and 77 was the required majority. The repealer went through the fourth time it has passed the house—in a flood of oratory and debate lasting more than seven hours, in which the Anti-Saloon league was denounced by some of its former friends in the chamber which for years it held under its thumb.

THOMAS J. O'GRADY.

Analysis of the vote showed 56 Democrats and 35 Republicans voted for the repealer. Twelve Democrats, all downstate, voted against it, and so did 39 downstate Republicans.

How Cook County Lined Up.

Of the Cook county members 37 Democrats and 20 Republicans voted for the O'Grady bill. Five Cook county Republicans voted against repeal—Church, Mrs. Jekes, Miss Perry, Swanson, and Thon. Two Cook county Republicans were absent and three Democrats were absent.

The repealer now goes to the senate, which is on holiday until Feb. 17, trailed by warnings from some house speakers that unless it gets senate action as an urgent mandate item, appropriation bills may be tied up. Others voiced admonitions for the Emmerson administration to maintain a "hands off" policy on the repealer.

Call Dry League Evil Genius.

The Anti-Saloon league tonight, before packed galleries, was assailed as the "evil genius" of the Republican party. Earlier in the day Truman A. Snell, a former state director of the league and in other sessions a dry floor leader, treated the league to one of the severest castigations in the history of the house. Judge Snell called the league "the most intolerant, bigoted, inconsistent, repugnant organization in Illinois."

"The league is just another form of racket," he said.

The Republican party was warned by Representative Frank A. McCarthy, of Elgin, Republican, "to cut loose from the Anti-Saloon league and get back to the people."

Holier Than Thou Attitude.

"The Anti-Saloon league has been able to influence more Republicans than Democrats," he said. "The league has come here with an holier than thou attitude, but you can lay at its door more corruption in public office than in the rest of national history. The time has come for the Republican party to listen to what the people say. We either must separate from the tentacles of the league or the party will go down to destruction."

In a similar strain, Michael L. Igoe, minority leader, addressed the Republican side of the house.

"You people know," he said, "the Republican party is supported by the Anti-Saloon league and the Ku Klux and without their support Hoover would not have been elected President. You won in 1928 on issues that by their own rottenness almost destroyed your party and if you do not get away from them your party will be destroyed as sure as fate."

Castigates Dry League.

Besides the castigation of the Anti-Saloon league, an onslaught upon legislators who ignore the popular mandate as expressed in the referendum for repeal in November, roused the chamber.

Representative Leroy M. Green of Rockford, a Republican and chairman of the revenue committee, advocated the formation of a popular government movement inside the legislature to compel fulfillment of the repeal mandate. It faces a battle in the senate, where the lines are closely drawn.

Mr. Green threw at his colleagues this idea: "No appropriations until the will of the people is obeyed."

Mr. Green argued that the repealed is urgent business by virtue of the November mandate and that it has the right of way. By bearing down on funds and appropriations for the state government, he pointed out the effect would be to cramp the "nullifiers of mandates."

For weeks liberals have been proposing the formation of a popular government bloc to hold back action on other legislation until the mandate bills get action.

"The liberals had 27 votes," he said, "we still think there are 27. But there is a whispering campaign. Some are saying the governor does not want to be confronted with the repeal bill. If the governor should tamper with the third floor, the same thing would happen to him that happened to the Republican state candidates last fall."

As to temperance, O'Grady with a glance toward some of the well cushioned drys, said over indulgence in food is as bad as in beverages.

"More are going to the cemeteries from overeating than in anti-prohibition days went from drinking," said O'Grady.

The old argument of the drys that the referendum has no moral binding force because it did not receive a majority last November of all the votes cast two years before on president was trotted out by Roger F. Little of Champaign. Mr. Green ripped into this fortified by a copy of the code, which he remarked contained no such stipulation. "It's a foolish argument," he said, "the people have spoken.

Worries About Constitution.

Representative H. D. Sparks of Shelbyville, Republican dry, argued that the repealer would knock the props from under the constitution. "I'm wondering," he said, "whether the country wants 48 varieties of liquor. Behind all this are the millions of the liquor traffic which wants to bring liquor back."

"Well," interjected Representative O'Grady, "I never took a 5 cent piece from the association opposed to prohibition, nor from a distillery nor a brewery. I don't think all drys can say that about the Anti-Saloon league."

"Forty-eight varieties of liquor," cried Representative Snell, "Well, let me ask the gentleman from Shelbyville how many kinds have we got today."

One of the impressive passages in the address of Mr. Snell was his reading of correspondence between him and the league.

Nothing Sacred About a Law.

"To me, however," he said, "there is nothing sacred about a law that the people don't want. I sat in the Democratic state convention and heard Anton J. Cermak address the delegates on the anti-prohibition plank. I was in doubt. I made speeches telling my people for heaven's sake vote one way or the other, for if elected I want to know how the people in my district stand, and whichever way they speak it is my duty to reflect it in my vote here.

"I'm told the Anti-Saloon league told the people not to vote on the referendum. I said when you've had as much experience with the league as I have and have been double crossed and two timed by the Anti-Saloon league you'll stop taking any advice from it. If the league can't make a rubber stamp out of you, it can't use you."

Reads Letter from Safford.

Judge Snell pulled out from a file a letter addressed to him May 17, 1928, from George L. Safford, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Illinois, inviting him as a director of the league to attend the annual meeting at Springfield, June 5, 1928.

"With the probability of a wet candidate for President of the United States looming in the foreground," it said, "we certainly have a big task ahead."

In his answer, on which he broke company with the league, Judge Snell replied to Supt. Safford:

"I ask you, can you imagine Al Smith as President, appointing a man interested in the whisky business, a holder of tremendous stocks in the Overholt distilleries, to enforce the Volstead act and the 18th amendment as Mr. Harding and Mr. Coolidge did in appointing Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, a man personally and politically wet and whose sentiments and sympathies were all against these enforcements?

"I dare say you do not even suspect that Gov. Smith would set the same kind of example about observing the Volstead law as President Harding did in the White House, conspicuous by its breach in honoring the law he swore he would enforce, and the man who led with the greatest number of delegates for nomination at Kansas City, Secretary Hoover, the very man who has been a cabinet member through the Harding and Coolidge administrations and active right through the whole time the fearful and crooked things were being done and who failed to utter a word of protest. Instead he publicly announces he is in favor of a continuance of these very policies.

"I say to you that with the record of the national (and state) Republican administration, its Daugherty, Fall, Denby, Sinclair, Doheny, Stewart, Forbes, Miller, and Hays (Small, Smith, Big Bill Thompson, and Sterling), there is something in the coming campaign besides just the wet and dry question with me; it is some old-fashioned, time honored political honesty and decency."

No Reply to Snell Letter.

The reading of the letters was followed with keen interest by the house.

"I didn't receive a reply to my letter," said Judge Snell. "It wasn't anything to be surprised at. I was useful so long as I was a rubber stamp dry.

"My district voted for repeal by 1,306, and as a Democrat I believe in majority rule. In my vote I'm going to represent a majority of those who have abdominal fortitude to vote their convictions on that issue."

John P. Devine of Dixon, formerly a dry but now a liberal, said, "I've been uniformly classed as a dry. I'm a teetotaler and believe in temperance. I voted for the search and seizure bill."

"Some years ago the Anti-Saloon league sought a state wide referendum. I was against it and was criticized by the league as one of the three wet leaders, although all the saloons were against me. All you had to do to get a league indorsement was to be a rubber stamp. It didn't matter how you voted on any other question so long as you voted as they said on liquor."

BADGER SENATE ASKS REPEAL FOR PROSPERITY SAKE

Two Million Jobs Hinge on Beer O. K.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Madison, Wis., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Wisconsin's senate voted today to ask congress for relief from prohibition, by almost any method that congress might devise.

Without roll calls, because no one asked for them, the upper house adopted three resolutions which now go to the assembly for approval.

Senator Thomas M. Duncan, Socialist, Milwaukee, would have the congress conduct a national prohibition referendum at which voters would answer:

"Shall the policy of prohibition be abandoned?

"Shall the Volstead act be amended to allow the manufacture and sale of 2.75 per cent beer?"

Means Jobs for 2,000,000.

Based on the premise that nearly 2,000,000 men would receive employment as well as aiding the farmer through increased grain sales, the resolution by Senator L. C. Fons, Republican, Milwaukee, asks congress "to relieve the present depression and to bring work and business to millions by modifying the Volstead act to permit the manufacture and sale of beer and wine."

Senator Bernard Gettelman, Republican, Milwaukee, based his resolution on the Wickersham report and asks congress to repeal or modify immediately the Eighteenth amendment.

Passage by House Certain.

The vote on the three resolutions was the first action by the upper house this year on the prohibition question. The lower house is even more overwhelmingly wet than the senate and the resolutions will have no trouble winning entire legislative indorsement. The last legislature went as far as the state could go by repealing the state dry act, and all that's left for legislators this year is to appeal to congress for national relief.

Prior to the opening of the present legislative session there was some talk in Milwaukee that Wisconsin might inaugurate a plan whereby the state itself would dispense liquor. Several lawyers advanced the theory that the state itself might handle liquor and that the government could not interfere. But this plan has not been discussed so far during the legislative session.

TRAGIC SUMMONS COMES IN MIDST OF HOME VISIT

Dr. George Abelio, his wife, and a friend, Mrs. Michael M. Levy, were visiting in the living room of the Abelio home at 735 Junior terrace last night, when a special delivery letter addressed to the doctor, was received. He scanned it, said nothing, but departed immediately.

The letter read: "In Room 225 of the Uptown hotel, you will find me dead. Michael M. Levy."

Dr. Abelio hurried to the hotel at 4700 Broadway, and with hotel employés entered room 225. On the bed lay the body of Levy, a towel saturated with chloroform covering his face. Nearby were two empty bottles. Police were notified, and the physician returned home to carry the news of the tragedy to Mrs. Levy.

Levy was a member of Vogel, Kohn & Levy, cloak dealers of 309 West Jackson boulevard. His widow could not explain his suicide, but police were of the belief it was prompted by financial difficulties. The Levy home is at 3520 Sheridan road.

COOLIDGE, ROOSEVELT ASKED THEIR VIEWS ON DRY LAW REPEAL

Columbus, O., Feb. 10.—(AP)—George W. Wickersham, chairman of President Hoover's committee on prohibition, former President Coolidge, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, and other notables have been invited to give their views on a proposed national constitutional convention to consider repeal of the eighteenth amendment before the Ohio senate judiciary committee Wednesday evening, Feb. 18.

The invitation was sent by Senator L. L. Marshall, Republican, Cleveland, chairman of the committee and author of a joint resolution petitioning congress to call a national constitutional convention for consideration of retention, revision, or repeal of the eighteenth amendment. In case they are unable to attend they are asked to send their views.

WORK BEGUN ON $4,395,000 OGDEN AVENUE PROJECT

Construction of a viaduct over Goose island and of two bridges to complete the Ogden avenue improvement between Rees and Cornell streets was started yesterday by the Great Lakes Dredge and Dock company. The contract for the project was let to the company nearly two months ago on a bid of $4,395,000. Two bids on the project were not opened by Michael J. Faherty, president of the board of local improvements.

Bids on the proposed Magnolia avenue sewer will be opened on Feb. 20, according to Faherty. The sewer will extend from Howard street to Lawrence avenue, and drain the territory east of Clark street. The estimated cost of the sewer is $3,500,000.

Faherty also predicted that actual digging for the State street subway will be started by April 1, although many objections against the proposed assessments for the bore have not yet been heard in court. Faherty said: "I think the property owners will come to their senses and agree to let me go ahead."

Virgin Islands Ask U. S. for Leave to Make Famous Rum

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Lightening of prohibition restrictions, which wrecked the rum manufacturing industry in the Virgin islands and is alleged to have contributed to their present unhappy economic condition, is one of the objects sought by a special delegation from the island of St. Croix that arrived in the capital today.

While the delegation announced that its principal mission was the gaining of financial aid from congress, individual members stated the islands would welcome an opportunity to manufacture rum for sale strictly to countries outside the United States. It was pointed out in this connection that the island of St. Croix once had the reputation of making one of the best brands of rum in the world.

It was learned that members of the delegation plan to discuss the new rum manufacturing plan with individual members of congress and possibly broach the subject to either the senate or the house insular committee, inasmuch as the islands have been transferred from navy jurisdiction to control by the interior department.

In this connection it was learned the delegation may direct attention to a clause in the 1917 treaty transferring the islands from Danish control which states that the United States agrees not to make any change in the management of the islands which would injure them commercially.

Representatives of the other two main islands have also initiated a move to have St. Thomas, the best Virgin island harbor, declared a free port to the extent that it would be possible for liquor to be handled by bonded harbor warehouses. The argument advanced is that St. Thomas would be able to attract a larger commerce if foreign vessels were permitted to transfer or take on alcoholic beverages at that port.

The delegation which arrived today consists of Dr. Donald C. Canegata, D. Hamilton Jackson, native Virgin islanders, and Joseph Alexander. Alexander and Dr. Canegata are both members of the legislature of the St. Croix municipality.

In an interview Dr. Canegata said the delegation sought financial assistance to rehabilitate industries destroyed by storms, prohibition, drought, and the current economic depression. Should congress lend the islands about $600,000 annually over a period of from three to five years, the delegation said, the Virgin islands could be placed on a self-supporting basis.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

INSURGENTS OF SENATE DERIDE RELIEF BARGAIN

Assail Compromise and All Parties to It,

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Within the gray walls of the capitol today the insurgent force that some call radicalism and some call progressivism had its day and say on the economic depression, unemployment, the southern drought and on what President Hoover and the congress are doing to combat this triumvirate of distress.

The senate chamber, where tradition and precedent hover, almost tangible, sounded to the strident rallying cry of young Bob La Follette of Wisconsin, inciting his fellow insurgents to defy the President and the old guard leadership, both Republican and Democratic, and vote down the compromise agreement for a $20,000,000 appropriation to restore rural credit and furnish loans to farmers.

Calls It Surrender.

"This compromise agreement," he cried, "is a humiliating surrender by the senate of the principle that one of the chief functions of government is to protect its citizenship in time of need. This was an issue in 1930, and will be an issue in the campaign of 1932, and those parties and leaders who fail to meet their responsibility and extend relief to the innocent victims of a national disaster will be repudiated."

Norris of Nebraska rose, looking—as ever, with his iron-gray hair, his drooping, sardonic eyes, his black bow tie—like some circuit riding lawyer of a generation ago. In his hand, as he told of a Nebraska minister who had urged him to "follow the President," he held a Bible. He ruffled its page until he came to the Sermon on the Mount and then he said:

Revives Beatitudes.

"I suggest that this gentleman pray for divine guidance and perhaps revise the beatitudes somewhat as follows:

"'Blessed are they who follow the President; for they shall inherit the political plum tree and enjoy the fruits thereof.

"'Blessed are they who starve while the asses and the mules are fed; for they shall be buried at public expense.

"'Blessed are they who hunger in the land of drought; for they shall be told that a great government feeds the starving in foreign lands.

"'Blessed are the idle rich who know their master's voice; for they shall be able to save their taxes, while the poor subscribe to the Red Cross.

"'Blessed are the lame ducks on the Muscle Shoals conference committee, for they shall receive their reward at the hands of the power trust and an appreciative President:

"'Blessed are the farmers who toil in the fields and the army of unemployed whose families are hungry; for they shall be fooled again at the next presidential election.'"

Called Betrayal of Starving.

"This compromise agreement is a shameful, wicked, cruel betrayal of starving men and women. To uphold it will reflect no credit on congress."

All this while, within the capitol a protest of another sort was being made. Patrols and single skirmishers of the capitol police and the District of Columbia police tramped the corridors and twirled their night sticks. The cause of the formidable preparation appeared in the persons of a committee of fifteen, representing, they said, the workers' unemployment insurance delegation. Last night, they had held a meeting attended by 125 workers' representatives.

They had a petition signed, so they claimed, by 1,239,000 unemployed workers. They demanded that Speaker Longworth recess the house for twenty minutes so that they could appear on the floor and state their case. At the head of the committee of fifteen were Alfred Wagenknecht, secretary; a little man named Sam Nessen; and a big Negro, Sol Harper. Behind the movement, it was understood, were some of the same communist organizers who had staged a demonstration when congress convened last December, when the police used clubs and tear bombs to drive back the invasion.

An expectant thrill whisked about the capitol corridors as the whisper traveled along. "The Reds are here."

Longworth Refuses Request.

Surrounded by a sturdy police cordon, the committee was herded into the office of the house sergeant at arms. Washington's chief of police and two inspectors were on hand. Every gallery door in both houses was guarded by a blue uniform.

Speaker Longworth refused to recess the house, or to receive the delegation in his office. He was going to have no one "demand" anything of him or the congress. Still guarded, the committee was led to the speaker's outer office, where it left the petition with Miss Mildred Reeves, the speaker's secretary, who explained that decorum and precedent must be maintained.

"But," cried a woman member of the committee, "I'm working for four dollars a week. I've got children that are hungry. If I can't get work, I'll steal. That's what you're driving us to."

A man who started to shout protests in the house gallery was hustled out. A man and woman were taken into custory, but after questioning all three were released.

The police, it was reported, had held a council of war last night. Their defense against the Red invasion had been mapped out with a zero hour and everything. Senator Blaine took it as seriously as they did.

Blaine Protests at Guards.

"The most shameful spectacle I have ever seen," he declared. "Every entrance is guarded by uniformed men with clubs and guns to protect us against an imaginary enemy. Police by twos and fours are patrolling the capital grounds looking for a bogie man. The menace exists only in the minds of those who are protecting the very system that may some day create a real menace of this sort."

In the speaker's outer office the blue chests with the bright badges pinned on them performed a leaning movement. They leaned against the committee and the committee slid gently out into the hall. It filed out of the doorway and went away—defeated in its effort to get a hearing, successful in its martyrdom.

That was just about the time that young Bob La Follette was shaking his fist and shouting: "This amendment is not a compromise; it is an unconditional surrender."

Says It Won't Reach Needy.

The $25,000,000 Red Cross appropriation to which President Hoover opposed immovable objection had provided for outright donations to the needy; it provided for distress wherever it appeared, in city and country alike. The $20,000,000 compromise, Senator La Follette pointed out, made no provision for the six million jobless workers, the five million part time workers in the great industrial centers.

Yesterday Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, minority leader, aided by Senator Thaddeus H. Caraway [Dem., Ark.], had treated the house to a novelty. Once the most outspoken of the administration's critics, they had defended President Hoover and compromise.

But not Senator La Follette. The appropriation called for loans to farmers; it stipulated crop liens, security. Therefore, he declared, those most in need could obtain no help. The appropriation aimed to assist rural intermediate credit banks, but this would not help the impoverished farmer, because intermediate credit banks must, by law and regulation, accept only sound, negotiable security.

Reads Rules Hyde Framed.

He read the regulations which the secretary of agriculture had thrown about the recently approved $45,000,000 loan for feed, seed, and fertilizer. To get a loan a farmer had to fill out an application as complicated as an income tax blank, listing his indebtedness, his unpaid taxes, his acres, his tools, his stock, his children under twelve years old, and more than twelve years old. At the top of the application was printed the penalty clause of the act—$1,000 fine or six months' imprisonment for its violation.

"To make the farmer think," suggested Senator Borah of Idaho, "that he would be liable for merely violating a rule laid down by the secretary."

"If I were a farmer," retorted Senator La Follette, "I would be inclined to violate the law and go to jail, for in Arkansas they are giving the prisoners better food than the Red Cross is giving the farmers."

Reads "Pauper's Oath."

Senator Thomas, Oklahoma Democrat, came forward to read the affidavit in which the farmer had to testify that he was penniless and without credit and could not put in a crop without federal help.

"In other words," said Senator Thomas, "the secretary of agriculture forces these people to swear to a pauper's oath before getting any money."

"The rules laid down by the secretary require all holders of a mortgage on the farmer's property to waive their prior right in favor of the government lien," explained Senator La Follette. "How, for example, could a bank do that? It means turning a first mortgage into a second."

Mr. La Follette recalled the safeguards a bank must throw around its depositors and its stockholders' money. The philosophy of old Bob La Follette's son ran through the rest of young Bob's speech, as he warmed to his job, his fist shaking oftener, more violently.

No Real Relief, He Says.

"If we accept this surrender," he shouted, "it is evident that we do nothing for the farmer in greatest distress. It means that we do nothing for the twenty-two millions affected by unemployment. To say that congress will adjourn without giving a nickel of real relief would be a breach of faith with the American people.

"One of the reasons for the overwhelming defeat of the administration at the last election was the President's failure to realize the magnitude of the economic distress and his determination not to approve of relief."

Then he swung toward the other side of the chamber, where Senator Robinson stood yesterday defending Hoover.

"By that election," said Senator La Follette, "the Democrats were given a mandate to fight for the interests of the workers. Yet the election was only a few days past when we saw the Democratic party repudiating that mandate and promising coöperation with the administration."

Senator Robinson was one of the seven who signed that pledge. Now Senator La Follette likened his leadership in the fight for relief to "the fabled king of France who marched his men up the hill and then marched them down again."

"It will be an issue—this matter of the federal government's function at a time of economic distress—it will be an issue," cried Senator La Follette, "in 1932."

WIFE GETS BEATING WARRANT.

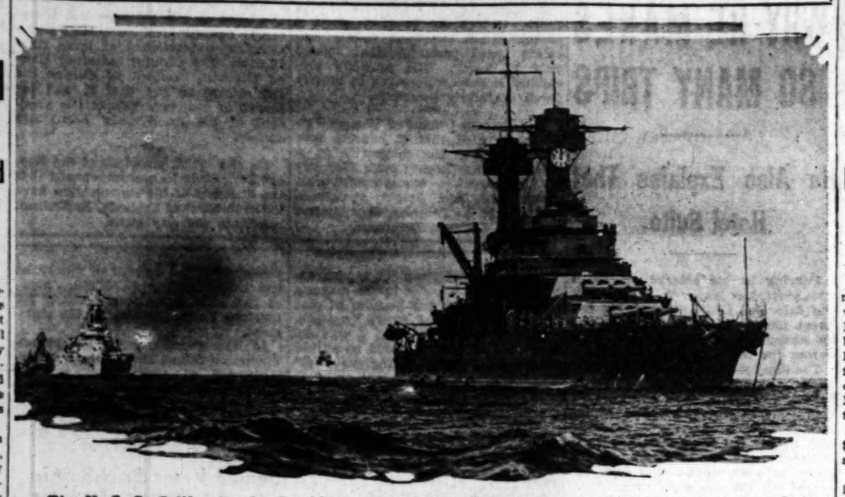
Pacific Battle Fleet Off to "War" at Panama



The U. S. S. California, the flagship, leading the Pacific battle fleet, 63 ships strong, out of San Pedro, Cal., harbor for the maneuvers around the Canal Zone. In the maneuvers the Pacific fleet will endeavor as the "black fleet" to capture the Panama and projected Nicaraguan canals from the Atlantic "blue fleet." In the conflict 137 ships and 274 aircraft, including the dirigible Los Angeles, will be engaged.

FEDERAL PLAN FOR FARM LOANS TOLD TO DROUGHT BOARD

Centralia, Ill., Feb. 10.—(AP)—A group of sixty county drought relief chairmen and farm advisers, representing forty-one counties in the Illinois drought area, at a meeting here today heard T. Weed Harvey of St. Louis, a representative of the department of agriculture, explain methods in handling government loans to drought-stricken farmers.

Several hundred farmers from this and surrounding counties were interested listeners as county representatives were instructed in the manner of filing applications for loan requests for many drought sufferers.

The farm loans, it was pointed out, would be used by farmers for the purchase of seed, feed, and fertilizer, all necessary in preparing crops for next summer.

M. J. Crebs of Carmi, district chairman of the state relief body, was in charge of the meeting, which was held at the courthouse this afternoon.

RIOTOUS REDS IN MINNEAPOLIS RAID ASSEMBLY

Denounce Members and Eat Their Fill.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Communist-led demonstrators jammed their way into the house chamber of the Minnesota legislature late today and held possession for more than two hours while they demanded "relief" for the unemployed. George Powers, communist candidate for mayor of Minneapolis, headed the demonstration.

An unemployment "relief fund" of $26,000,000 was demanded by the speakers.

After the demonstrators had been in the house two hours and 50 minutes a report spread that one of their members was being attacked by police. This started a general exodus from the house chamber, but when they got outside they found the report to be untrue. The demonstrators then left the capitol.

It was the third demonstration staged since the legislature went into session, two previous calls having been made on Gov. Floyd B. Olson, with the same demands for a $26,000,000 unemployment relief fund.

While the demonstrators held possession of the house chamber, a group of about 50 descended on a restaurant in the basement and fortified their stomachs with baked apples and crackers. Employés of the restaurant took their cue from the patrolmen and permitted the raiders to have their own way.

Denounce "Chair Warmers."

Many of the house members remained in their seats as the crowd surged into the chamber and took possession of the rostrum as Speaker Oscar A. Swenson declared a 30 minute recess. From the rostrum various speakers delivered diatribes against the legislators, whom they termed "chair warmers" and yellow fakers."

Besides Powers, the speakers included a woman, an 18 year old girl, a Negro, and a small boy. Even the legislators cheered when the girl applied the term "yellow fakers." The boy said he represented "thousands of starving children." All the speakers asked immediate relief from unemployment conditions.

Thirteen Arrested in Boston.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Two hundred Boston policemen today broke up a gathering of several hundred persons on Boston common, sponsored by communists as a protest against unemployment conditions, and arrested 13 men and women, including two clergymen.

The ministers were the Rev. Robert A. Bakeman, a Congregational clergyman and former mayor of Peabody, and the Rev. Smith O. Dexter, rector of Trinity Episcopal church in Concord. Both said they had not participated in the demonstration, but Mr. Dexter said he was willing to be arrested to maintain the right of free speech, and Mr. Bakeman described the methods of the police as "high handed."

Alfred Baker Lewis, secretary of the Socialist party of Massachusetts, later bailed both ministers.

1,500 Reds Storm N. Y. City Hall.

New York, Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Fifteen hundred communists, who eluded the police who guarded their mass meeting in Union square, this afternoon stormed the city hall where the board of estimate was in session and the municipal building. The invasion of the municipal building was halted by ten policemen.

Mob Beats Two Policemen.

Sacramento, Cal., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Two Sacramento policemen were severely beaten by an angry mob of demonstrators here today in connection with the nation-wide unemployment demonstration. The police retaliated and destroyed the headquarters of the demonstrators.

A Night Letter from Ring Lardner

East Hampton, L. I., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Well, Gen. Smedley Butler's trial has been called off on account of wet grounds and now we will probably never know whether Mussolini is a bad driver in traffic. However, the incident proves that the constitution needs an amendment prohibiting after dinner speeches. They may not always embarrass the government, because that is a pretty tough job, but they certainly drive countless thousands of dinner guests to violate another amendment which I need not mention by number. Take me for example: When the speech begins I either get up and go home or strive for unconsciousness, and it ain't considered polite to get up and go home.

Two men were killed and a third was overcome by oil fumes yesterday in an oil tank of the D. A. Stuart Oil company at 2727 South Troy street. One of the victims, Andrew Bubacz, 22 years old, 2433 South Harvey street, died in a vain effort to rescue the other victim.

Bubacz and Charles Hanson, 50 years old, 3407 Walnut street, the other man killed, were cleaning the inside of the tank when Hanson, overcome by the gases, slipped to the bottom of the well. Bubacz called for help, and went to the aid of his fellow worker. His cries summoned Richard Hardie of Riverside, a factory foreman, who tried to descend to the bottom, only to be forced back, seriously injured by the fumes.

Firemen were summoned and bored a hole into the tank. By the time they reach Hanson and Bubacz the two were dead.

Senate Votes to Increase Civil War Vets' Pensions

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Two omnibus pension bills granting increases in allowances for veterans of the civil war and their widows were passed tonight by the senate. Both measures have passed the house but were returned for approval of senate amendments. The first would authorize $129,740 annually to be distributed among 751 persons. The second calls for $82,176 for 454 persons.

CITY HALL GIVES UP TO GANGDOM, LYLE CHARGES

Hoodlum Guns Reply to Jackass Exhibition.

Among Judge Lyle's subjects at a luncheon of the Candy club at the Hotel Sherman was the Thompson "America First Foundation."

'That sounds patriotic all right," he said. In fact, it sounded so good to Jumbo that he had incorporated and sold shares at $10 each. Among the purchasers, voluntary, of course, were 6,000 policemen, 4,000 firemen, hundreds of school teachers and school children.

What became of the money? Has it gone the same way as the fund for the relief of destitute, hungry, cold, sick flood sufferers? Dick Wolfe even admits: 'It's entirely in the mayor's hands.' Perhaps he inadvertently told the truth.

Speech by Dr. Robertson.

Dr. Robertson told the business men dining at the La Salle about the Palmer house conferences that sought to unite all anti-Thompson Republicans behind a single candidate. After they failed, he said, he and his associates considered the next step, studying each of the possible candidates.

"We made a thorough investigation of Judge Lyle," he said, "including a study of his ancestry, his life from childhood up, his conduct as a member of the city council, as a member of the legislature and as a judge. After all filings and withdrawals were over we decided that John Lyle's personal and official record best qualified him as a candidate for mayor at this time.

"He has been the one man among the candidates who has stood out and battled crime for the last four or five years and has led the judiciary to live up to the correct theory of the constitutional provision concerning bonds for the protection of the public.

"We found that he had put the fear of the law into the crooks, that they were compelled to furnish higher and higher cash bonds, thereby depleting the treasury of crookdom until they are ready to leave Chicago if he is elected."

Weakness of Independents.

Dr. Robertson warned the voters not to look ahead to the appearance of "some Moses" as an independent candidate after the primaries. He said that the history of the city shows that an independent cannot win over two strongly organized parties. Laughingly he cited his own experience four years ago.

Mulvihill referred to Thompson's frequent assertion that he, Thompson, obtained a federal appropriation for the Illinois waterway.

"Contrary to this statement," said the speaker, "no congressional appropriation for the Illinois waterway was made under the Coolidge administration. It is true that one of the regular army appropriation bills of that period carried an appropriation for improving the lower Illinois river, but this has never been a part of the Illinois waterway project. It was a regular appropriation similar to those made from time to time for Mississippi river and great lakes improvements.

Where Credit Is Due.

"The present mayor did not originate, propose nor 'secure' the Illinois river appropriation nor any other appropriation for the purpose claimed.

"As a matter of fact, the mayor did not appear before any committee, either of the congress of the United States or of the general assembly of Illinois in behalf of waterway development."

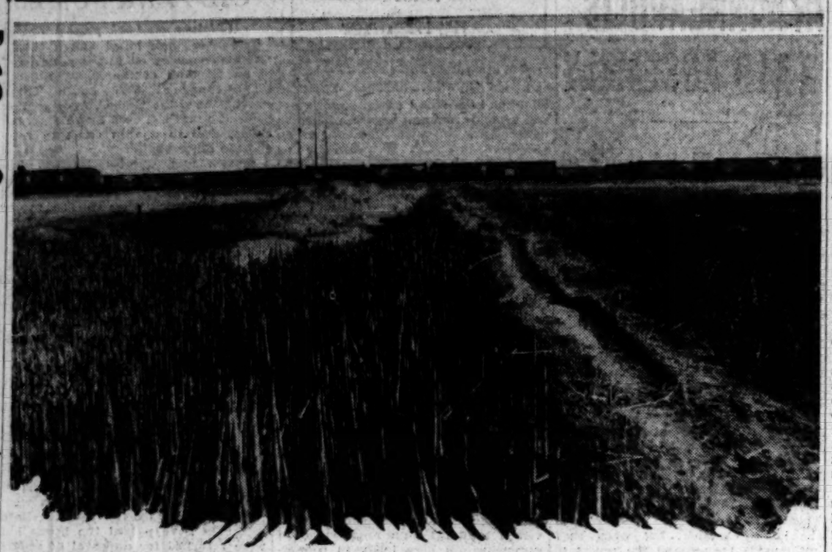
McGowan said that the wage earners, the home owners and the responsible business men of Chicago must unite to gain control of the city government before they can count upon success for the World's Fair or any effort toward municipal progress.

"Desperate conditions require desperate remedies," he continued, "because not only have these sinister forces taken possession of our visible government but they have expanded so that they have invaded commercial and industrial enterprises where their sales talk consists of a well oiled machine gun or an ever handy pineapple.

"They have corrupted and demoralized many of the legitimate business and professional organiaztions of our community."

"The crime lords, racketeers, panders and crooks of all kinds must be driven out of Chicago," said Fyfe, former president of the Hamilton club. "Judge Lyle has started the job. Now let us make him mayor so he can finish it."

EXPERTS PAID WHILE STREET OPENING LAGS



The picture shows 103d street as it appears at the present time, blocked by Nickel Plate tracks. In 1927 a $100,000 bond issue for the opening of the street as a through artery from Stony Island to Cottage Grove avenue was voted. Of the $100,000 only $10,000 has been expended, and that for expert fees.

Citizens Protest

Weekly protest parades are being held by the residents of South Chicago in an effort to get the city administration to open 103d street from Cottage Grove avenue to Torrence avenue. At present the street is blocked by the tracks of the Nickel Plate and C. & E. I. railroads.

On the last two Sundays citizens of the district have marched along the route of the projected street and held massmeetings to protest the delay.

A bond issue of $100,000 was voted for the 103d street project in 1927, but of this sum only about $10,000 has been expended. This went to city experts and investigators.

Agitation over the failure of the city to force the railroads to elevate or build subways under their tracks became so pronounced recently that Commissioner of Public Works Richard W. Wolfe ordered the Nickel Plate to remove 14 new switch tracks from the path of the street. The tracks have not been removed.

THOMPSON TELLS WHY HE MAKES SO MANY TRIPS

He Also Explains That Hotel Suite.

Pausing in his attacks on Judge Lyle yesterday, Mayor Thompson took the defensive and explained his frequent junkets about the country and his absences from his city hall office during the last four years.

The limelight was turned on Thompson's frequent trips by Judge Lyle in a speech Monday night. Judge Lyle charged that Thompson was in his city hall office only three times in 1927 and in the same year had made fourteen trips out of town. In the following year, Judge Lyle said, the mayor left Chicago eight times.

Speaking at the Adelphi theater at noon, Thompson told of his travels. He said he went to the Pacific coast to arouse interest in the control of Mississippi flood waters, and that he attended the Republican convention in Kansas City in 1928 to get Coolidge to run for President instead of Hoover.

Explains Hotel Suite.

In reply to Judge Lyle's charge that while in Chicago his headquarters were in a hotel room Thompson explained the telephones in the mayor's office are tapped and because of that he had to hide away where "my enemies couldn't know what I was doing." "I suppose I should be sitting in the city hall and asking for soup," he said.

A Multiplicity of Suits.

During his speech Thompson announced that he had sued Judge Lyle for $100,000 damages because of Lyle's accusation that Thompson cannot explain what he did with more than that amount of money which was contributed in 1927, much of it by school children in pennies, nickels and dimes, for the relief of flood sufferers.

Learning of the libel suit, Judge Lyle went immediately to the county building and accepted service by a deputy sheriff. Later, the Lyle headquarters gave out a statement that files of the Circuit court show that Thompson has pending there similar suits against fifteen individuals or newspapers, the amount of money he has asked totaling $3,800,000. Some of the suits have been pending for fourteen years, acording to the statement.

In the remainder of his speech Thompson talked about things he has mentioned at other meetings. Included were attacks on Hoover and King George of England. The king, mentioned for the first time in this campaign, was credited with keeping prohibition in the United States.

NOTES OF THE CAMPAIGN

Including the "I thank you" at the finish, George K. Schmidt made a speech before the Cook county real estate board yesterday that totaled only 77 words. His publicity proclaimed it a record-breaker in brevity for a mayoralty candidate.

The Uptown League of Women Voters announced that it expects four candidates for the mayoralty at a meeting at the Rogers Park Woman's club this evening. Those named were Judge Lyle, Ald. Arthur F. Albert, and George K. Schmidt, Republicans, and A. J. Cermak, Democrat.

The praecipe of a suit for $50,000 was filed in the Superior court yesterday against Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, congressman at large from Illinois. The plaintiff, Attorney Carroll Gigliotti, declined to discuss the suit except to say that it was for breach of contract. Gigliotti is president of the Immigrants' Legal Aid society.

Lyle Shaken in Auto Collision After Meeting

Judge John H. Lyle, his daughter Jane, his bailiff, and a political follower were slightly shaken up last night when the judge's car collided with another machine at 49th and Loomis streets. The judge was returning from the Calumet High school, 8131 South May street, where he had addressed a meeting in furtherance of his candidacy for mayor, when the accident occurred. The damage was slight and no one was hurt.

Senate Votes British Ship Captain $400 for Kind Act

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—(AP)—The senate took time out tonight to vote $400 for a British ship master who, more than a decade ago, gave away his personal clothing to survivors he helped rescue from an American vessel off the Virginia coast. The name of the British captain was R. W. Bennett, and the vessel in distress, the U. S. S. Cherokee.

BIG TAX BUILDER IS CHIEF ISSUE, ALBERT ASSERTS

Candidate Demands End of Thompsonism.

"The principal issues in this campaign are the two bills—Big Bill himself and the tax bill which he has created," said Ald. Arthur F. Albert in an address last night before the members of the Cook County Real Estate board, where he appeared for inspection as a candidate in the Republican mayoralty primary.

"Taxpayers in Chicago are footing the bills for the waste and extravagance of the Thompson administration. It is for you tax burdened property owners to determine whether the ballyhoo tactics of Thompson, with his elephant, camel, jackass, and pay roll army are to be a deciding factor in choosing a mayor for the great city of Chicago.

Hippo of the Circus.

"About all that need be said for Thompson is that he is one of the best examples in captivity of that favorite of circus press agents—Hippo, the blood sweating behemoth of Holy Writ.

"John H. Lyle offers little, if any, improvement. Only a few months ago he was part and parcel of the Thompson gang. Right now he is consorting with the 'Hungry Five'—Harding, Barrett, Brundage, Snow, and Robertson. It is just the same old Thompson gang, riding under a new banner.

"Chicago must rid itself of Thompsonism. In the last fifteen years government expenditures have increased more than four times while the population has increased but 15 per cent. This shows the trend which, if continued, cannot fail to wreck the city.

Discuss Tax Situation.

"The tax situation is a tangled mass. To straighten out the multiplicity of tax bodies in Chicago and Cook county is a vital problem.

"Let me call your attention to the last contract let by the city. The Wabash avenue bridge was the last improvement made by the city under the Thompson administration. A contract was let for the digging of caissons. One concern bid $1.90 a cubic foot, eight bid between $1.90 and $6 a cubic foot, and one man bid $10 per cubic foot. Who received that contract? The bidder who bid $10 per cubic foot received that contract and had one of the other low bidders do the work for him.

"That particular crooked transaction cost the taxpayers of Chicago over a quarter of a million dollars. There are other contracts equally as bad.

Schmidt Talks to Realty Men.

George K. Schmidt, former city controller, now a "nonfactional" candidate for mayor, also appeared before the real estate men. He has been in the real estate and banking business and has served as alderman, assessor, county commissioner, and on the board of local improvements.

"I am a business man who knows about politics," he said. "I am in this fight and I am going through with it, as a business man and a gentleman. I will have nothing to do with mud slinging. If I cannot be elected in a fair, square, clean election I do not want to be elected. I think I know the needs of the mayor's office."

He said he was in favor of reducing the taxing bodies, and that he would run the city finances as a bank would do. He would free the police department from political interference, and appoint only men of highest standing and ability to his cabinet, he said.

O'BRIEN LOSES PROBATION PLEA IN TAX FRAUD

Federal Judge Lindley yesterday denied a motion for probation for State Representative Lawrence C. O'Brien, who was sentenced to eighteen months in Leavenworth penitentiary and fined $6,000 for violating the income tax laws.

Judge Lindley set $10,000 as the amount of a supersedeas bond to permit an appeal, and stipulated that in case of failure to obtain a reversal in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals the fine must be paid out of the bond. He ordered the sureties to appear in court today and agree to this condition.

The court also allowed only thirty days for the docketing of an appeal and declared that "there are already too many delays in such cases." In refusing the motion for probation, he said it was his duty to administer the law both as punishment for violations and as a deterrent of future crimes.

USES WANT AD IN FRAUD; GETS YEAR IN JAIL

Louis F. Schuppan, who swindled several persons of sums ranging from $150 to $300 after he had inserted a want ad in THE TRIBUNE for salesmen, was sentenced to 1 year in the Bridewell and fined $300 yesterday by Judge Frank M. Padden in the Felony court. Schuppan was found guilty of obtaining money by false pretenses.

Schuppan advertised for men to engage in a selling campaign, but made no mention of any financial requirement. When he received responses he said that a bond was required and obtained sums of varying amounts. The bond was supposed to cover the price of samples of fruit juices. Schuppan disappeared after obtaining four or five known deposits.

Complaint was made to the better business bureau. The matter was referred to THE TRIBUNE and Schuppan was traced to St. Louis where he was engaged in a similar scheme. None of his victims was able to meet the requirements that extradition funds be put up so the money was advanced by THE TRIBUNE and the case prosecuted.

ALCOCK ORDERS POLICE TO KILL BOMB TOSSERS

Orders to kill known bombers who resist arrest or try to escape were issued yesterday by Acting Police Commissioner Alcock. The edict followed the bombing Monday night of the Lakeside Press, south side plant of R. R. Donnelley & Sons Printing company.

The commissioner intimated the department had knowledge of the bombers. The department, he explained, was more interested, however, in dealing with the men behind this bombing, and other recent outrages against large business houses. Chief Alcock said that evidence already obtained presaged what would be a winning fight against the bombing ring. The situation, he promised, will be cleaned up in a short time.

WAVE OF CRIME IN ROGERS PARK ROUSES CITIZENS

Protest Meeting Will Be Held Tonight.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Aroused by the wave of crime now sweeping the formerly peaceful Rogers Park district, citizens of the north side residential neighborhood plan to hold a protest meeting tonight to demand better police protection.

The meeting was called by Otto F. Weiner, an attorney with offices at 120 South La Salle street, and is to be held at his home, 1415 Farwell avenue. Among the speakers scheduled are William McKinley, 5318 Lakewood avenue, also an attorney and a candidate for alderman of the 49th ward.

A similar resentment over the crime situation prevails also in West Rogers Park, it is said, and the residents there are also planning a mass meeting to demand that the police stop the wave of house breakings, street stickups and shootings.

Merchant Shoots Robber.

Meanwhile the achievements of the police, who yesterday ambushed and shot an amateur robber and captured a trio of holdup men, were eclipsed last night by the exploit of a tradesman. Enraged by the taunts of a pair of gunmen, the tradesman wrested a pistol from one and shot him in the shoulder while the other escaped.

The tradesman, Joseph Mendralla, manager of the Pasler Products company, dealers in vinegar and pickled products at 1903 Division street, was attending three customers when the gunmen entered the store. One, who was armed, escorted Mendralla to the cash drawer in the rear while his confederate lined the customers along a wall and began to search them.

Three Customers Robbed.

The first customer, Walter Remfrala, 906 North Hermitage avenue, gave up $54. The second, Stephen Kozuck, 1118 North Ashland avenue, handed over $11. The third, Mrs. Sophie Swiatik, 1910 North Leavitt street, lost $6, all that remained of her husband's weekly wages. In the interval Mendralla had opened the cash drawer, from which the other robber took $34 and Mendralla's pistol.

"A tough guy, aren't you?" the gunman sneered, picking up Mendralla's gun. "We ought to bump this guy off," he added in an aside to his confederate.

At this last remark Mendralla leaped into action. Jerking the robber's pistol from his hand, he gave him a hearty kick, which sent him skidding down the floor. The second robber scurried out the door with his disarmed confederate close behind.

As the latter wheeled into the street Mendralla reached the door and fired three shots, one of which pierced the fugitive's shoulder and brought him down. At the bridewell hospital he identified himself as Joseph Bureg, 30 years old, 1924 Girard street, but refused to name his partner. Racine avenue police said Bureg had a record as a burglar.

Joseph Brozyski, 17 years old, 3644 Escanaba avenue, was the prisoner taken in the police ambuscade. Attempting his second holdup of the Thompson restaurant at 521 West Madison street, Brozyski was shot four times and possibly fatally wounded by two plain clothes detectives and a rookie policeman.

The restaurant had been robbed of $25 and a handful of cigarets last Friday. Since then Patrolman Harley Parrish had been instructed to keep watch there. When Brozyski entered the place for the second time yesterday Parrish was outside and through the window watched the youth take $27 from the cashier.

He called Detectives Frank Broadbent and Anthony De Grazio, who were sauntering up the street. As Brozyski stepped outside the three policemen met him with a fusillade, three bullets piercing his chest and one entering his back. The policemen said he had made a gesture as if to draw his gun.

Four Victims Identify Robber.

Twenty victims of recent street robberies in the Englewood police district crowded the station last night to confront Jay Boulton, whose holdup of six persons in the lobby of the Jackson Park hospital, 7351 Stony Island avenue, late Monday night had brought about the capture of himself and two alleged confederates. Four victims identified Boulton, according to the police.

Boulton confessed not only the hospital robbery but admitted also holding up the Regal pharmacy, 525 East 67th street; a barbecue stand at 2631 East 67th street, and the Royal Palm restaurant, 1364 East 67th street, on the same night.

According to the police, Boulton named as his confederates in the hospital robbery Francis Keating, 35 years old, 6318 Wentworth avenue, and George Moran, 27 years old, 6136 Princeton avenue. Both were arrested.

MISS FLORENCE PARKER.

MISSING HEIRESS FOUND; SAYS SHE WILL NOT RETURN

Family Quarrel Blamed by Miss Parker.

New York, Feb. 10.—[Special.]—It was just a family quarrel, after all, that sent Miss Florence Parker, the 22 year old art student and stepdaughter of James MacDonough, vice president of the Manufacturers' Trust company, away from her home on North Broadway, Yonkers, sixteen days ago, it turned out today when Miss Parker was found at the Hotel Piccadilly here. The police had been looking for her since last Tuesday.

She had a quarrel with her stepfather on Saturday night, Jan. 24, and on the following Monday she ran away from home to make her own way in the world. And she intends to do it, too.

Will Not Return Home.

In her hotel room there was a tearful reunion between mother and daughter, and a general decision that she is to return home for a family conference tonight—but the outcome, Miss Parker announced, thrusting out her chin very firmly, is already decided. She is going to leave her stepfather's home in Yonkers and make her own way in New York—either as an artist or by writing.

She's glad they found her, because she was worried about her mother. But she isn't going to stay at home any longer.

It was the publication of Miss Parker's picture in newspapers last week that led to her discovery today.

Takes Assumed Name.

After she left home on Jan. 26, taking two bags filled with clothing and $100 that she had saved up to buy her mother a birthday present, she registered at the Hotel Piccadilly under the name of Rose Dennis of Columbus, O., a friend of the family. She continued attending classes at the American Academy of the Dramatic Arts at Carnegie hall, under her own name, until Feb. 3, when the MacDonough family, not hearing from her, asked the bureau of missing persons to look for her.

Then the newspapers printed her picture and she saw a big policeman standing outside Carnegie hall. She had a "hunch" he was looking for her, so she stopped going to classes and stayed in her room at the hotel almost all the time.

CHICAGO TAXING BILLS HIT SNAG IN LEGISLATURE

One Tabled, Another Sent to Committee.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—House bill 28—the measure that would abolish the Cook county assessors and reviewers as a path to tax reform—was tabled after discussion in the house revenue committee this evening and was thus temporarily removed from legislative consideration.

The Schnackenberg bill to replace the present board of five assessors by one assessor appointed by the president of the Cook county board, leaving the board of review intact, was referred to a subcommittee for consideration after the author had fought to have the hearing continued until Tuesday. The vote was fifteen ayes and eleven nays.

Warns of Chicago's Plight.

Representative Schnackenberg gave words of warning of Chicago's potential money plight as the battle to refer his measures to a subcommittee was waging.

"I'm not an alarmist," he said, "but Chicago is facing another financial crisis. The 1929 taxes are not yet in collection. The 1931 quadrennial assessment is still in the future and the bankers who bought tax warrants last year are not going to come forward this time.

"This legislature must meet the issue; this is the time for action, not investigation or delay."

If house bills 26 and 27—upon which hearings will be held, probably in Chicago—are passed, the present assessing board of three Democrats and two Republicans would pass out of existence to be succeeded by one assessor who would be named by President Cermak of the county commissioners. Of this situtaion, Schnackenberg said:

Overrode Political Lines.

"I went over political lines when I wrote these bills. The power of naming the assessor to take the place and do the work of the five now in control would be entirely up to the president of the board, a Democrat. These bills recognize that the people are entitled to some power in naming their tax officials and they would retain that right by leaving the board of three reviewers still elective offices. But there is a popular demand for a revision of the assessing machinery."

Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, was the first speaker, outlining the attitude of the association and predicting that it would be impossible to "pass the hat again" if Chicago has another financial emergency.

The vote on the Schnackenberg measures, resulting in their being referred to a subcommittee at the suggestion of Representative Boyle, was as follows:

Ayes—Auth, Bolger, Boyle, Bush, Donahue, Hennebry, Keane, T. J. O'Brien, O'Keefe, Rategan, and Shannon, Democrats, and Warfield, Jenkins, and Mansin, Republicans.

While house bill 28, the tabled measure, is not "dead," it would require a record vote to call it back to the attention of the committee members.

DEPUTIES SHOOT AND WOUND GIRL IN LIQUOR CHASE

Bullet Pierces Hip as She Flees.

Anniston, Ala., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Wounded in the hip by a bullet from a rum chaser's gun, Beatrice Harrison, pretty Anniston girl, was in serious condition in a hospital here Tuesday following a running fight near Iron City. Deputy Sheriffs S. A. and W. T. Pruett, Calhoun county officers, admitted that they fired the shots, one of which wounded the girl.

The shooting took place on a lonely road several miles north of Anniston, the officers said, and followed a chase of several miles in which the officers pursued an automobile in which the girl and two male companions were riding.

The car was finally forced to the side of the road, the officers said, and the occupants got out and immediately began firing. The deputies left their own car, and taking such cover as they could find, returned fire of the trio.

For several minutes the battle continued, when suddenly the trio scattered and fled across a cornfield. The deputies followed, firing as they went.

The girl, who was unarmed, staggered and fell, the officers said, while her companions ceased firing and ran to a little clump of woods. She was discovered slumped in the muddy field, a bullet wound through her hip.

No formal charges were placed against the deputies, pending the outcome of the girl's wounds.

Deputy Sheriff S. J. Cobb, who accompanied the deputies, said 25 gallons of corn whisky were found in the automobile deserted by the girl and her companions.

Miss Harrison told officers she was unaware of any whisky in the car and that she had been asked to accompany the men on a ride into the country.

HELD IN SLAYING INQUEST.

Frank Scornavacche, 2615 Shields avenue, was recommended held to the grand jury yesterday on a charge of murder by a coroner's jury investigating the slaying of Santo Locasto, 2833 Princeton avenue.

GEO. K. SCHMIDT DEFENDANT IN SUIT FOR STOCK

George K. Schmidt, president of the Prudential State Savings bank, a candidate for the Republican nomination for mayor, was made defendant in a suit filed yesterday by Mrs. Louise B. Kircher, 2636 Lincoln Park West, to recover stocks valued at $150,000.

Mrs. Kircher, formerly associated with the Haegle Ice company, said she had placed the stocks with the Prudential bank as security for a bond issue for the ice company under an agreement that the security would be returned to her if the ice company were sold to another responsible concern which would assume its obligations. She said the company was sold to the Lincoln Boyle Ice company, which assumed the obligations, but that the bank failed to return her securities.

K. G. Schmidt, son of the bank president, said the bond issue of $125,000 was underwritten by the bank with a trust agreement that provided that Mrs. Kircher's security would be held as collateral until the bond issue had been reduced to $50,000. Mr. Schmidt said the bonds had not been reduced and for that reason the securities had been retained as collateral. He denied that the Lincoln-Boyle company had assumed the bond issue obligation.

APPEALS COURT HEARS PLEAS FOR LEITER OUSTER

Lawyers Present Case for Titled Relatives.

High up above the hubbub of Michigan avenue traffic three judges, sitting en banc in the Appellate court, yesterday draped voluminous black sleeves over volumes of evidence and prepared to review one of the most famous law cases in the history of this city. Chicago born nobility of other lands have appeared in court in the case, which is to decide whether Joseph Leiter should continue as a trustee of the estate of his father, the pioneer merchant, valued at more than $30,000,000.

The case is being reviewed in the somber paneled courtroom on the 21st floor of the Peoples Trust and Savings Bank building. On the bench were the black robed jurists—Kickham Scanlan, who presides, and Judge Otto Kerner and Judge Martin Gridley. Before them, on the courtroom benches, were some of the leaders of the Chicago bar, each representing one or more of the Leiter heirs concerned in the suit.

No Principals Present Now.

In 1926, in the Superior court, where Judge Denis E. Sullivan handed down the decision refusing the plea of Joseph Leiter's titled English relatives that he be ousted from his trusteeship—the decision now submitted to the higher court—Lady Marguerite Hyde, countess of Suffolk and Berks, was present as one of the complainants against her brother's transactions. This time the lawyers have the scene to themselves. There isn't a spectator, nor is a single principal in the case present.

There is, on the other hand, a steady flow of argument. A three day limit has been placed on the hearing, which involves hundreds of thousands of dollars, trust funds, coal mines, yachts, Wyoming ranches, and other goods.

Asks Leiter's Removal.

Once in a while Judge Gridley raises a restraining hand while he reads from the Leiter will. Now and then Judge Scanlan or Judge Kerner calls for a repetition of statements or an elaboration of argument. They lend especial heed to the plea by former Judge George A. Cooke, who is counsel for the Curzons, that Joseph Leiter be removed from his charge.

"I want to say to this court," declares the frock coated attorney, "that if you acted as a court of chancery in appointing a man as trustee of another such large estate, as a matter of conscience you would not appoint Joe Leiter on his record as it is shown in this evidence. There is a letter here showing how Joe Leiter acted when he was chartering yachts and wiring home for hundreds of thousands of dollars to be secured from employé Warr to wait for his return until he could tell him how to put it on the books.

"Assured of $40,000 a Year."

"Those are the things that we want to be protected against in the future. Levi Z. Leiter's estate insured Joe Leiter at least $40,000 a year, and he was never held to that minimum. Leiter testified that a resolution pay him a salary of $60,000 annually as trustee was submitted to the directors of the Zeigler Coal company, but there isn't the scratch of a pen on the minutes of that corporation's directors' meeting to show that such a resolution was ever submitted, much lesss passed.

"That will gave Joe Leiter only a power of attorney, but he thought he had vastly more power—almost unlimited authority, especially when he secured the power of attorney of his sister, Mrs. Campbell, and his mother, giving him a majority in the trusteeships. Altogether there are items here of $682,170, money which Joe Leiter took out of the Leiter estate."

Tells of Ranch Deals.

Leland K. Neeves, attorney for Lady Suffolk, detailed the transactions involving the Wyoming ranches, 6,000 acres in all, to which he asserted Joseph Leiter diverted between $650,000 and $750,000 of the estate's funds, for the purpose, he declared, of "developing the state of Wyoming."

Mrs. Nancy Lathrop Carver Campbell, the sister who stood by the accused trustee in the 1926 litigation, has since died. Her interests descend to her children.

Arrayed against Joseph Leiter are the following relatives: Lady Suffolk and her three children; Lady Cynthia Mosley, daughter of the late Mary Leiter Curzon and Lord Curzon, former viceroy of India, and her sisters, the Baroness of Ravensdale and Lady Alexandra Metcalf, and Lady Mosley's small daughter, Vivian Elizabeth.

ADVERTISING MAN IS SUED BY HIS WIFE ON INFIDELITY CHARGE

Horace J. Clermont, head of the Clermont Advertising Service, 1520 Belmont avenue, was sued for divorce in the Superior court yesterday by Mrs. Harriet Clermont, 415 Fullerton parkway. The bill, drawn by the law firm of Socrates & Davis, charges cruelty and adultery.

Mrs. Clermont alleges that her husband had a bedroom built at the rear of his offices where he entertained numerous women. The windows of the room, she charges, were covered with dark shades nailed to the window frames.

When she questioned him about the room, she avers, he replied that it was used by one of his employés who sometimes remained in the office at night. She also alleges that while on a motor trip in Nevada he became angered at her when he lost his way and struck her in the face.

Clermont has an income of $20,000 a year, according to his wife, who asks alimony. The couple were married in June, 1926, and separated a week ago. They have no children.

SPECIAL JURORS PLAY MICAWBER WAITING GAME

Hope Something May Turn Up by Monday.

The special grand jury, which was impanelled at the opening of the January court term to investigate charges of police corruption, held an executive session yesterday to determine what policy to pursue in view of the fact that no concrete evidence has been produced, despite the fact that the jurors have questioned leaders of reform organizations who have made charges.

After considerable discussion the jurors decided they would wait until Monday to see whether Assistant State's Attorneys Charles J. Mueller and Charles Lounsbury and their investigators can uncover any tangible evidence on which the jury can proceed. The jurors will not hold any more sessions until next week.

Jurors Are Divided.

It was reported that the jurors were divided in their opinions on whether or not the inquiry should be carried on. Some of the wage earners on the jury were for abandoning the inquiry until the state's attorney has enough evidence on hand to present to a jury. They argued that they could not longer afford the sacrifice required by jury service.

The business men on the jury favored continuing the inquiry until some corruption is searched out. Another group suggested that the jurors get along with a quorum of sixteen men at each session, which would allow the jurors to alternate in attending the sessions.

A few of the jurors, it was reported, were in favor of the plan to issue wholesale subpoenas and spend weeks in questionning owners of speakeasies, vice and gambling resorts. The plan would be to ask each owner if he paid protection to the police or politicians.

Lawyers Discourage Plan.

Because of the doubt of the legality of the jury, however, this plan was said by some of the Criminal court lawyers to be impractical. It was pointed out that a witness could not be compelled to answer if he stood on his constitutional rights, and that if any effort was made to punish him for contempt it would call for a court adjudication on the legality of the jury.

These lawyers point to several supreme court decisions which held that a special jury is nothing more than an additional jury, has the same powers as a regular grand jury, and is under the same restrictions.

The Brautigan case is cited by these lawyers to be conclusive on the fact that no grand jury can last for more than one term of court. The special grand jury is now on its second term of court.

However, Henry Barrett Chamberlin, operating director of the Chicago crime commission, obtained a legal opinion that there is no time limitation on a special grand jury.

POLICE OF EVANSTON INVESTIGATE ATTACK ON YOUNG YERKES

Evanston police last night were investigating the reported robbery and slugging of Charles E. Yerkes, 23 year old grandson of the late Charles T. Yerkes, traction magnate, who was found early yesterday morning in front of the Oak Crest apartment hotel, 1570 Oak avenue, Evanston, where he lives.

According to the police, a detective squad found young Yerkes lying in the street. His face was swollen and battered. The officers learned that he had been taken to the front of the hotel in an automobile. He said, according to police, that after he had attended a party in Rogers Park friends had driven him home. He made no complaint of robbery or slugging at the time, the police say. They escorted him to his suite in his hotel, and made no formal report of the case.

A statement given out by the family yesterday quoted young Yerkes as attributing his condition to robbers who had kidnaped, robbed and beaten him, and then left him in front of the hotel. The story was that he was walking home from the Varsity theater in Evanston when he was slugged from behind. He said he fell to the sidewalk, and was later driven away in an automobile and beaten again. Later, he said, he discovered that he had lost $5.

Harry Langdon Runs Into New Landlord Troubles

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Harry Langdon, film comedian, stepped out of his house of trouble in Beverly Hills today into new complications. Eviction proceedings, started against Langdon yesterday, claiming he failed to make installment payments, were stopped by a demurrer, but today Langdon was charged with taking fixtures belonging to the house. A warrant charging petty theft was served, but on the plea of Langdon's attorney, the comedian was permitted his liberty until tomorrow, when he must answer in court.

NO WARRANT; BAR OWNER FREED.

Charges of possessing liquor were dismissed in the case of Andrew Sapienza, a saloonkeeper at 3020 South Canal street, when police admitted yesterday before Judge Howard Hayes that they had raided Sapienza's place without a warrant.

JUDGE ASSAILS JURORS' REPORT ON BAIL INQUIRY

Officials Discuss Plans for Bond Bureau.

The report of the December grand jury into bail bond conditions in Chicago and Cook county was criticized yesterday by Judge Frank M. Padden of the Felony court at a meeting of municipal and county judges, state's and city attorneys and representatives of 47 surety corporations.

The meeting was called by Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby of the Municipal court to consider the advisability of establishing a mutually owned bail bond bureau for the purpose of eliminating professional bondsmen and bond runners and to help prevent "fixing" in the courts. Under a plan which was discussed a central bureau would be established which would furnish bail to persons under arrest at a charge of 2 per cent of the amount of the bond.

Calls Jury Report Libelous.

"I don't believe things in Chicago are as bad as they are painted," said Judge Padden.

"The report of the December grand jury, in which the Municipal court was roasted, was an exaggerated and illiterate document based on ignorance. It was libelous and I believe every member of that jury is liable civilly for damages.

"It is true that there have been lots of bonds accepted and for which the security was not so good. A report of two years ago by the Illinois Association for Criminal Justice, based on a survey, said the numbers of forfeitures in felony cases was negligible as far as having any effect on the crime situation. The report said that in ten years there 6,000 forfeitures.

"2 Forfeitures a Day."

"That would be 600 a year or two a day in the Municipal court. And many of those cases involved violations of city ordinances of no particular crime significance. The crime survey report said the Criminal court has two and one-half as many forfeitures as the Municipal court. That's natural, as the Criminal court handles only felony cases and in the Municipal court perhaps 50 per cent of the defendants are guiltless of crime.

"Chicago should be ashamed of its police stations and Municipal courts, which are overcrowded, dirty and insanitary. The purpose of bail is not to bring revenue but rather to assure the appearance of the defendant in court for trial. Therefore, bail should be made easy instead of hard for the average person, but for hoodlums it should be made almost impossible.

"There is one surety company operating in Chicago which charges 10 per cent of the amount of the bond, an exorbitant and larcenous amount. This proposed bureau with its 2 per cent charge would put such profiteers out of business and I believe the judges would favor it. But we are arresting too many people in Chicago and the sooner we get through this brainstorm and get down to brass tacks and not be filling police cells with crap shooters the better off we'll all be."

Favor Bail Bureau Plan.

SCHOOL CHILDREN AID POOR

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Students of the Central school in Riverside nail up posters to aid the community chest drive to aid the poor. The drive will end on Feb. 22

LETTERS PRAISE GOOD FELLOWS FOR GOOD WORK

Daily arrivals of gifts and pledges for THE TRIBUNE Good Fellow fund bring also letters praising the work of the fund in providing for the families left destitute this winter by unemployment.

"Enclosed please find my check for $5," wrote Mr. L. yesterday. "If my means were not limited I should gladly send you many times this amount. God bless THE TRIBUNE Good Fellows for the great work they are doing in helping the poor. If the millions or even only a small part of the millions spent so unnecessarily in so many ways were directed to this worthy cause what need and misery could be alleviated."

Another letter yesterday said: "Please find enclosed check in the sum of $6 covering our pledge for the good work you are doing among the needy of Chicago."

The gifts and pledges arriving yesterday brought the total of the fund to $92,070.45. This fund is being expendid in the support of 304 needy families. Fifteen families have been rehabilitated by Good Fellows. All families aided are first found to be worthy by the Central Charities bureau [Catholic], the United Charities, the Salvation Army, and the Jewish Social Service bureau.

RIVERSIDE ACTS AS UNIT GETTING CASH FOR CHARITY

Seven Day Campaign Will Start Tomorrow.

Riverside will open its fifth annual campaign for the replenishment of its community chest tomorrow.

f you don't happen to live in or around Riverside that news item may be of little significance—until you learn that out in Riverside the whole town mobilizes for the event, and not even politics nor the price of wheat has a chance as the chief subject of conversation during the seven days.

This year the chest total will be a little more than in previous years. Each of the thirteen organizations making up the chest figured out budgets carefully and found that $1,350 more would be needed because of unemployment and its accompanying ills. So Riverside is asking $12,690. And here's how it is expected to get that sum in seven days from the 2,000 or more families living within the village.

Every Block Organized.

"Every block is organized with its major and captains, and every one, rich or poor, joins hands in raising the fund," explained G. L. Schnable, chairman of the campaign, yesterday. "All during the week every one calls upon some one else or is being called on, and nobody in the village thinks of much else but the drive. We are always quite successful in getting most of our money during the week of the drive."

Enthusiasm is augmented in the drive this year by the poster contest held among the children in the school art classes. These posters announcing the drive are on exhibit in the stores and banks. The prize winners are Charles Paltzer, first; Richard Coons, second, and Nathalie Bevan, third.

Organizations in Drive.

The organizations forming the Riverside community chest are the Salvation Army, the Infant Welfare society, American Legion auxiliary, Service Council for Girls, Riverside July Fourth Celebration, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, American Red Cross, Volunteers of America, Y. M. C. A., Riverside Public Welfare, and Greater Chicago Tuberculosis institute.

The present officers of the fund are John P. Mack, president; Mrs. A. D. Kilbourne, secretary, and I. R. Ocheltree, treasurer.

Penniless Farmer, Father of Five, Begs Sally for a Job

An Iowa farmer, who is a university graduate and former school teacher and the father of five children, personally visited Sally Joy Brown of THE TRIBUNE yesterday to ask her help in finding work. He said he had no money to buy food.

The farmer, E. H., told how he had come to Chicago several weeks ago on a railroad ticket that had been bought for him by a friend after he had lost his dairy farm and what money he had. 'He said he was willing to take work as a salesman or manager of a rooming house or apartment hotel.

Miss Brown noted a slight increase in the number of job offers for men yesterday. These offers she sent immediately to the Illinois Free Employment service, 116 North Dearborn street, which selects the workers to fill the places.

"Here is an offer," said Miss Brown, scanning the results of the day. "Mrs. F. C., in Marion street, Oak Park, has a job for an elderly man to act as a porter and tend the furnace. She will pay $25 a month and give two meals. And Mrs. I. M., who has a rooming house on South Michigan avenue, has an apartment with hot water, gas and electric lights furnished for a couple in exchange for two hours' work daily by the wife."

Among other job offers was one for an auto mechanic from C. M. on South Ada street, who wanted an automobile overhauled; E. F. on Windsor avenue called for a man to paper a room; L. F. on West Kinzie street has a permanent job for a 17 year old boy, paying $15 a week. The B. Publishing company on the near north side has a job for a boy to pack magazines; A. H. in East 63d street wants a man to wash windows, and A. S. in North Elizabeth street wants a man to crate machinery.

BENGAL ACCEPTS BRITISH OFFER FOR INDIA'S RULE

First Legislative Body to Voice Opinion.

CALCUTTA, India, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Two important developments marked the Indian political situation today and gave a new shadow of hope that the negotiations now going on for a settlement will eventually succeed.

The first was at Calcutta where the Bengal legislative council adopted almost unanimously a resolution welcoming the round table conference declaration of Prime Minister MacDonald in which he outlined a plan for a modified dominion status. The council was the first legislative body in India to voice such an opinion.

Gandhi Summons Delegate.

The second development was at Allahabad. There the national congress leader, Mahatma Gandhi, invited M. R. Jayakar, one of the round table delegates who accepted the MacDonald declaration, to go there from Bombay and take part in the conversations over India's future now going on.

This invitation was regarded as a sign that might indicate an eventual personal meeting between Gandhi and Viceroy Lord Irwin. Such a meeting might result in frank discussion that would help to remove the nationalist leader's doubts as to Britain's good faith in dealing with his country.

Viceroy Dedicates Capital.

NEW DELHI, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Almost on the same spot where 600 years ago the mighty Tamerlane slaughtered 100,000 inhabitants of Delhi, Viceroy Lord Irwin today dedicated India's new $100,000,000 imperial capital here. It is a magnificent modern city of marble and red sandstone which, in its architecture, typifies the entire history of India. Because of recent terrorist outbreaks pains were taken to protect the viceroy and other notables.

The inauguration was conceived and planned 19 years ago as a "monument to the ideal and fact of British rule in India." In view of results of the round table conference at London, it will serve shortly as a national center of a new federal India to be evolved soon.

Today's ceremonies probably constitute the last great public function under the present régime since in less than a year from now India is expected to be well on the road toward its own nationhood.

Represents Seventh Government.

The government it represents is the seventh to occupy the plains of Delhi. From the walls of the new buildings, as the viceroy spoke, there could be seen the historic and scarred environs of the old city strewn with remnants of dead dynasties of the past—embattled walls, massive gates and crenelated towers of the forest, palaces, and mosques built by Tamerlane's successors.

Georges Clemenceau, "Tiger" of France, shown the new building before he died, remarked half facetiously, half seriously, "Perhaps the new Delhi, as the seventh capital on this site, will be the greatest ruin of them all."

Today's function was one of the last over which Viceroy Lord Irwin will preside. He will surrender his post in a few weeks to the governor general of Canada, Viscount Willingdon, who has just been made an earl by King George.

She's Through with Stage Forever, Ina Claire Says

Independent Movie Owners Protest Booking Methods

A group of 400 independent theater owners and managers, meeting yesterday at the Congress hotel in the first day of a three day session, heard speakers protest against the method of block booking which they say is forced on them by movie production companies. By this method of contracting for pictures the theater owner has to purchase a "block" of pictures, Albert Steffes, Minneapolis exhibitor, said. "Is there any reason why exhibitors should submit to enforced subsidizing of producers' flops?" he asked.

COUNTY UNIFIES RELIEF WORK; NEEDY BENEFIT

$2,000,000 More Available by Consolidation.

The first step towards the consolidation of Cook county's overlapping governmental agencies will be incorporated in the county board's 1931 budget, according to a statement yesterday by President Cermak. The tentative budget, which has been prepared by the finance committee, will be submitted to the board today.

Several weeks ago Mr. Cermak announced the appointment of a commission of citizens to work out a plan for the combination of many of the county's 400 tax spending bodies as a means towards providing more efficient government at less expense.

The county board has taken the initiative in this program, Cermak said, by centralizing the work of the bureau of public welfare, with the result that additional funds for poor relief will be available. In the past th board has made individual appropriations for the thirty township supervisors for charity purposes.

$2,000,000 More for Relief.

Under the new system the direction of charity relief for the entire county has been delegated to the welfare bureau and nearly $2,000,000 more has been appropriated for poor relief than in any previous budget.

"In order to take care of the tremendous demands for charity relief," Cermak's statement said, "the county commissioners found it necessary to suspend all automatic salary raises for employes. Under the present budget we will be able to take care of all pension mothers on our list and add probably fifty more families."

Part of the saving in county expenditures during 1931 will be due to the efforts of the Cook county judicial advisory council, which has adopted numerous reforms in the court system, the statement said. A report prepared by Superior Judge Denis E. Sullivan, a member of the council, predicts that the reforms will save the taxpayers hundreds of thousands of dollars during the year.

$250,000 Saving of Jury Fees.

In juror's fees alone, Judge Sullivan points out, there will be a saving of nearly $250,000. Under the public defender system, created last fall, the number of cases tried in the Criminal court without juries has increased from about 24 per cent to 66 per cent, the report shows.

The number of jurors serving daily has been cut from 350 to 144 and this number will be reduced to 95, it is predicted. As a result the number of judges sitting in the Criminal court has been reduced from thirteen to seven, making more judges available in clearing up the crowded civil court dockets.

"Formerly from 1,000 to 1,200 defendants were awaiting trial in the Criminal courts," the report says. "Now there are only 400 awaiting trial."

HEALTH SERVICE AID FOR DROUGHT AREAS ASKED BY RED CROSS

Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Dr. William De Kleine, Red Cross medical director, told federal and state health officers here today the Red Cross is not prepared at present to supply medicines and medical services to drought sufferers.

The statement was made to a closed meeting of state health officers, called by Surgeon General H. S. Cumming of the United States public health service to plan distribution of a $2,000,000 congressional appropriation for rural sanitation in drought areas.

Dr. De Kleine said the demand for food, clothing and other necessities was so great, and the drought's effects were so widespread and long drawn out, the Red Cross could not be expected at this time to furnish medicines and physicians' care.

Dr. C. W. Garrison of Arkansas had told Surgeon General Cumming and officers from 22 drought states Arkansas physicians had "given the limit" and asked federal aid for them from the fund allotted by congress as a compromise of the controversy which raged about a proposed $25,000,000 relief bill. The conference adjourned tonight.

• Doctors Say • Intestinal Fatigue • is Dangerous •

DR. KARL GRUENFELD, of Vienna, noted authority, says: "SLUGGISHNESS of the intestines is especially prevalent among women." HEALTH FADES as a result. Yeast brings blessed relief.

"Women are Especially Subject to THIS TROUBLE"

—declares the famous Vienna specialist, Dr. Gruenfeld

INTESTINAL Fatigue is not pleasant to talk about. But neither is it pleasant to endure!

Improper diet, late hours, insufficient exercise, combine to halt normal elimination and set poisons to circulating throughout your body. Appetite fails. Pep gives out. Colds, headaches, skin troubles multiply.

Now you want to correct this trouble, of course. Then read what the famous Austrian authority, Dr. Karl Gruenfeld, advises:

"Constipation," he says, "is an infirmity that afflicts more than half the human race—women especially.

"This condition is readily overcome by eating fresh yeast. Yeast has a remarkable effect on the activity of the intestines. It checks putrefaction... It corrects constipation in a gentle, gradual, permanent way."

Surely that expert medical opinion is worth acting upon! Think what it means... no more constant "dosing," no more enslavement to violent cathartics and pills. Just a simple addition to your diet . . . a food, that you eat regularly three times every day!

Try eating Fleischmann's Yeast for several weeks. You can get it at grocers', restaurants and soda fountains. Directions on the label.

Eat FLEISCHMANN'S YEAST for Health—3 Cakes a Day

Always ask for Fleischmann's fresh Yeast (with the yellow label) . . . the only yeast "irradiated" to give it the Sunshine Vitamin D! Rich in Vitamins B and G, too.

EIGHT OFFICERS OF BROKEN BANK ARE INDICTED

Already Dispute Legality of Prosecutor.

BY TOM PETTEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Eight officers and directors of the Bank of United States were indicted on from one to six felony counts today, but such are the technicalities of the law that it still remains problematical whether they ever will face trial.

ISIDOR J. KRESEL.

While the grand jury was bringing in the true bills distinguished lawyers representing the accused financiers were attacking the legality of Max D. Steuer's holding two official positions at the same time—those of deputy attorney general and assistant district attorney—in his investigation of the bank which was closed Dec. 11.

The full text of the indictments returned today was not made public, but it was revealed that they were drawn under a section of the penal law dealing with mismanagement or misappropriation of funds of a bank and involved the alleged mismanagement of sums aggregating more than $8,000,000. The maximum penalty is seven years in prison and a fine of $1,000.

Names of Those Indicted.

The eight persons named were:

Isidor J. Kresel, counsel for the bank and also a director, named in six indictments, bail $10,000. Bernard K. Marcus, president and dominant figure in the bank, six indictments, $100,000 bail. Saul Singer, executive vice president, six indictments, $100,000 bail. C. Stanley Mitchell, chairman of the board and admittedly unfriendly to the president, one indictment, $10,000 bail. Henry W. Pollock, vice president and head of the bank's legal department as well as a member of the state commission investigating banking laws, four indictments, $10,000 bail. Simon H. Kugel, vice chairman of the board, two indictments, $10,000 bail. Alexander S. White, in charge of affiliates, one indictment, $10,000 bail. Herbert Singer, son of Saul Singer, president of a dummy holding corporation of the bank, four indictments, $10,000 bail.

Documents Burned.

Further revelations concerning the Bank of United States are expected to bring additional indictments and show irregularities in the handling of various sums reaching a total of $27,000,000.

Although Steuer's hands were tied by a court order restraining him from examining the bankers in public pending an appeal to a high court, Harry A. Gordan, his aid, continued the investigation this afternoon, bringing out a charge that in November, 1930, three weeks before the bank closed, a van load of ledgers, journals, cash books, correspondence, and other documents of the bank were burned in the incinerator of an apartment house owned by an affiliate organization.

Joseph Ravitch, a contractor, his son, Saul Ravitch, and Rudolph Boesch, superintendent of the apartment house where Vice President Pollock resided, testified regarding the destruction of the bank books. Saul Ravitch said the 72d street branch of the Bank of United States was moving and asked if they could burn some papers in the incinerator. Boesch told of the burning of the papers in an affidavit not all of which was made public.

Embarrasses Another Quiz.

The indictment of Isidor Kresel proved embarrassing to another investigating body—the appellate division's inquiry into the magistrate's courts, where Kresel has been the chief examiner.

Kresel tonight announced his resignation as counsel to the Seabury investigation. Referee Samuel Seabury said he would continue the magistrates inquiry with his own staff of assistants.

Immediately after the indictments were presented to General Sessions Judge William Allen at noon the bankers were ordered to surrender tomorrow morning for pleading and to undergo booking and finger printing at police headquarters.

The indicted men are represented by an imposing battery of lawyers. Marcus and Singer have retained Charles H. Tuttle, former federal prosecutor; Kresel is represented by John W. Davis, former Democratic nominee for President; Mitchell's counsel is Martin W. Littleton, and Pollock has former Judge Robert S. Johnstone.

TWO YOUNG GANGSTERS HELD.

Two members of the "42" gang of west side hoodlums were held to the grand jury in bonds of $10,000 each on charges of extortion yesterday by Judge Frank M. Padden in the Felony court. They are Frank Lagano, 25, and Louis Taglia, 21, brother of "Billy Goat" Taglia.

CANNON SENDS WORD HE'LL APPEAR BEFORE NYE INQUIRY TODAY

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Bishop James Cannon Jr. of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, sent word to the senate campaign funds investigating committee today he would be present at the opening of hearings tomorrow into his expenditure of anti-Smith funds in the 1928 campaign.

Chairman Nye of the committee, has summoned three Virginia bank officials to appear for examination. The committee is acting under authority of the Glass resolution and in response to charges of violation of the federal corrupt practices act made to it by Representative Tinkham [Rep., Mass.] Nye had not called the bishop.

Bishop Cannon forestalled a similar investigation of his campaign activities before the senate lobby committee last year by challenging its jurisdiction.

"We want to find what use was made by Bishop Cannon of the campaign funds," said Senator Nye tonight.

NAME GUARDIAN FOR ESTATE OF BRIDEGROOM, 91

Judge Daniel P. Trude yesterday appointed a receiver for the $30,000 estate of 91 year old Theodore Wells, who eloped to Crown Point last August and married his nurse. The judge appointed the La Grange State bank, now acting as executor in the estate of Wells' first wife. Herbert Wells, 87 year old Kingston, R. I. banker, described as "the kid brother," brought suit to have the marriage annuled and charged his brother's second wife, Mrs. Ann Naylor Wells, 47, with mercenary motives.

Attorney Sidney Gorham, representing Mrs. Wells, voiced objections to the receivership on the grounds that it was not necessary and would entail needless expense. Melvin L. Griffith, counsel for Herbert Wells, asserted that already one-fourth of the estate had been expended by the second wife. Gorham announced that Mrs. Wells would appeal.

2 Youths Arrested; Named by Girls as Attackers

Two Evanston youths, Charles Simpson, 20 years old, and Warren Thompson, 21, were arrested by Evanston police yesterday on charges of having raped two girls within the last week. Simpson is the son of Mrs. Peter Smith, 913 Grove street, and a grandson of Evanston's first meat dealer. Thompson is a son of James Thompson, 1605 Ridge avenue, a Chicago shirt salesman. The police said the girls had identified both prisoners.

Father, 78, and Son, 53, Die of Gas in South Elgin

Frank Heath, 78 years old, and his son Elmer, 53, were found dead yesterday in their gas filled home in South Elgin. The son was found dead in the kitchen, alongside a range from which the fumes were escaping, and the father was found upstairs. A coroner's jury decided that the son had committed suicide, and that the elder Heath was an accidental victim.

TURNS OVER HIS FORTUNE TO AID HIS CLOSED BANK

Assets of the closed First Trust & Savings bank of Hammond were increased by approximately $1,000,000 yesterday when Peter W. Meyn, president of the institution, turned over his personal fortune to the bank.

Announcement of the addition to the assets was made by the directors. Frank S. Betz, a director, was appointed trustee of the property.

The action of Meyn will, it is hoped by the directors, establish the groundwork for reorganization of the Hammond bank and permit is reopening without disturbance to the depositors and creditors.

Harry P. Weber, attorney for the Chicago surface lines, yesterday charged before the Illinois commerce commission that agitation for feeder bus lines was a political maneuver, engineered by ward leaders. Attorney Walter F. Cunningham, counsel for the Citizens' North Side Transportation league, seeking feeder buses on Peterson avenue, backed by shouted protests from a crowd of men and women in the hearing rooms, vigorously denied the charges. He charged in turn that the railways company is delaying action until the consolidation of local transportation companies is effected. The hearing was again postponed to Feb. 11.

DOCTORS URGE MENTAL TEST FOR PRISONERS

A resolution recommending that the city health department be empowered to examine for mental disease all persons arrested and charged with crime or delinquency and submit reports to judges as the cases come to trial, was adopted at a meeting of the council of the Chicago Medical society last night.

After pointing out the necessity of the passage of an ordinance by the city council before the health department can assume this power, Health Commissioner Kegel said that the fear of mental examination following arrests would keep many mendicants, vagrants and professional criminals out of the city.

Luxury in Motoring

THROUGH the years there has come to Pierce-Arrow the distinction, among all fine cars, of creating luxury in motoring; and the tradition is brilliantly carried on in the new Pierce-Arrows.

That they are the means of saving in first cost is impressive; that they are entirely new in body beauty and arrangements is attractive; that they bring all the operating superiorities of free wheeling gives testimony of far progress.

But that they are, first and last, distinguished by the luxury with which they surround and convey those within, is Pierce-Arrow's birthright, and all else is accessory to it.

Chassis and bodies of all three model-groups are the studied perfection of unhasty engineering and freed from vogues and trends which may become passe as quickly as they rise to favor.

In power, in handling, in control, in ease of conveyance—in sturdiness and in endurance—in ability to gratify every motoring wish—these newest Pierce-Arrows are the finality for which the name Pierce-Arrow has brightly shone during a generation.

NEED

THIS protection

Chapping is no respecter of age or sex! Man, woman and child alike suffer the pain of unsightly cracked lips. And open splits invite the danger of infection.

All lips need the protection of Roger & Gallet Lip Pomade. Nature left the granular layer off the skin of your lips—that is why they are red. Only a thin, sensitive membrane covers the tissues—and this must be protected from the drying effects of cold, wind, heat and light. Use this pure, colorless, bland emollient... it provides needed protection—prevents chapping.

Just spread it on your lips before exposure and always before retiring...see that the children have this film of protection before going out-of-doors. Pleasant-tasting, safe enough to eat—Roger & Gallet Lip Pomade has been favoured for forty-three years by thousands of men, women and children to keep lips smooth, soft and attractive.

BREAD IS PRICE ARISTOCRAT NOW, SENATORS TOLD

Materials Cheaper than for Years.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Bread was described today as a price aristocrat when compared to its ancestors, wheat and flour. Ethelbert Stewart, commissioner of labor statistics, said it cost more than it should in view of the cheapness of its materials.

ETHELBERT STEWART. [(C) Harris & Ewing.]

He presented statistics to show the price of bread in 51 cities is higher relatively than the wheat price and also higher than the average price of all other food products.

The cost of virtually all ingredients of bread, except condensed milk, has dropped recently, Stewart said.

A mass of statistics were presented to the senate committee by representatives of millers and government departments to show the prices of wheat and flour today are lower than for years.

"Higher Than It Should Be."

Chairman Capper asked Stewart if the figures did not show "the price of bread is higher than it should be in relation to the price the farmer receives for wheat and the miller for flour."

"Yes," Stewart replied, "the price of flour is lower than for years.

"The wholesale price of flour follows the price of wheat very closely, and the retail price of flour follows fairly closely," he said.

Stewart said that up to 1920 the price of bread was relatively lower than the wheat price, but since then it has been relatively higher.

"How do you explain that?" Capper asked.

Wages Big Factor.

He said the wages of union bakers had gone up slightly during the past six years.

Joseph A. Becker of the agriculture department, testified the price paid wheat producers is lower than at any time since 1908.

Sydney Anderson, Minneapolis miller, said the consuming public had benefited by low prices to the extent it buys flour, but that flour is a "relatively small factor in the cost of bread."

Labor costs in the baking industry have increased, Anderson added.

George Livingston, vice president of the Millers National Federation, testified flour prices are the lowest they have been for years and have closely followed the wheat decline.

He said he did not believe there was any widespread stock connection between the big millers and bakers.

POISON IN LAST LOAF KILLS A HUNGRY MAN AND HIS TWO CHILDREN

Brownwood, Tex., Feb. 10.—(AP)—A poverty pinched tenant farmer and two of his children are dead and his wife and three other children were critically ill tonight from poison which authorities said was contained in home made bread—the last food left in the family larder.

Officials were attempting to determine whether the poison was used by design to wipe out the family in the face of starvation, or whether it became an ingredient of the bread by accident.

The dead are H. A. Jones, 40; Hilary, 8, and E. C. Jones, 6.

A baking powder can which authorities believed had contained the poison was found on a road near the home. Jones had traversed the road in going to a neighbor's house to summon a physician after the family was stricken yesterday soon after eating the bread at breakfast.

BOARD MOVES TO EASE DROUGHT IN SOUTH ILLINOIS

In an effort to alleviate drought conditions in southern Illinois the Illinois commerce commission yesterday granted special permission to three railroads to place in effect an emergency rate of $5 a tankload for water shipped to designated points.

Two of the railroads and the points designated are the C. & E. I. railroad, between its tanks at Grape Creek and the mines at Steelton, and the Illinois Terminal railroad, between Federal and Troy. The third railroad is the Chicago and Illinois Midland, which will designate shipment points later. The commission recently informed all common carriers it would authorize any emergency rate desired at the present time if requested by the carriers.

New Castle, Ind., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Funeral services for Stephen Kiser, former Negro slave, 101 years old, were conducted this afternoon at Spiceland. Kiser came to Henry county via the civil war underground railway and settled among the Quakers in Spiceland.

SAYS GOOD RUM HURTS EYES LESS THAN SMOKING

But Grandma Had Vision and Smokes at 98.

The drinking of pure alcohol and good whisky is far less injurious to the eyesight than smoking, drinking coffee, or using cheap cosmetics which may contain lead poisoning, Dr. Julius Neumueller, professor at the Pennsylvania State College of Optometrists, said yesterday. He addressed the twenty-third annual convention of the Illinois State Society of Optometrists, which closed last night in the Palmer House.

Smoking creates more toxic poisoning in the system than does pure alcohol, Dr. Neumueller said. It enters the eyes in the blood stream and goes between the nerve sheaths, he stated. He added that injury from smoking is a personal equation depending on the condition of the blood and nerves.

Affect on Women Not Known.

"Women are less apt to be color blind than men," Dr. Neumueller continued. "One reason for that may be that up to now they have not been heavy smokers. They haven't been doing it extensively long enough for us to tell what effect it will have, and if we ever began making experiments they'd probably quit smoking before we finished.

"Still, my grandmother was a good smoker. She smoked cigars and lived to be 98 in Germany. Didn't seem to hurt her eyesight." He laughed. "She also liked her bottle of wine. We used to have to watch her every day—yes, up until the time she died. She was a fine woman."

Predicts Special Glasses.

Dr. Neumueller predicted that within two years glasses for special types of work will be in universal use even among persons with perfect eyes. In England such glasses already are being produced, he said. Watchmakers and engravers, who now suppress one eye and one vision of one brain center because it is easier than trying to work both eyes, and seamstresses, fine mesh workers, weavers, inspectors of clothing and other types of workers should wear special glasses, he declared.

Although the biological changes in the eyes of men through the centuries have been slow, occupational changes are important, Dr. Neumueller said. The reason Germany and China are nations of near sighted peoples is that each is a nation of readers, and has been for so long a time.

Dr. Harry E. Pine of Chicago was reelected president.

$798,030.12 in Cash Savings to Motorists

Automobile insurance is one of the benefits available to members of the Chicago Motor Club. Every year this department returns a cash saving to subscribers.

Last year this return amounted to $798,030.12. Many members save enough to pay their annual tire bills. The Inter-Insurance Exchange always has returned 20% of the amount paid the "exchange" for insurance coverage.

In addition to the cash saving to subscribers, other features will appeal to you. For example, most insurance policies exclude coverage on tires and accessories, yet it is far more likely that a thief will steal your spare tire than that your car will be stolen. The "exchange" does cover accessories and at no additional cost.

The "valued form" policy is still another feature that accounts for the growth of the "exchange." In the event of total loss, you are paid the face value of your policy, the amount upon which you have paid insurance.

The "exchange" settles claims quickly and satisfactorily. Claims are not referred to a distant "higher up." Home office service, and other features explain why insurance sales in 1930 amounted to approximately four million dollars. The policy issued covers you anywhere in the United States or Canada.

A few of the services available to members are:

Free mechanical first aid and towing service at any hour of the day or night.

Travel service, which provides you with maps, logs and the most complete and up to the minute advice on road conditions.

Bail bond service, which guarantees your appearance in traffic violation cases, where a bond not in excess of $100 is demanded.

Accident prevention work, which seeks to cut accidents, especially among school children, by means of safety posters and by fostering school boy patrols.

Home district service, which attends to special conditions around your home, such as seeing to it that refuse is promptly removed.

GERMANY SEEKS AID OF FRANCE 'TO CURE EUROPE'

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 10.—"Franco-German relations form the keynote of all of Europe's problems, and despite numerous setbacks, we still hope to achieve coöperation with France," Foreign Minister Julius Curtius told the reichstag in outlining Germany's policy for 1931 this afternoon.

DR. JULIUS CURTIUS.

Fascisti, Nationalists, and a small group of members of the Farmer's party marched out before the minister spoke as a protest against the curtailment of immunity privileges accepted by the reichstag last night, but also as a demonstration against the "minister who is enslaving Germans for the Young plan exploiters." All other parties, including the communists, took turns at applauding the businesslike speech of Dr. Curtius.

Sees New Sense of Justice.

The minister explained that Germany was eager to coöperate with all nations and that "this feeling of a new sense of justice is developing throughout the world." He said he believed that this feeling would grow stronger and more rapidly if Germany and France would get together.

"We do not want new Europe to be founded on the basis of Germany at the time of her worst breakdown," Dr. Curtius continued. "The demands for which we stand do not conflict with the life necessities of other nations."

The entire reichstag knew he was referring to the Polish corridor which has cut off part of Germany from the mother country.

Will Not Welsh on Debts.

Germany will not welsh on the question of reparations, Dr. Curtius indicated when he said:

"The reparations question is a ghost which is cropping up even when uninvited. It will be a menace to peace until the world finds a way back to economic common sense and fairness. The Young plan has been enforced for a year. Our opponents know we will not tear it to shreds. Germany will fulfill meticulously her private obligations. It is equally certain that Germany will fulfill or alter her public financial obligations only according to international agreements. Our opponents know that we have always refused to guarantee that the Young plan could be carried out fully."

The foreign minister, in speaking of disarmament, again voiced Germany's protest against all agreements reached at Geneva. He characterized next year's world disarmament conference as the "touchstone of the efficacy of the league of nations."

Dr. Curtius replied to the demand of critics that Germany withdraw from the league by stating that "the present was no time to walk out in a huff," when revision of the eastern frontier, disarmament and reparations could be achieved with the league's help.

SEEKS TO SELL WARRANTS FOR CITY PAY ROLLS

In an effort to get funds to pay city employés after March 1, City Controller Peterson yesterday set out to sell warrants against the 1931 taxes. The only available cash the city has now for salaries is approximately $1,000,000 borrowed from the working cash fund which will be exhausted before the end of February.

Mr. Peterson said that he put out "feelers" to locate prospective purchasers for the $37,750,000 worth of warrants that can be sold against the tax levy for the corporate fund. He stated that he is not confining his efforts to Chicago.

On the authority granted by the council on Monday to transfer money from the working cash fund to the corporate fund, City Treasurer Singer took up the overdraft on the latter. This overdraft was caused by the extralegal payment of salaries when the corporate fund was not large enough to meet the checks.

RASKOB CALLS DEMOCRATS TO MEET MARCH 5

Plans for '32 Campaign Will Be Debated.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Activity for the presidential campaign of next year is about to start. Chairman John J. Raskob issued a call today for a meeting of the Democratic national committee for March 5, the day following the adjournment of congress. It will be the first meeting of the full committee since the 1928 campaign.

JOHN J. RASKOB.

Plans for the raising of funds to pay off the $628,000 deficit of the party and for intensive organization and propaganda work between now and the national convention in June, 1932, will furnish subjects for action. Discussions of party policies may bring to the front the differences of opinion over prohibition, which is certain to be a major issue of the 1932 campaign.

Raskob Not to Resign.

So far as known, Mr. Raskob, an active wet and close friend of Alfred E. Smith, intends to retain the chairmanship up to the time of the nomination of a presidential candidate next year. Immediate direction of the activities of the party will continue to be in the hands of Jouett Shouse of Kansas, chairman of the executive committee.

With congress in recess from March to December the party leaders must devise a somewhat different program to keep their own proposals and the shortcomings of the Republican administration before the voters. While congress was in session the Democrats were able to use the senate and house as forums in which to expound their political theories. This will be possible again next winter on the eve of the election campaign.

In the meantime there will be a gap of nine months in which the Democrats must make political capital in other ways. There must be consideration, also, of the manner in which the Democrats shall exert their increased power in the next congress.

Ways and means of retiring the large deficit will be an important phase of the meeting. Inasmuch as a considerable part of the debt represents either personal loans from Mr. Raskob account for $225,000 of the debt, or loans from a bank of which he is a director represent most of the balance, some of the party leaders hostile to him are anxious to pay it off as a means of getting rid of the "mortgage" which they figure he has on the party organization. The revolt against Mr. Raskob, an active wet, by some of the southern drys may find expression in the deliberations of the meeting.

G. O. P. Will Be Active, Too.

Renewed activity on the part of the Republican national committee also is anticipated soon after congress adjourns. Senator Simeon D. Fess [Rep., O.] has intended for some time to resign as chairman of the committee, as soon as the time seemed favorable. He has delayed his resignation because of various controversies which might have made it appear that he was quitting under fire. After congress adjourns he may decide that conditions are favorable for a change in the chairmanship with a minimum of political disturbance.

Originally Robert H. Lucas of Kentucky, who is the present executive director of the national committee and is devoting his entire time to the work, was slated to succeed Senator Fess as chairman. The attacks upon Mr. Lucas in connection with the investigations into his activity against Senator George W. Norris [Rep., Neb.] may have caused a shift in plans. It is understood, however, that most of the members of the national committee are standing by Mr. Lucas. Whether he is given the chairmanship will depend upon the wishes of President Hoover.

WASHINGTON NOTES

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—(AP)—The house rivers and harbors committee approved the Britten bill to permit the Lincoln park commissioners at Chicago to erect a breakwater in Lake Michigan along Lake Shore drive.

Representative Irwin [Rep., Ill.] introduced a bill to make available for Scott field, Illinois, $128,000, authorized or appropriated for Selfridge field, Michigan.

Legislative right of way for a bill to fix a ten cent per pound tax on all colored butter substitutes was demanded of the house rules committee by representatives from a score of agricultural states.

ROB PHYSICIANS OF INSTRUMENTS, MONEY AND AUTO

Dr. Robert H. Lawrence, a physician with offices at 25 East Washington street, was robbed of his automobile, his instrument case, a $150 watch, a $75 ring, and $15 cash last night by two Negro gunmen when he stopped his car to make a professional call at 4009 South Michigan avenue. Pressing pistols to his side, the Negroes compelled him to drive the car into an alley, where they searched him, then drove away.

In an encounter with two armed robbers early this morning, John Hoeller, 42 years old, bartender of a soft drink place at 5800 South Ashland avenue, was shot and slightly wounded. The robbers held up Hoeller and the owner, George Miller, escaping with $20. Hoeller gave chase with a gun, firing two shots, which went wild. In the return fire Hoeller was hit.

FUGITIVE KILLS PEORIA OFFICER IN GUN BATTLE

Peoria, Ill., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Patrolman Henry P. Kounse, 39, of the East Peoria police was shot and killed tonight by a man whom authorities believe to be Gale McDaniels, alleged member of a gang of box car thieves.

The shooting occurred after police and sheriff's officers had surrounded the home of Mrs. Lena Partner in Cole Hollow in East Peoria. As officers started to enter the woman's house a man ran for the door and shot his way out. Patrolman Kounse was caught in the line of fire. Police returned the fire, but the man escaped, apparently unharmed.

IOWA UNIVERSITY INQUIRY IS VOTED BY STATE SENATE

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—The senate approved the house resolution as amended by the state education committee for an investigation of the State University of Iowa.

Because of the changes made on the floor and the amendments made by the senate committee on state educational institutions the resolution must be returned to the house for concurrence before the investigation is authorized.

WED SIXTY YEARS.

Peru, Ill., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hoerner will observe their sixtieth wedding anniversary next Sunday. Mr. Hoerner is president of the Peru State bank.

SCHALL SENDS A TART LETTER TO PRESIDENT

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—(AP)—The dispute between the administration and Senator Schall over a Minnesota federal judgeship grew in bitterness today as Schall in a letter to the President accompanied a refusal to withdraw his candidate's name with a stinging attack on Attorney General Mitchell.

Both the President and the attorney general have refused to accept the name of Ernest Michel for the judge's post. Schall [Rep., Minn.] replied to the chief executive's request that he submit other names, by suggesting that Michel's name be sent to the senate with objections attached.

Mitchell Refuses to Assent.

"This would, of necessity, bring the matter before the judiciary committee for hearing and would present Mr. Michel with a chance for a defense which he has never had an opportunity to make," the senator, wrote Mr. Hoover.

Mitchell, a Democrat and a native of Minnesota, has flatly refused to recommend Michel, a Minnesota lawyer, for the judgeship, asserting Schall named him to a pay a political debt.

The controversy broke into the open with an exchange of statements and the blind Minnesota senator today was unsparing in his denunciation of Mitchell.

Schall Warns Hoover.

"As a Republican and a senator," Schall wrote, "let me importune you, Mr. President, not to close your eyes to the lessons of recent political history.

"Taft wrecked his administration by trusting Ballinger; Harding wrecked him by trusting Fall, Daugherty and others of lesser notoriety like Theodore Rush Holland.

"Are you going to wreck yours by further trusting your attorney general? The answer is for you to make; but millions of loyal Republicans throughout the land are hoping and praying for a negative answer."

Mitchell had said he felt it would be a reproach to the administration of justice to name Michel, asserting the latter's firm had solicited accident cases. He mentioned in this connection a Nebraska Supreme court decision in a case brought against Michel's firm to enjoin it from violating the "anti-ambulance chasing statute of that state."

Letter Read in Senate.

Schall in his lengthy letter renewed previous charges and added new ones. He said Mitchell had done nothing for the Republican party "except to stab in the back." He accused the attorney general of conducting himself with "an air of superiority."

The Minnesota senator had his letter read in the senate and placed in the Congressional Record.

Attorney General Mitchell did not comment upon the statement.

MRS. CLIFFORD DIES.

BOWLER IS ONLY CANDIDATE LEFT IN 25TH WARD

The board of election commissioners yesterday threw out the candidacy of Peter J. Becker, an independent in the race against Ald. James B. Bowler in the 25th ward, on grounds that Becker's nominating petitions contained an insufficient number of signatures.

The elimination of Becker leaves Ald. Bowler without any opposition for reelection, the election board previously having ruled out the nominating petition of the only other candidate.

Fred V. Maguire, chairman of the election board, in explaining yesterday why the board had thrown out the petitions of Robert E. Barbee in the 17th ward because they were not consecutively numbered while the board had sustained the petitions of several candidates in the 6th ward against whom the same objection had been made, said that the objections against the 6th ward candidates had not been made in proper legal form.

Maguire also said he contemplated filing suit against those responsible for the statement issued by the Municipal Voters' league which charged that the election commissioners had been influenced by "political considerations and expediency" in deciding the protest hearings.

WORKER SMOTHERED TO DEATH.

John Scott, 23 years old, colored, 3909 Indiana avenue, was smothered to death yesterday when he fell into a hopper bin of meat scraps, cut fine for poultry feed, at the Darling & Co. plant in the stockyards, where he was employed.

ACTOR TO MARRY ACTRESS WIDOW OF MAN HE SLEW

Both Sent to Prison as Result of Killing.

New York, Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Paul Kelly, who starred in "Bad Girl," and plays the leading rôle tomorrow night at the opening of "Hobo" in the Morosco theater, went to the municipal building today with Mrs. Dorothy Mackaye Haymond, where they took out license to marry. They came early—at 10 a. m., and then hurried away.

Kelly, now 31 years old, was sentenced to San Quentin prison on May 31, 1927, after a jury in Los Angeles declared him guilty of manslaughter in connection with the death of Mrs. Raymond's husband, Ray Raymond, musical comedy actor. Raymond was killed in a fist fight.

Mrs. Raymond, a dramatic actress, was convicted a few weeks later, on a charge of conspiracy to conceal the facts surrounding her husband's death. She served ten months in San Quentin prison, the authorities lopping off a large part of her one to three years sentence for good behavior. Kelly was paroled after he served two years of a one to ten year sentence.

Mrs. Raymond is the same age as Kelly. Since her husband's death she has appeared on the stage only a few times, but only in the west. She came east recently and is living at the Hotel Tudor here. She could not be reached tonight.

Kelly was at the Morosco theater tonight for dress rehearsal, but he would not see reporters and efforts to learn when and where he and Mrs. Raymond will be married were unavailing.

SALOONKEEPER EXPOSED BY THIEF FREED ON BOND

John Oros, whose soft drink parlor at 71 North Broadway, Aurora, was raided on information furnished by John Bank, who burglarized the place twice after becoming intoxicated there, pleaded not guilty in Kane County Judge Olney C. Allen's court yesterday and was released in bond of $2,500 pending trial on Feb. 23.

Bank admitted stealing $58.60 from the till of the saloon, which he entered on two successive nights, and was charged with larceny by the police, but State's Attorney George D. Carbary released him on his own recognizance and indicated that he would recommend probation.

Carbary contended that it was no crime to loot a place where "poison liquor" was sold. The raid based on Bank's information netted 18 bottles of home brew.

DAISY DE BOE IS SENT TO JAIL FOR 18 MONTHS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Daisy De Boe today was sentenced by Judge William Doran to serve eighteen months in county jail, after which she can have three and a half years of liberty on probation, on her conviction for appropriating funds belonging to Clara Bow.

Miss De Boe at once announced her intention to appeal. Her attorney, William Beirne, gave an indication of this intention before Judge Doran pronounced sentence, and created an unusual situation when the court refused Miss De Boe permission to withdraw her probation request.

"Few Extenuating Circumstances."

In passing sentence, Judge Doran called the 105 pound blonde to rise and told her:

"Miss De Boe, you had a fair trial. There was evidence that you systematically looted the funds of Miss Bow for a long time. In addition to being guilty of the charge of grand theft on which you were convicted there was the added feature of your breach of trust. I can see few extenuating circumstances in the case. In my opinion you were guilty not only of one count you were convicted of, but the other thirty-four counts in the indictment. The jury was quite generous and sympathetic."

Will Appeal.

Miss Deboe stood with masked emotions while the judge lectured her, although her mother, Mrs. Ida Deboe, wept violently in a spectator's seat.

Attorney Beirne said: "My client feels she is innocent of the charge of which she was convicted. We will appeal to the higher court."

Clara Bow, who engaged Daisy as secretary and business manager two years ago and caused her prosecution of the theft charges last December, was not in court when her one time pal was sentenced, but later made this comment:

"I can only say I'm terribly sorry."

DEBATE ON STATE WITNESSES FOR BROTHERS' TRIAL

Attorneys representing Leo V. Brothers, indicted for the murder of Alfred Lingle, debated yesterday with Assistant State's Attorney C. Wayland Brooks over whether the state is furnishing the defense with a complete list of prosecution witnesses. The defense attorneys appeared before Chief Justice John P. McGoorty and asked that the state be compelled to reveal the identity of all witnesses, that the defense be given access to records of the Riviera hotel where Brothers once lived, and that a list of prospective veniremen be furnished.

"The state has claimed that it has nine witnesses to the murder," said Attorney Tyrrell Krum. "Where are the other five? Only four of those on the list given us could possibly be eye witnesses. The witnesses on the list we were given couldn't convict a man of petty larceny."

"They want to find out our case," replied Prosecutor Brooks. "They are assuming a lot of things. I'll assume a few things. I'm assuming that Brothers is a desperate character—associated with desperate characters. This man has committed three murders."

The judge ruled that the defense was entitled to a copy of the jury venire. He also instructed the attorneys to try to agree by Friday on the question of the hotel records.

Make system alkaline to ... Stop Colds QUICK!

Get Rid of Colds Before They Weaken You, Make You Liable to More Serious Troubles.

Nowadays it's important to stop your cold quick before it weakens your resistance to more serious trouble.

Any of the older treatments will bring relief—after a time. But thousands say this new way is the quickest of any.

Begin when you feel a cold coming. Take a tablespoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia in a glass of water, morning, noon, and night, the first day. Do same the second day. Then only at night. Colds reduce the alkaline balance of your system. That makes you feel achy, feverish, weak. Phillips Milk of Magnesia relieves this, and restores the alkaline balance.

Doctors prescribe Phillips Milk of Magnesia; hospitals use it. Millions know how it relieves sour stomachs, gas, indigestion, constipation and other symptoms of too much acid. Get the genuine.

AND IT'S A DIFFERENT PROCESS ... CONTROLLED ROASTING ... PATENTED BY HILLS BROS. ... DIFFERENT, BECAUSE IT INSURES UNIFORMITY. TRY A POUND OF HILLS BROS COFFEE TODAY, AND TASTE THE MATCHLESS FLAVOR CONTROLLED ROASTING GIVES.

Roasted a little at a time! This is the all-important principle of Hills Bros.' patented, continuous process—Controlled Roasting. And because of it, Hills Bros. are able to roast every berry of their famous blend evenly—to the degree where the utmost in rich, full-bodied flavor is developed. Think of this when vou buy coffee.

Remember, too, that Hills Bros. Coffee is always fresh because it is packed in vacuum. By this method, air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is taken from the can and kept ou·. Ordinary cans, even if air-tight, do not keep coffee fresh.

WHERE COMPETITION IS FORBIDDEN.

So much is being heard of the competition the railroads are meeting from buses and trucks that another, and in many respects more serious, form of competition is likely to be overlooked. The reference is to transcontinental business which the railroads have been losing in steadily increasing amounts since the Panama canal was opened.

The fourth section of the transportation act recognizes the right of the railroads to offer special rates in competition with water routes, but fourth section relief, as it is called, has been denied to the railroads connecting the central states and the Pacific. In consequence manufacturers and merchants in the interior who formerly shipped goods to the Pacific coast markets have been obliged to establish branches along the eastern seaboard or surrender their business to eastern competitors. In either event the transcontinental railroads lost revenue. As Mr. Fred Sargent, president of the North Western railroad, said the other day, cars containing vegetables and fruits move in here from the west and are sent back empty. Any rate which would fill those cars would add so much velvet to the railroads' incomes.

It is becoming increasingly clear that the railroads' future lies in the movement of commodities over long distances. The shorter hauls will tend to move by truck. If the competition of the trucks leads to the abandonment of many of the unprofitable branch lines, the railroads will be benefited rather than hurt. The unfairness in the present situation lies rather in the refusal of the commission to permit unprofitable lines to be junked while it also refuses to place the railroads in a position to compete for the transcontinental business which they formerly had and which they might now regain with profit all around.

A HARBOR FOR SEAPLANES.

The Lincoln park board, in conjunction with the Chicago plan commission, has prepared a preliminary sketch for the rearrangement of the lake front from the new outer drive bridge to North avenue.

Additional drives will be needed to handle the traffic using the new bridge. The plan doubles the present facilities. For the present, at least, that provision seems adequate.

The plan contemplates, in addition, the creation of a harbor for yachts and seaplanes between Ohio street and Oak street. It would be well to give this aspect further consideration. Two objections might be made to its use for seaplanes. The site of the proposed harbor is somewhat exposed, with the result that on many days the waters are too choppy to permit safe operation. Another and perhaps more serious obstacle is the proximity of the tall buildings along the Lake Shore drive. The prevailing winds in Chicago are from the west, which means that seaplanes rising from the lake front must head toward the land. It is dangerous to bank before considerable altitude has been attained, and particularly so in confused air currents such as are found where water and land meet and where tall buildings are erected. In the present state of the art of aviation this objection cannot be dismissed. The buildings are too close to the takeoff for safety.

A much better port for seaplanes is situated at the south end of the Grant park yacht harbor. There the width of Grant park and the Illinois Central tracks intervenes between the tall buildings and the takeoff. An airplane can climb gradually in the face of the prevailing winds and can attain a safe height before being banked to avoid the buildings.

The problem of providing a port for seaplanes, close to the business district, might be met if yachts were given unrestricted use of the north end of the Grant park harbor as well as the proposed harbor north of Navy pier, leaving the southern stretch of the Grant park basin for seaplanes. The site chosen for the yacht and seaplane base by the Lincoln park board is admirable for yachts but of much less value for planes. If it were given up wholly to surface craft the yachtsmen could well afford to give up some of the Grant park harbor to the flyers.

STATESMANSHIP BY MACHINES.

Secretary Stimson of the state department reported briefly by radio to the public an account of the trusteeship in Central America and of relations in South America. His hearers must have received the impression that statecraft has become so highly mechanized through treaties that it is automatic. Mr. Stimson said that critics who disapproved did not understand the legalities.

The Central American republics and the United States have treaty arrangements which dispose effectually of revolutionists. If a man succeeds in overthrowing one of the governments by force he does so knowing that he will not be recognized by any other Central American republic or by the United States. Consequently he will have no credit and he can get no money. If the prospect does not deter a revolutionist from the undertaking he will soon find it was a futile one, even if it brings him control. In one case it did change the government, but the situation was impossible and the man resigned.

The rule stated in the treaty is probably as good a rough and ready method of discouraging disorder as could be found if the process is to be automatic. It recognizes that the Central American republics are not republics, and that one of the prices paid for ostensible democracy where there is no capacity for real democracy is dictatorship, which is only the worse for revolution. Mr. Stimson's automatic rule makes the United States responsible for the treatment the governments give their people because it deprives the people of the right of revolution.

Misunderstanding, said Mr. Stimson, prevailed as to the conduct of the United States toward Brazil in the recent revolution. There again statecraft was automatic. Under the treaty the Brazilian government could ask for an embargo of arms against the revolutionists unless their belligerency had been recognized and it could purchase arms here, from the United States or from private firms. The revolutionists were too busy and going too fast to ask for recognition, and Mr. Stimson's automatic statecraft put him on the wrong horse about ten yards from the finish.

There still remains a conviction that if the secretary of state had known what was in prospect or had cared to be guided by information there would have been a chance even in a mechanized statesmanship for a prudent diplomacy, some of the tergiversation of state which concedes a point and avoids its consequences. Mr. Stimson merely jerked a lever and went down with the government he supported. That would suggest that all the state department needs is an oiler and a chief engineer.

THE GIFT FROM RURAL LIFE.

Of the various notables and dignitaries withdrawn from federal service to put the better life in industries repentant in the conviction of error, none has succeeded with more acclaim and renown than Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt, formerly the lash of the law in prohibition enforcement. As Judge Landis went to baseball and Elder Hays to the movies for their purification and peace, Mrs. Willebrandt went to the grape growers and producers of concentrate.

Senator Tydings of Maryland, continuing the discussion of the oddities of Volstead, attributes to Mrs. Willebrandt the authorship of a phrase used by the producers to describe one phase of their public service—"to rescue for human society the native values of rural life." These values, says Senator Tydings, have an alcoholic content of 20 per cent, truly rural if that can be said after the cup.

Dr. Clarence True Wilson denies that this has a benediction from the truly good, but the law, by curious twist and moral contortion, seems to imply nothing less. When a saner generation examines the statutory provision which under a law prohibiting the manufacture of intoxicating beverages specifically exempts from the prohibition the manufacture of nonintoxicating fruit juices and cider, the conclusion will be that the screw loose in the American head was the only thing it contained. This exemption is a lovely subtlety, rescuing for human society the native values of rural life, in appreciative subsidy of which the prohibition government of the United States has advanced $19,187,000 to the grape growers.

AND STILL NO TANKS.

The other day the Christie 10 ton tank was put through another series of tests, this time under the eyes of a special war department board. The tank covered forty miles of road in 56 minutes. Then it was driven across country for half an hour at 25 miles an hour. In the world war, tanks had a maximum speed of 6 miles an hour. No weapon of war has been so greatly improved since 1918 as the tank, but for lack of them our army has had almost no opportunity to study the tactical and strategical possibilities of the new weapons.

The fault does not lie with the infantry or the tank corps; it lies with the ordnance department. Maj. Gen. Fuqua, chief of infantry, and Col. Hiram Cooper, commandant at the tank school, are in favor of the purchase of the Christie tank, developed by a civilian. The ordnance corps, however, is working on its own designs, and has discouraged the purchase of enough of the Christie machines even for tactical exercises.

The generals of the ordnance corps will never be required to take a machine gun nest, which may account for their unwillingness to make a decision concerning tanks now. The infantry performs such unpleasant tasks and the infantrymen want the support of powerful and speedy tanks. They are satisfied with the Christie machine as the best tank obtainable at present, better than the machine designed by the ordnance department. The men who will ride in the tanks take the same view. The ordnance department's darling, they say, is so unsteady that it is impossible to shoot from it with any expectation of hitting the mark, an error of design that is not found in the Christie machine.

No one says the Christie tank is perfect; it may offer too large a target, but it is the best thing of its kind now available, and if the army waits until the ordnance officers discover ultimate perfection, as they seem intent upon doing, the wait will be long.

Peacetime experience is merely a repetition of wartime experience. The only American cannon fired in the last war were a few long range naval rifles. The ordnance corps was so busy redesigning the French seventy-five that it did not produce field guns until the war was over. It is easier for a camel to pass through the eye of a needle than for a good weapon to get into the United States army.

Editorial of the Day

[Detroit News.]

Remember how Rabindranath Tagore used to lecture us on the terrible state we were in, we Americans, and how much we could learn from the gentle, philosophic, peace loving peoples of the east?

Now that it seems possible home rule will be granted India, Mr. Tagore has taken a look at his own country and is considerably dismayed. He advises it to go slow in accepting what it has been clamoring for. He says it first should attain "rational mentality" and make "intelligent social adjustments." He finds religious intolerance "undermines the very foundation of national life." He discovers "poverty, pestilence, communal fights, and industrial backwardness owing to the meagerness of education."

We are surprised at Mr. Tagore. He had impressed upon us that it was we who were all wrong, that it was the sweet natured Hindu who had the secret of life. Is it possible that America has contributed to Mr. Tagore's education?

RECESS FROM DIETING.

BECAUSE of the world war Americans have not heard much of Prof. Von Noorden, a prolific writer on diet and health subjects twenty years ago. The Berlin letter to the Journal of the American Medical Association quotes many opinions on diet given by Von Noorden in a lecture in the German capital November, 1930. Some of these we quote.

"We discard the waters and liquors in which vegetables and meats have been cooked. We waste much of the minerals and vitamins we need." He advocates making these liquors into soups or sauces and eating them.

For the same reasons he favored eating raw foods. However, those who ate raw foods were very apt to become food faddists and to suffer in health because of the one-sidedness and lack of balance of their diets. We probably eat too much salt and we would be better off if we decreased the average daily intake of salt by about one-half. When one lives on a high salt diet he decreases the proportion of lime in his blood and this lowers his resistance. Conversely, decreasing the intake of salt increases the blood calcium and raises resistance.

If a person is on a diet it is well for him to take occasional recesses. For instance, if he is on a salt free or low salt diet let him stick to the rules for a period. Then, when his appetite fails, let him eat saltier foods for a brief recess. The man who is dieting on all the fats he can stand should have an occasional recess from fats, during which he can eat cereals as his appetite calls. Likewise with those who are dieting for diabetes, for tuberculosis, for obesity, and those who are on a low protein diet.

In several European countries experts in diet and nutrition take prominent part in health councils. Good illustrations are Dr. Rubner in Germany and Dr. Hinhede in Denmark. Von Noorden said that men in such positions must bear in mind the resources of their country, the economy of foods, the tastes of the people and their customs, as well as the number of calories, the minerals, and vitamins in different articles of diet.

The bases of all diets must be meat and potatoes, rye bread, fruit, fresh vegetables, and leafy salads. Had Dr. Von Noorden been in this country he would not have specified rye bread, though rye flour is sometimes so milled that the germ remains in the flour.

TREATING ANEMIA.

Mrs. C. F. writes: 1. Is there any cure for anemia in a middle aged person?

2. How low does the blood count get with anemia before it is considered dangerous?

3. Is the liver extract better than the liver itself?

4. What foods are best for anemic people?

5. Does one's stomach trouble in anemia?

REPLY.

1. There is more than one kind of anemia and between the different kinds there may be little connection. I will assume that you mean pernicious anemia and will answer your questions on that basis. Pernicious anemia, properly treated, can be held in check for years.

2. Pernicious anemia is dangerous from the start.

3. Not necessarily. Since the treatment must be long continued, one can be used as a rest from the other.

4. Liver, heart, tripe, and ordinarily used substantial foods.

5. Yes, in many cases.

NOT OXALIC ACID.

Neuritis writes: Some doctors say that tomatoes contain oxalic acid, which causes rheumatism, while others say to use the juice. Is this acid in the rinds, the seeds, the juice, the meat, or all through the tomato?

REPLY.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE.

Chicago, Feb. 2.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have a first and second mortgage on my property, the first being for five years and becomes due in three years, and the second is due Oct. 5, 1931. Pay $40 a month and interest on the second, and am two months in arrears. Have written for more time and was notified that unless I have the full amount of back payments ready at the end of two months they would foreclose. What can they do? J. R.

They can file a bill to foreclose. It will take some time to carry the proceedings through the sale and, after the sale, fifteen months are allowed for redemption, but the costs of the foreclosure proceedings would be a substantial addition to your debt, so that it is ordinarily inadvisable to default. We suggest that you consult with your banker. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

NATURALIZATION OF WIFE.

Chicago, Feb. 1.—[Friend of the People.]—1. Does an American girl lose her citizenship when she marries a foreigner?

2. In case a foreign born man becomes a citizen of the United States can his wife ask for citizenship papers for herself immediately, or has she to wait five years until her husband is naturalized before she can get hers?

H. K.

1. No, unless the marriage occurred before Sept. 22, 1922.

2. The wife of a citizen may apply for naturalization at any time and must prove one year's continuous residence in the United States. FRED J. SCHLOTTFELDT, District Director of Naturalization.

PASSPORT IDENTIFICATION.

Chicago, Feb. 3.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Twelve years ago I changed my name and came to Chicago with my children. My oldest child, 18, is to go to Europe this summer as companion. 1. What can I do regarding her passport—having no birth certificate for her under our new name? The passport I used for myself and family years ago was under the other name. 2. Don't know just what to do, as she does not know that her name is adopted. Please let me have your advice. M. S.

1. In our opinion, the passport officials ought to be satisfied with affidavites as to the identity of the individuals using the two names.

2. No reason for such damage appears from your letter. We cannot advise you to advantage without having your facts before us. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

WE ANNOUNCE OUR CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR!

During all the excitement and hullabaloo over who shall be the next mayor of Chicago, we have remained perfectly quiet, studying the situation. We are now ready to announce a man whom we will support. It is none other than that sterling patriot, that one hundred and ten per cent American, that enemy of vice and crime, that friend of the common people, the HON. ETAOIN SHRDLU.

1. BIGGER AND BETTER JAILS.
2. BIGGER AND BRIGHTER SPEAKEASIES.
3. BIGGER AND BETTER UNEMPLOYMENT.
4. BIGGER AND BETTER MURDERS.
5. REQUIRING ALL BOOTLEGGERS TO WEAR COWBELLS AROUND THEIR NECKS.

In a statement to the press late last night, Etaoin Shrdlu amplified parts of his platform for Chicago in forceful and statesmanlike language. No one realizes more keenly than Etaoin Shrdlu that one thing needed to put Chicago in its place as the greatest city in the world today is the arrest of Al Capone. With this in mind Etaoin Shrdlu proposes, if elected to the proud office of mayor (and he will be), to appoint Al Capone chief of police, so he can arrest himself whenever he feels like it.

Etaoin Shrdlu feels that no further emphasis need be laid on the great advantages in his proposed ordinance requiring bootleggers to wear cowbells. The benefits that would accrue from this are self-evident, in Mr. Shrdlu's opinion. Every one knows how annoying it is to forget his bootlegger's telephone number; besides, bootleggers move so often, and heretofore, at least, they have been exceedingly lax in keeping office hours. With a cowbell attached to their necks, making a soft, sweet tinkling noise as they moved about the streets, any man (or woman) could be assured of getting a bootlegger's services with at least as little difficulty as they find in calling a taxi.

THE WIND AT PLAY.

And down the city street
Signs swing and creak,
And over the sky
There is a great scurrying.
Cloud people, cherubs, angels, strange shaped
Cats and dogs,
Up the broad blue lane
They come. A diverse company.
For what train are they late . . .
And what fate will overtake
That last little lost cloud shape
If it reach too late the gate . . .
And the heavenly train pulls out
'Tis only the wind at play
In sky or city street,
Hark to the mournful sound
Of signs that swing and creak. . . .

PIERROT.

THE GREEK LETTER fraternities of the University of Kansas have sworn off on likker. And the sacred 18th was adopted eleven years ago. Well, now that the news has got to Kansas it may percolate around in other sections of the country.

WE CAN'T DENY any longer that everything is upside down, even nature. Here we are a few days in February, and according to precedent and all the rules we ought to be wading in knee deep snow and facing a blizzard that freezes our ears every time we step out on the street. Instead of that people are bathing in the lake and picnic parties are being held along the beaches and in all the inland glades. The grass is peeping up bright and green, the buds on the trees are swelling, flower bushes are blooming. 'Tis spring! 'tis spring! We won't be surprised at anything any more! No, not even if the Mississippi turns around and empties into Hudson bay, or the Atlantic dries up and we go scooting across the bottom of the ocean in automobiles next summer. The only thing that could give us a shock would be a bootlegger going bankrupt.

THE LATEST NEWS says the Russians are dumping their wheat all over Europe and at a very low price, to undercut their competitors. Mr. Legge and his farm board have a much better idea; Uncle Sam gets a good price for his wheat because he buys it himself. It's like this: You want to sell your auto for five hundred bucks, but nobody would give you more than a hundred for it. All right, you sell your auto to yourself for five hundred. You've made four hundred dollars and you've still got the old bus. D'y see? Neither do we exactly, but it sounds pretty good.

TOMORROW.

Each night I think, oh well, perhaps tomorrow
He will come by. . . . He probably was detained;
One night I heard your club was playing poker,
And once you worked, another night it rained.

What will I do when all days are tomorrows,
And each excuse has failed a dozen times?
Still . . . this thought brings a little consolation,

STILL INFLATING

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 11, 1915.

TUTUILA, American Samoa.—The Manua islands in American Samoa, comprising the islands of Manua, Ofu, Olosengta, and Tau, have been swept by a hurricane. Not a house is standing. No deaths have been reported, but the populace lost everything. The food situation is serious.

WASHINGTON.—The United States government sent a note to Great Britain making friendly observations on the use by British ships of neutral flags, and at the same time dispatched a communication to Germany inquiring what steps would be taken by German naval commanders to verify the identity of ships flying neutral flags in the recently proclaimed zones of war around England and Ireland. While the Lusitania incident is not mentioned, the representations to England are based on the statement of the British foreign office justifying the use of neutral flags by British merchantmen to escape capture. The American note points out how frequent and continued use of this stratagem might cast doubt on the character of vessels really entitled to fly the American flag and produce dangers to which neutral ships ought not to be subjected on the high seas and in unblockaded waters.

PETROGRAD.—One of the most desperately fought battles of the present war, marked by ferocious bayonet charges, described as without precedent, is in progress in the Carpathians. The scene of this struggle is in Galicia, south of Sanok. On the outcome depends control of the mountain passes leading to the plains of Hungary. The general staff of the Russian army issued the following statement: "In the Carpathians the fighting continues in the vicinity of Bartfield and Svidnik. Near Mount Loupkow we continued our pursuit, capturing 5,200 men in one day."

LONDON.—Two bitterly contested engagements between British and Boers are reported. Gen. Kitchener tells of a fight between Smith-Dorrien and Louis Botha's troops near Ermelo, in which Gen. Spruit of the Boer forces was killed, Gen. Randemeyer wounded. The British casualities were twenty-four killed and fifty-three wounded. The other engagement is reported from East London, Cape Colony. It was at Tabaksberg mountain on Jan. 31. Maj. Crewe with a composite column of 700 became engaged with about 2,500 Boers under personal command of Gen. De Wet. Maj. Crewe lost a "pom-pom" gun and many men.

LONDON.—The gates of Aylesbury prison will swing open this morning and Mrs. Florence Elizabeth Maybrick, the American woman whose case has stirred two continents for years, will walk out a free woman. Mrs. Maybrick, who was convicted in 1889 of poisoning her husband in England, has been pardoned by King Edward VII. Mrs. Maybrick originally was sentenced to death, but a petition, signed by 500,000 persons, brought a review and commutation of sentence to life imprisonment.

MADRID.—Rioting in Spain has assumed a most serious aspect and it is doubted that the authorities will prove capable of preventing deadly conflicts. The rioting is especially menacing in Valladolid, Barcelona, Valencia, and Granada. Several persons have been injured in the clashes.

LONDON.—Mr. Gladstone made a statement in the house of commons indicating a wish on the part of the government, of which he is chief, for peace with the Boers. From the statement it appears that Earl Kimberly, the colonial secretary, has instructed Sir George Colley, leader of the English forces in South Africa, to authorize President Brand of the Orange Free State to promise the most favorable terms to such of the so-called rebels as will lay down their arms.

LONDON.—Thomas Carlyle's remains were interred in the family burial ground at St. Feehan's churchyard in the peaceful hamlet of Ecclefechaul, where he first saw the light. It had been hoped to deposit the remains of the great Scotchman in Westminster abbey, but this honor was declined by his friends in accordance with his expressed wishes.

INCOME TAX PARADOX.

Chicago, Feb. 6.—After making out my income tax return for 1930 I find to my astonishment that, in spite of the fact that my income had suffered a reduction of nearly $800 because of real estate bond defaults, I would still have to pay nearly $300 more tax than for 1928, when the tax rate [1½ per cent] was the same. There must be something wrong. Why should I have to pay more tax as my income decreases?

Take two men, both on a salary of $2,500 and single. The one has in addition to his salary an income of interest on first mortgage bonds amounting to $2,500, the other has nothing extra; everything else, we'll say, being equal for both—same exemption, no deductions. Yet the man with the $5,000 income needs pay a tax of only $1.87, while the other man, who makes only half as much, must pay $11.25, or more than six times as much. It seems utterly unfair. Something is wrong here. Can anybody explain it?

I can understand why the latter should pay the same tax as the former, since the tax on the bonds is paid at source, but why in God's name should the poorer man be forced to pay between six and seven times as much on his salary?

HARD TIMES MADE HARDER.

Chicago, Feb. 5.—Times are hard! Yes, sir; they surely are. They are so hard, in fact, that you cannot get a reply to letters asking for a price for some hard work you want done.

The paving of the alley in the rear of my home has made it necessary for the back walk to be raised, as it is now below alley grade. On Jan. 12 I wrote a concrete construction company asking a price on the work. Although I later followed this up by a personal visit, and still later by a telephone request for a reply, to date I have had none. So on Jan. 29 I wrote another cement construction company asking for a price on the work. I even took this letter to the firm personally, but as yet no reply. Yes, sir! times are hard. My experience proves it.

ON THE WEARING OF HALTERS.

Chicago, Feb. 4.—I was rather amused as I heard Mayor William Hale Thompson, with a halter in hand, say: "I wear no man's halter." But how true it is. He does not wear the halter of any newspaper striving for a better community or of a civic organization that takes pride in the good name of our city, or of the head of any family that desires to raise his family in a respectable community, or of any taxpayer that is burdened by heavy taxes. Yes, he is for Big Bill and his gang; all others can go to the hot place.

CUBA IN CHAINS AGAIN.

Chicago, Feb. 7.—The president of Cuba has been authorized to suspend constitutional guarantees and declare himself dictator. Was it for that the battle at El Caney and San Juan? Do you remember the Maine? Shall we see those ideals for which the United States has shed sacred blood and given up untold treasure ground beneath a pompous dictator's impudent feet?

WILLIAM C. WALKER.

DEBT CANCELLATION TO BRING WAR.

Riga, Latvia, Jan. 27.—By the time this reaches you it may be that the speech of Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, oracle and president of the Columbia university, has been forgotten. I hope so. He urged the revision of the war debts as a panacea for the present economic crisis and to relieve Europe from "the unbearable burden under which it is now groaning." Dr. Butler is an advocate of debt cancellation.

But will cancellation improve international relations? Will it make the world happy, prosperous and friendly? Will it improve trade, solve unemployment, and develop an even greater period of prosperity which will enable every one to have a $5,000 motor car, a $10 fountain pen, and a $7 cigaret lighter?

Sure, let's cancel the debts of the last war and get ready to loan money for the next. Mussolini would like to have some airplanes and cruisers. France could double her air fleet, England could double the dole. Germany could immediately begin to realize her plan of again dividing Poland with Russia and incidentally liquidate the United states.

Through canceling the war debts and taking upon ourselves their payment we shall remove all obstacles to a bigger and better conflict. The opponents are already lined up and in training. Germany, Russia, Italy, and Turkey vs. the Versailles treaty. France, Poland, the little entente, and the United states are for it. Great Britain, with her colonies, now dominions, would be glad to remain neutral. It would be easy for us to persuade her to have our overseas markets while we adapted our industries to provide munitions for all combatants. Naturally we couldn't ask for payment because we canceled the debts for the last war.

Why, we could even make our "prosperity" permanent by preventing the new war from coming to an end. If either side needed man power we could ship over a few drafts and prevent any decisive victory from being won.

Obviously, Dr. Butler has the only correct solution for the present state of affairs. Europe would be enabled to fight forever, just as she desires, and Britain could get back her world trade and be happy. War orders would restore our prosperity. Everybody would be satisfied.

As for the financial details of all this, we can leave that to Dr. Butler. He knows all about it. And when his father is crowned with success we could elect him to be the permanent President of the United States and invent a wonderful new decoration to decorate him with.

THE COST OF THE SUBWAY.

Chicago, Feb. 4.—The property owners of the near north side have one special assessment after the other. We are just recovering from the widening of Chicago avenue and La Salle street. There is talk of widening Clybourn avenue, Clark, Orleans, and Division streets, which means that we will have to shoulder the burden. Why not build the subway by bond issue, so that all of Chicago and future citizens of Chicago will share in paying for it? Every Chicagoan wants the subway. Why don't everybody help pay for it, instead of just a few?

Amtorg Chief Speaks at City Club Forum.

BY PAUL POTTER.

While he was denying that Russian wheat exports were being "dumped" in central European markets, the price of September wheat was jumping 4 cents a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade to the highest price quoted here since last July. Unconfirmed rumors of political turmoil in Russia were reported by the grain trade as causing this sudden advance.

Spend $38,000,000 in Illinois.

"Soviet Russia," declared Bogdanov, "bought $38,000,000 worth of Illinois goods in 1930, or more than double the figure of the preceding year. In Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, and Ohio we placed orders to the amount of $70,000,000 in 1930, nearly one-half of all the soviet purchases in the United States."

More than 600 firms in the four states were given these cash orders, he said, for such items as tractors, combines and other agricultural implements, machine tools, mining equipment, etc. This business was conducted in the face of adverse publicity and a congressional investigation of the soviet operations here, he added.

Bogdanov then detailed the large amount of equipment and supplies yet needed to complete the five year plan in Russia. He said that if barriers were set up against Russian sales and no American credit could be obtained, purchases must be made in central Europe, although certain machinery from the United States was unavailable there in the form or quantity needed.

Sales to U. S. 30 Million.

"During the last year we sold in the United States about $30,000,000 worth of soviet products, a gain of about a million over the previous year," he said. On the other hand, purchases amounted to about $150,000,000.

"The per capita national income of the soviet union last year amounted to about $110 as compared with $800 in this country. It is clear that a country with a per capita income one-seventh that of the United States, far from presenting a menace to this country, actually presents a great market for those products required to raise the standard of living of the population. It is only to the extent that the soviet union is in need of imported goods that its internal resources are mobilized for exports."

Slips and Falls Under Wheels of Moving Train

Mrs. Ornete Seielli, 45 years old, 45 Burtis avenue, Highwood, a maid, was probably fatally injured yesterday when she slipped, and fell beneath the wheels of a moving North Shore electric train at the Beach station crossing in Highland Park. Her right leg was severed, and surgeons at the Highland Park hospital said it would be necessary to amputate the left leg. Mrs. Seielli had just alighted from the train, and was waiting for it to pass, when she fell.

House Group O. K.'s Ban on Forced Labor Products

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Moving shortly after the treasury had issued orders to bar convict produced lumber and pulpwood from northern Russia, the house ways and means committee today approved a bill to exclude forced labor products from all countries.

The treasury ordered collectors of customs to require that importers of lumber and pulpwood from four sections of northern Russia to prove that convict labor did not enter into their production. The orders were issued under regulations in accord with the 1930 tariff law.

The house committee action was upon the Kendall bill, designed to put into effect on April 1 the provisions of the tariff law relating to forced labor products. Under the tariff law these provisions do not go into effect until next January.

Defines Forced Labor.

The bill would exclude products transported, handled, or loaded, as well as those produced by forced, indentured, or convict labor. It would define forced labor as "all work or service which is exacted from any person under the menace of any penalty for its nonperformance and for which the worker does not offer himself voluntarily."

The treasury orders were issued by Commissioner F. X. A. Eble of customs after the treasury had received new affidavits bearing upon the use of convicts in Russian forests.

Officials expect the legality of the action to be questioned in the courts by the importers. They declined to disclose the new evidence.

The commissioner in his order said "evidence which has been presented to me," caused him to find that "convict labor is used in the production of lumber and pulp wood" in the Kola peninsula, including the Murman coast, an autonomous Keralian area, the northern area of Russia, and in the autonomous area of Zyryan.

Russian Matches Barred.

The action was the first taken toward barring Russian goods since last summer when shipments of lumber and pulp wood were temporarily barred.

Russian matches already are barred by the treasury under the anti-dumping act. It was found they were selling for less in this country than in Russia.

Charges have also been made that Russia is dumping manganese and coal in this country but no action on either of those products has been taken.

VOTE TODAY ON 44 HR. WEEK FOR POSTAL CLERKS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—The senate at a night session cleared its calender of more than 200 minor bills and agrees to take a final vote tomorrow on the measure granting a 44 hour week for postal clerks.

Illinois was granted an additional federal judge to sit in the southern district, with the passage of a bill authorizing the President to make such an appointment. The bill had already passed the house. In the committee report submitted by Senator Deneen [Rep., Ill.], it was pointed out that the southern district of Illinois has a population of a million and a half persons and only one judge. A delay of two years intervenes, it was reported, from the time a civil suit is at issue until it can be brought to trial.

A bill granting a pension to Mrs. Eleanora Emma Bliss, widow of the late Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, caused debate because of the action of the senate committee in cutting the pension from $5,000 to $900 a year. The senate refused to accept the committee's amendment and voted the $5,000 sum.

FOUR INJURED IN OHIO UNIVERSITY CHEMICAL BLAST

400 Students Routed by Bromine Fumes.

Columbus, O., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—An instructor was seriously burned, two graduate assistants and a co-ed overcome, and more than 400 students routed from the chemistry building at Ohio State university today when a five pound bottle of liquid bromine exploded, when it fell.

Clarence Bremer of Holland, Mich., the instructor, suffered the most severe burns about his body from the liquid and inhaled a large quantity of fumes. His condition is reported as serious.

Miss Ruth Dwyer, Chillicothe, Ohio, a student in the pharmacy college, also is in a serious condition from inhalation of the gas.

Assistants Rescue Professor.

The two assistant instructors were burned when, after once vacating the building, they returned and rescued Bremer from probable death in the gas filled room where he was practically unconscious from the effects of burns and the gas. They were Claud G. Schmitt, Toledo, and Leo B. Genung, Osage, Ia. They also are in a hospital.

The explosion occurred when Bremer dropped the bottle of bromine preparatory to carrying it into the main laboratory in the chemistry building to be used in experimental purposes before the class.

400 Students Stampede.

The 400 students in the laboratory at the time started a wild rush for the open air as the gasses started filling up the rooms. Many were hurt in the stampede. At least fifty students were treated with oxygen in the university hospital for effects of the gas. The gas attacks the mucous membranes lining the respiratory tract and may cause bronchial pneumonia if inhaled in sufficient quantities. Lesser amounts cause colds, according to physicians. Liquid bromine causes severe burns.

The gas was used in the world war as a constituent of phosgene poison gas. It was substituted for chlorine gas in various experiments but the scarcity of bromine prevented its wide use.

The Methodist church was also looted here last night, the intruders getting nothing more than a quantity of old clothes.

WIFE WINS 2 YEAR COURT FIGHT FOR DIVORCE AND SON

A court battle of two years' duration was terminated yesterday by Superior Judge John J. Sullivan when Mrs. Grace Michel, 543 Aldine avenue, was granted a divorce from Milton Michel, 7280 Myrtle avenue. She was also awarded the custody of their son. Through Attorney Harry X. Cole, Mrs. Michel sued for divorce after she alleged her husband ordered her from their home in November of 1928. Michel filed a cross-bill and was awarded temporary custody of the six year old boy.

Last November Mrs. Michel petitioned the court to be given custody of the child, and Michel and the boy fled from the state. They were found a few days ago in Baltimore and were returned to this city.

In addition to giving Mrs. Michel a divorce, the judge awarded her a cash settlement of $1,000.

HOOVER FAVORS PROMPT ACTION ON WARSHIP BILL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—The movement to force action at this session of congress on the $74,000,000 warship authorization bill was given momentum today by the dissemination of information to the effect that President Hoover is anxious to have the measure approved as soon as possible.

At a meeting of the Republican steering committee of the senate today it was decided to sound out house leaders at once to see if the warship authorization bill could be passed through that body before adjournment.

The intimation given out by Senator James E. Watson [Rep., Ind.], majority leader, was that the senate would take up the bill and attempt to pass it, if house leaders assure them that they could secure approval of the bill.

In the meantime sponsors of the authorization legislation in the house were pressing for speedy action. Chairman Fred A. Britten [Rep., Ill.], of the house naval affairs committee, filed application for a special rule giving the bill priority over other legislation.

Chairman Bertrand H. Snell [Rep., N. Y.], of the house rules committee, advised the Illinois navy leader, late today, that the application would be granted unless unforeseen difficulties developed. Mr. Britten's plan is to await senate action before bringing the bill up for action in the house.

Information reaching Chairman Britten tonight was that President Hoover had sent word to Senator Frederick Hale [Rep., Me.], chairman of the senate naval committee, that he favored pushing the bill to a vote as soon as possible.

It was learned, also, that the state department has made representations to certain senate leaders, urging passage of the measure, as a step toward building the fleet up to the limits of the London treaty.

LEWIS ADDRESSES TEXAS LEGISLATURE ON FOREIGN POLICIES

Austin, Tex., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Texas Democrats today paid honor to a distinguished Democrat from the north, U. S. Senator Elect J. Hamilton Lewis of Illinois. Lewis addressed the Texas legislature on its invitation.

Mr. Lewis devoted his entire talk to foreign affairs. He stated he did not wish to speak on any internal problem on which the state was divided. He urged that the U. S. adopt a permanent foreign policy, calling attention to the fact that Henry Stimson, secretary of state, recently had criticized the Central and South American policy of former President Wilson.

"Let us differ as we will on domestic affairs," Lewis said, "but let us stand united on foreign problems."

Besides advocating a permanent foreign policy so that other nations would respect our pronouncement, Lewis recommended that the United States quit lending money abroad.

The senator said the United States would not have been in its present financial straits if it had lent to American farmers and miners the twelve billion dollars it had lent to foreign countries since the war.

PIG STY FOUND ON GROUNDS OF JUBILEE CHAPEL

Peoria, Ill., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—The beautiful Jubilee College chapel, built in 1839 from funds donated by Queen Victoria of England, is being used as a storehouse for straw and farm products. A pig sty also is being maintained next to the cemetery on the college grounds.

Circuit Judge Joseph Daily today sustained a report of Master in Chancery Claude U. Stone finding that the property therefore has reverted to the heirs of Bishop Chase. Suit to claim the property was filed by Lloyd Lewis, a grandson of Philander Chase, pioneer Episcopal bishop. The property covers 160 acres.

County Can Purchase It.

Under the court ruling Peoria county was offered an opportunity to purchase the property as a historic memorial. It decreed that the cemetery shall be a permanent burial ground and never be disturbed. The remainder of the property shall be sold and the proceeds divided among the heirs of the bishop.

Bishop Edward Fawcett of the Quincy diocese of the Episcopal church and Murray M. Baker, the Rev. William L. Essex, and Leaton McBoggess, trustees of Jubilee college, are the defendants in the suit.

Bishop Chase founded Jubilee college as a seminary for training Episcopal ministers and missionaries. He donated the land and used his private means for the most part in financing the institution in its early days. The college continued in existence until 1908. The stone chapel continued to be used for religious services until a few years ago.

Queen Makes Donation.

While the seminary was under construction the bishop made a trip to England, where he had an audience with the queen, appealing for financial aid in the establishment of the college. She made a donation and provided money with which to build the chapel.

Peoria chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, is considering the purchase of the entire site to preserve the grounds and buildings as they have stood for nearly a century.

FIREMAN KILLED IN FALL.

La Salle, Ill., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Lloyd Mennen, 38, Minonk fireman, was killed today when he fell off a fire truck on a run to Benson where two stores were destroyed. The loss was $10,000.

'ACIDINE HAS NO EQUAL FOR INDIGESTION, GAS'

"I have used ACIDINE for indigestion and gas pains and find that it has no equal. It is classed alone. Nothing can compare with it," says John D. Gates, 360 E. Garfield Blvd., Chicago, Ill.

Just another of thousands who are astonished at the way this new prescription ACIDINE succeeds when other known remedies fail. The reason is it is different from other medicines. ACIDINE contains Japtase, which, in laboratory tests, digested 800 times its own weight of certain heavy starchy foods. ACIDINE neutralizes burning acid, soothes irritated stomach and intestinal linings, helps end acidosis.

Eat, drink all you want. When sour stomach, gas, pain, heartburn, bad taste, heavy feeling, short breath, dizziness, belching, nervousness, colds, gassy headaches and sleeplessness trouble you, take ACIDINE. Results guaranteed. If not delighted, maker refunds money.

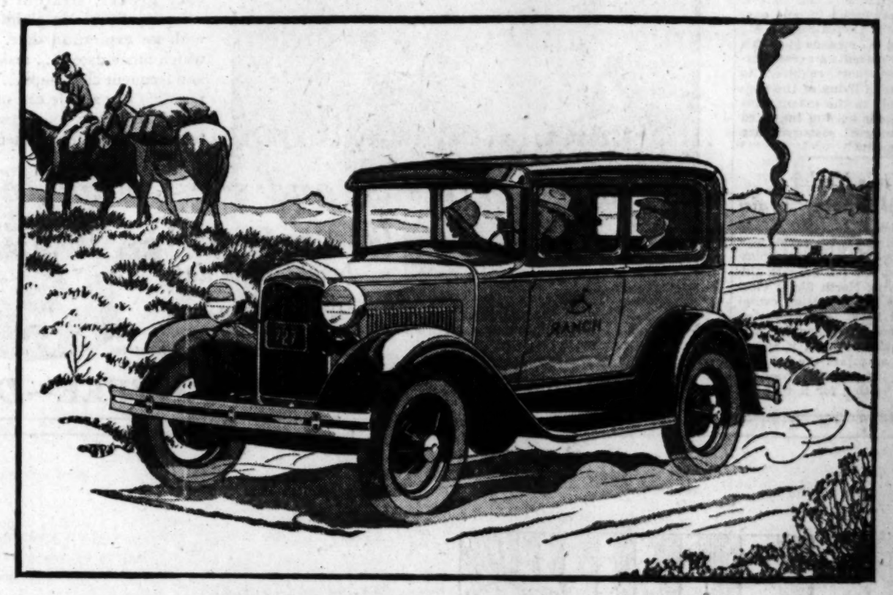
Why You Can Drive the New Ford So Many Thousands of Miles

Unusual care in manufacturing is reflected in the smooth, reliable performance of the new Ford and its economy and long life.



THE NEW FORD TUDOR SEDAN

This popular family sedan is an outstanding example of value far above the price. Its beauty of line, color and upholstery is in keeping with its capable mechanical performance. Among its many features are . . . silent, fully enclosed four-wheel brakes, Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield, four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers, aluminum pistons, torque-tube drive, three-quarter floating rear axle, more than twenty ball and roller bearings, extensive use of steel forgings, Rustless Steel, quick acceleration, 35 to 65 miles an hour, ease of control, reliability, economy and long life. The first cost of the Ford is low and you save many dollars because of the low cost of operation and up-keep and low yearly depreciation.

THE NEW FORD IS BUILT TO GIVE LONG SERVICE

THE NEW FORD has made an unusual record for reliability and long life. In police service it has been driven 100,000 and 120,000 miles under the severest driving conditions. Leading industrial companies operating large fleets of Fords report "satisfactory economical service" after many months and years of constant use. The value of good materials, simplicity of design and accuracy in manufacturing is especially apparent after the first 25,000 miles.

Throughout the chassis, you find many reasons for the good performance of the Ford. None is more important than the crankshaft.

The crankshaft is frequently called the heart of the automobile because of the part it plays in transmitting the power developed by the pistons to the flywheel and driveshaft. It must be properly balanced to insure smooth operation. It must be accurate in size to insure proper clearance in the bearings. It must be true in alignment and weight to reduce friction and give long continuous service without adjustment.

The crankshaft of the new Ford has great strength because it is made of carbon manganese steel, specially developed by Ford metallurgists. It will resist a twisting stress of 2½ tons at a leverage of twelve inches from its axis.

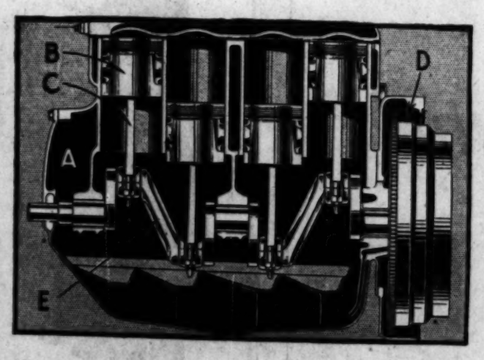
In the many steps in its manufacture, the Ford crankshaft is machined and polished to measurements as fine as one-half of a thousandth part of an inch. In all, Ford crankshafts receive more than 150 checks for accuracy.

The greatest care is taken to make sure that the Ford crankshaft will be in perfect balance in all positions and at all speeds. The machines for the dynamic balance tests are set upon foundations of gum rubber and are so delicately adjusted that the very air that surrounds them is first cleansed and then held at 68 degrees by thermostatic control.

Though weighing many pounds, the Ford crankshaft is so carefully balanced that it will remain motionless when placed upon two perfectly leveled parallel bars, yet will turn if so small a weight as a ten-cent piece is placed on any connecting-rod bearing.

This same care is followed as standard practice in the manufacture of the Ford flywheel, pistons, connecting-rods, valves, camshaft and other mechanical parts.

You can see, therefore, why the Ford delivers reliable, economical service for so many thousands of miles. It gives good performance on the road because good performance has been built into it at the factory.



This illustration shows the Ford cylinder bloc (A), piston (B), connecting-rod (C), flywheel (D), and crankshaft (E). The care with which these parts are made is an important factor in the smoothness, reliability, economy and long life of the new Ford.

SO, YOU WANT TO MEET THE BEST PEOPLE

It is true that the circulation of THE SATURDAY EVENING POST almost exactly parallels the opportunities in America for making sales.

It is true also that in city, state and nation, this magazine picks its readers in direct proportion to their intelligence and buying-power.

This doesn't happen by accident. No, indeed!

It is the pre-calculated result of carefully determining the most progressive and substantial sales territories and then confining our circulation effort within those areas.

In the hundred leading American cities, for example, investigation is made not only by zones, but by neighborhoods, streets, blocks and at times even individual homes.

The men of our Division of Commercial Research visit, tour and map each city in residential detail, indicate the desirable circulation, and turn the guide-map over to the circulation department for action.

It takes a publication great in editorial concept and execution to interest this superlative type of reader and hold him as THE SATURDAY EVENING POST has held him for three decades.

The success with which The Post is doing it now is seen in its ability to add, on top of its already largest magazine circulation, a steady, average increase of 100,000 such new readers every year!

If you want your advertising to address the hand-picked core and center of the best-buying public on earth, THE SATURDAY EVENING POST offers you opportunity to talk to that hub three-million-strong which turns the taste, thinking, buying of the nation.

There may be a better introduction to the best people in America, but the most experienced and successful advertisers have never yet found what it is!

ROOSEVELT TELLS PORTO RICO TO WATCH PENNIES

BY HARWOOD HULL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Feb. 10.—Need for further economy in island government, chiefly by municipal organizations as well as additional federal aid to help carry on, was outlined by Governor General Theodore Roosevelt Jr. in his annual message to the Porto Rico legislature tonight.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT JR.

The governor, who read his message in Spanish, declared that the year was marked by definite accomplishments due to the coöperation of the legislators, the people of the island, and the sympathetic and understanding aid of President Hoover. In spite of the world economic depression, Mr. Roosevelt said, "we are in better shape than we were twelve months ago."

Specifically the governor pointed out that the insular government had funded during the year a floating debt of $3,000,000 and, instead of a monthly deficit of approximately $200,000, the budget had been balanced and expenses were being met by improved tax collections. Where a year ago December salaries were met in part by the governor's personal note, the government pay roll this year was paid out of current collections without difficulties.

Asks Island to Save.

But while the finances are in better shape, Gov. Roosevelt urged the legislature to give prime consideration to the reorganization of the 77 municipal governments of the island, which he described as going from bad to worse. Municipal employés have gone without pay for months in some of the municipalities, he said, while "worse still, municipal services for our poor are crippled."

The only way for the municipalities to avoid bankruptcy is the adoption of a simplified form of government and living more economically and operating more efficiently, his message urged. The municipalities cannot look to the insular government for further financial aid, the governor added, asserting that the insular government is having difficulty making both ends meet and is in turn seeking another million dollars from the federal government to help on road work. But for a million dollars voted congress last year "we would have been forced to curtail in a large measure public health, school work and other vital measures," he continued.

Extensive revision of revenue laws also was urged together with provision for a new and smaller board of tax equalization and review. Mr. Roosevelt said that recommendations providing for the elimination of some taxes on necessities and providing for heavier taxes on luxuries would be submitted.

No Reduction in Taxes.

"We have not arrived at a financial condition where we can afford to reduce taxes," he warned in urging that the 4-cents tax per gallon on gasoline be continued for another year.

In reviewing the year's administration Mr. Roosevelt pointed out that more than 50,000 children were fed in school lunch rooms largely from funds contributed throughout the United States to the American Child Health association, the Golden Rule foundation and direct by friends. Eighty milk stations for babies were established.

"Due unquestionably in large measure to this work the infant mortality rate was reduced some 30 per cent," he asserted. "Primarily, credit to improved health conditions for children was due to the local Parent-Teacher associations. They are the corner store on which our work has rested. Where before we were confronted with emaciated and sickly children, we now see those same children healthy and happy."

SOUTHDOWN SADDLE OF MUTTON PROVIDES EINSTEIN A SURPRISE

Pasadena, Cal., Feb. 10.—(AP)—The fastest, longest jump a saddle of Southdown mutton ever took—London to Pasadena in eight days—turned out to be a relatively fine dish tonight.

The finest prize winning saddle of mutton in Great Britain usually goes to the prince of Wales. But he was cruising in South American waters while Albert Einstein with a certain amount of relish and gastronomic satisfaction contemplated the relativity of a princely piece of meat.

All because Frau Einstein a couple of weeks ago mentioned that her husband liked mutton. Messages went to New York and London.

Across the Atlantic on the Aquitania, thence by airplane to Pasadena the saddle of mutton sped in eight days. It was under special refrigeration and was said to be the first piece of Southdown mutton to reach California.

"Ach, wunderbar," meaning, "wonderful," said Prof. Einstein as the mutton was delivered to his door as a surprise.

Gets Jury Trial on Church Window Smashing Charge

George Sutko, 21 years old, 5120 South Rockwell street, was granted a jury trial yesterday when he appeared before Judge Howard Hayes in the Stockyards court, on a charge of malicious mischief. The charge is based on the breaking of several windows of St. Mary's Russian Orthodox church, 4945 South Seeley avenue. The window smashings, it has been charged, were the result of a parish quarrel.

PUBLIC SERVICE BODY QUIZ VOTED IN PENNSYLVANIA

Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 10.—(AP)—The state senate today without a record vote passed a resolution for an investigation of the public service commission by the senate judiciary committee. The resolution also called for an investigation of alleged political activities of public utilities so far as they affect the commission.

The action of the senate is the result of the attack by Gov. Gifford Pinchot in the present Pennsylvania commission, which he has characterized as the "cat's paw of corporations."

Last week the house of representatives, which is controlled by the friends of the governor, passed a resolution of its own to make the investigation. The house resolution is in the senate waiting action, but instead of taking it up, the senate, which was organized by senators opposed to Mr. Pinchot, decided to have the senate alone investigate the commission.

Statistics show that the office worker is the most frequent victim of colds, simple sore throat, and similar infections.

Twice a day he rides in badly ventilated street cars or buses, frequently crowded with coughing people—germs there.

All morning he works in overheated offices, rushes out into the cold to a restaurant filled with others suffering from colds and sore throat—germs there.

Again and again he uses telephones used by others with nose or throat infections—germs there.

Lack of exercise, and exposure to sudden temperature changes weaken body resistance so that germs gain the upper hand.

You can do a great deal to combat colds and sore throat by using full strength Listerine as a gargle. On arising and before retiring. Occasionally during the day if you feel a cold coming on. And certainly at night on returning from work that has probably exposed you to germs.

Reduces mouth germs 98%

Full strength Listerine is fatal to germs of all kinds, including the Streptococcus Hemolyticus, associated with colds and sore throat. Listerine kills germs in the fastest killing time accurately recorded by science.

Yet Listerine is non-poisonous, safe to use in any cavity, and soothing to tissue. Inflamed conditions of the mouth and throat are quickly relieved by it.

Used as a mouth wash, it reduces the bacterial count on the surfaces of the mouth 98%.

Gargle every 2 hours

To maintain a cleanly condition in the mouth, the occasional gargle is sufficient. But when you feel a cold or sore throat coming on, physicians advise that you repeat the gargle every two hours.

Thus you give nature an extra attacking force to fight the swiftly multiplying disease germs breeding in the mouth by millions.

Gargle every 2 hours

WALES MOTORS IN PERUVIAN DESERT TO SEE OIL FIELDS

Begins Job of Inspecting South America.

R. S. OROPESA, Feb. 10.—(AP)—The prince of Wales was busily at work today on one of the main phases of his visit to South America, the collection and study of information on the industrial and commercial life of the continent.

Yesterday for more than seven hours he motored through the great oil fields of northern Peru, largely controlled by English and Canadian interests, and gained a good insight into the work of this huge industry.

Sees Life as It Is.

He motored for the best part of 100 miles through an arid, sun scorched country whose only wealth is oil, stopping here and there to ask questions, watch some interesting operation, or learn at first hand how a little band of Britons and Americans live among the thousands of native laborers toiling to develop the vast resources of the land.

The prince and his brother, Prince George, landed at Cabo Branco in the morning and with members of their party were whisked by automobile a thousand feet in altitude in less than two miles along a road bristling with hairpin bends cut in a bristling mountainside.

At El Alto the prince found a modern settlement with clubs and hospitals in the midst of a county yielding 1,000 barrels of oil daily. The prince watched interestedly the process of cleaning a well and saw hundreds of feet of piping inserted.

Finds U. S. Machinery Used.

Further on drilling operations were in progress and the prince inquired about the machinery. He was surprised to learn that it was of American manufacture and that no British maker specialized in drilling machinery.

The party proceeded by automobile to Paita by way of Lobitos and Negritos, where the royal travelers were greeted with a display of Peruvian and British flags and with the populace out in full force.

At Paita they again boarded the Oropesa for the trip down the coast to Callao. Once on board the prince of Wales began a careful study of the information he had acquired.

PRESIDENT HOOVER MARRIED 32 YEARS; SPENDS NORMAL DAY

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—(AP)—President and Mrs. Hoover finished the thirty-second year of their married life today, but gave the event no unusual observance.

The President held his usual Tuesday cabinet meeting and Mrs. Hoover went about her business as first lady of the land without noticing the day in any public way.

Tonight they attended a dinner given in their honor by Attorney General Mitchell. It was one of a series being given by cabinet members.

They were married in California thirty-two years ago today and sailed almost immediately for China. Shortly after they landed there they were involved in the Boxer rebellion.

88 ROOM CABIN HOTEL WILL BE BUILT IN DUNES

An 88-room cabin hotel, costing $90,000, will be built in the Dunes State park at Tremont, Ind., it was announced yesterday by Col. Richard M. Lieber, director of the Indiana department of conservation. The announcement carried a request for bids to be submitted on Feb. 17 at Indianapolis.

Plans for the hotel were drawn by John Lloyd Wright, a son of Frank Lloyd Wright, noted architect, and carry in their design, it is said, the typical Wright ideas.

The hotel is to be four stories high, each room spacious and fashioned after the interior of a cabin. On the outside of each room will be a sun porch covered with sand where patrons may take sun baths. The hotel will face the lake, 100 yards from the water line.

STOP BOBBY'S COUGH

Before it Weakens Him to the Danger Point!

Never take a child's cough lightly. You can't tell where it will end. Many a serious sickness has started with "just a cough." For a cough is not only distressing, but weakening as well. At the first sign of a cough or chest soreness in old or young, always give good, dependable old "Piso's for Coughs."

Piso's does the five things necessary to stop a cough and repair the damage done. It checks the cough spasm, loosens the mucus, opens the air passages, soothes the inflamed tissues, and at the same time, has a tonic value that tends to build up what the cough tears down. Only Piso's supplies these, five vital effects and it contains no opiates and does not upset the stomach. Safe to give, even to babies. All druggists sell. Piso's in 35c and 60c sizes. Be sure you ask for "Piso's for Coughs."

DISCOVERY — IS THE FIRST IMPORTANT STEP

SINCE the dawn of creation discovery has been an outstanding factor in the development and continuance of human life and happiness. And it is of even greater value today, especially in the preservation of good health. For health authorities declare that discovery and early treatment are the first and most important steps in the prevention and control of dangerous communicable diseases.

This applies particularly to syphilis and gonorrhea—both dangerous communicable diseases and capable of causing serious damage to almost every part of the body—including the eyes, brain, heart, muscles and nerves. Gonorrhea is ranked as one of the most prevalent of all diseases—syphilis as the greatest killing disease. No one is immune from infection. Even little children are often innocent victims.

Serious as they are these diseases can be cured if discovered and properly treated in time. Medical science through years of research and study has provided, not only efficient treatment but accurate tests to aid in the diagnosis of either infection. Most important of the latter are the blood tests for syphilis.

Since the discovery of these tests physicians have been able to determine the presence of syphilis when other signs have disappeared—and often when the patient has no knowledge of its presence. For this reason every complete and thorough medical examination should include these tests. A little blood taken from the patient's arm is all that's required to make the tests.

Fortified with these discoveries health authorities have been waging a winning fight against social diseases. Every year increasing numbers of men, women and children are being restored to health and happiness. These numbers will increase more rapidly as individuals can be made to realize the serious consequences which may result from these infections. Infected persons and those who have been exposed to infection should seek experienced medical attention at once.

Good medical treatment for either gonorrhea or syphilis, including Wassermann and Kahn blood and other necessary laboratory tests, can be secured within your means from an experienced family physician, or from the Public Health Institute. Treatment also is available through the Institute and many free clinics for those without funds.

The Public Health Institute was organized more than ten years ago to combat "social diseases" (syphilis and gonorrhea) in Chicago. Every facility necessary for competent and reliable medical service is provided. Members of its medical staff are experienced and are registered by the State. All treatment and advice are given by these men and women physicians.

The fees are within the reach of all. The first examination is only $3.00, and includes Wassermann and Kahn blood and other laboratory tests. Six consecutive treatments in the Urological or Gynecological Departments for $4.00. Examination and treatment are available to those without immediate funds. No one is turned away because of inability to pay.

More details of this subject will be found in Leaflets Nos. 1 and 2 sent free in plain envelope on request.

Announcement . . . This advertisement has been submitted to and been approved by the Medical Advisory Board which has been formed at the invitation of the Trustees. It is published by a health agency established for public service to inform the public of the dangers of "social diseases," of the importance of securing good medical care, and the facilities whereby this can be obtained.

BRITISH LORD IS BANKRUPT; HAS $2,000,000 DEBT

Marquess of Winchester Crashes in Hatry Failure

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 10.—Henry William Montagu Paulet, sixteenth marquess of Winchester, submitted to a public examination in the bankruptcy court today and admitted that he has not enough assets to settle the claims of his creditors. The claims exceed $2,000,000. He is now living on his wife's income after having drawn salaries at one time amounting to $75,000 annually while associated with Clarence Hatry's promotions.

Lord Winchester, a descendant of a fellow invader of William the Conqueror, and a member of one of the oldest families in England, has exactly $5,125 in assets, and this is absorbed in preferential claims. All of his property in England has been mortgaged or sold, and money lenders are clamoring for $100,000 which they loaned the marquess after the banks had refused further advances.

Tells of His Decline.

The marquess sat in the witness box and told of his succession to the title at the death of his brother in the Boer war, of the post-war hard times suffered by the nobility, when he sold his ancestral estates and drew a small income from the principal. He was offered a directorship in Hatry's fraudulent concerns in 1926 and received high salaries until he resigned because he "did not agree with the methods of business."

When the receiver suggested that $75,000 annually was insufficient for his needs, the marquess replied:

Has No Income.

Questioned as to whether he had an income now, he replied:

"None at all."

Since he was held accountable for some of the fake Hatry stocks, he was forced to speculate to meet the payments to receivers of his estates, he said. Then his affairs collapsed with market reverses. Since then he has resided in his wife's château in France.

The testimony was concluded with an order that the marquess make a cash statement to the court.

'LAWRENCE OF ARABIA,' BRITISH ADVENTURER, SAVES FLYERS IN CRASH

PLYMOUTH, England, Feb. 10.—(AP)—The world famous, romantic figure of "Lawrence of Arabia" has been carefully concealed in the uniform of plain "Aircraftsman Shaw," but this apparently obscure member of Great Britain's armed forces keeps on turning up. Today he testified at an official inquiry into the death of nine aviators in the crash of a giant seaplane here last week, but officials would say nothing about his testimony.

THOMAS EDWARD SHAW.

What little leaked out, however, showed that the one time Col. Thomas Edward Shaw by deedpoll, played a heroic part in rescuing the flyers who were saved.

Col. Lawrence achieved world fame for his exploits in Arabia before he was forty. Then he suddenly decided to seek utter seclusion, instead of accepting wealth and position, and had his name legally changed, tossed away his commission, and had himself assigned as an enlisted man at the Mount Batten air station here.

And here he stayed, though rumors had him engaging in mysterious adventures through various parts of the empire, most recently on some strange mission to India. Air ministry officials said the knowledge he had testified would at least spike the Indian rumor.

WOMEN PACK JAPANESE DIET; "LET US VOTE!"

Equal Rights Bill Read in Lower House.

TOKIO, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Women had their inning in the Japanese diet today. The occasion was the initial appearance of the government's women's civil rights bill, which virtually grants equal rights with men in administration of villages, towns, and cities to 15,500,000 female subjects.

The bill was explained by Kenzo Adachi, home minister, to one of the largest crowds of women in the history of the Japanese parliament. The women jammed the visitors' gallery of the lower house.

Due to repeated delays of other business, the bill was not reached until evening, but the women, with kimono sleeves rolled up as if they meant business, held their ground intact, full of anticipation for a skirmish.

Beginning of New Era.

Only a few left their seats long enough for lunch. It was the beginning of a new era in the women's struggle for suffrage which had been waged for twelve years, undeterred by earthquakes, fires, business depression and other troubles.

The women's citizenship bill would enfranchise all women of 25, also qualify them for election to municipal assemblies and honorary posts of mayor, with the provision in the latter case that husbands give consent.

Observers predicted passage was virtually assured in the lower house owing to the majority of the government party and the acquiescence in principle of the Seiyukai, chief opposition party. The Seiyukai party was prepared to go even further than the Hamaguchi government, both parties vying to gain credit for giving the vote to women.

Fate Lies in House of Peers.

The fate of the bill lies with the house of peers, whose action is considered more doubtful.

Women's organizations are divided in their attitude. Several, although frankly dissatisfied with the bill, are supporting it on the contention that "half a loaf is better than none."

Other organizations, led by the Proletarian Women's league and the Social Democratic Women's league, absolutely oppose the measure and demand the same footing with men, who vote at twenty, in the house of representatives and prefectural assemblies.

REPORT CHINA TO CREATE AND RUN OPIUM MONOPOLY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Feb. 10. — Chinese papers today published a report alleging that the Chinese government is contemplating the creation of an opium monopoly, by which the government would control the production and marketing of the drug as a means to "gradually eliminating" it.

The report said the government recently sent a commission to Formosa to investigate the Japanese opium monopoly. The Chinese are said to be planning to imitate the Japanese scheme. The chief promoter of the official opium monopoly scheme is Dr. Wu Lien-teh, noted Chinese plague prevention and quarantine specialist. He is a graduate of Cambridge, and has frequently participated in medical conferences in America and Europe.

Dr. Wu alleges that the annual opium revenue in China amounts to between $25,000,000 and $50,000,000 annually, none of which reaches the government treasury, but goes into the pockets of corrupt officials. The result, Dr. Wu says, is wide-spread corruption, inefficiency and suppression measures, and he suggests that the government engage in the business as a means to its gradual suppression. He urges that the government use part of the revenue to create hospitals to cure adicts.

Announcement of Dr. Wu's scheme has aroused a storm of opposition in American missionary circles.

The missionaries claim that the eradication of opium in China would ultimately force the European colonies to abolish their opium monopolies, but in event China embarks on a monopoly system it would perpetuate the evil, due to the government's disinclination to relinquish the resulting revenues.

Cashier on Way to Prison 4 Hours After Bank Fails

Bedford, Ind., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Three hours after the Oolitic State bank at Oolitic, north of here, failed to open today, Frank Rariden, 44, the bank cashier, was en route to state prison. Rariden posted a notice the bank was closed. He then surrendered to the county sheriff here, saying he had manipulated the bank's books for three years to obtain $30,000, which he spent on pleasure. He was immediately sentenced to two to fourteen years in state prison. Rariden separated from his wife several years ago.

MASTER BREWERS SEE SHORTAGE OF BREWING BARLEY

The Master Brewers' association of the United States, unmindful so far as its discussions went of prohibition, deplored the encouragement of growing beardless, or non-brewing, strains of barley at its annual dinner at the Germania club last night.

Marcus Maegerlein, Chicago, president of the national body declared that agronomists, particularly in Michigan and Wisconsin were recommending the planting of beardless or feed barley because of its greater acreage yield. He said the agronomists, together with the United States department of agriculture, failed to take into consideration the higher price obtained by farmers for bearded barley, which is suitable for brewing, and that failure to grow this type of grain would result in increased importations from Canada.

The Canadian government is awake to the demand for bearded barley among brewers and is encouraging its growth, Mr. Maegerlein said, and already large quantities of malt syrups are being imported from Canada. About 350 brew masters attended the convention, and the barley problem was discussed by the technical committee.

Breaks Up a Cold In a Jiffy

Feel Like a New Person Almost Before You Know It

Take two tablets now.

Better almost before you know it.

If you want quick relief from a cold, go back to first principles and use something you know does the business—don't start "trying" a lot of fancy ideas or remedies. Even a "little" cold is too dangerous to take chances on.

Get Hill's Cascara Quinine. A scientific formula made to do ONE THING WELL: to knock a cold in a jiffy, not to cure a hundred different things.

Take two tablets now. Then follow direction on box. Drink lots of water, too—that's all. Soon those mean, aching pains in head and body begin to go; the cold breaks up; poisons leave your system. Almost before you know it, you feel like a new person.

If it doesn't do that, your money back. Get a box now. You'll be surprised at the speed with which it works. Costs only a few cents.

THE LONG LOOP

BY B. M. BOWER

SYNOPSIS.

Dixon Larrabee, head of the Whistling Creek ranch, was swindled in an oil well frame-up by Owen Gray, neighboring rancher and banker. Everything he owned, except the home ranch, was mortgaged. Dix, an orphan, keeps from his grandmother and his young brother, Chuck, the true state of affairs. Gram has her heart set on seeing Chuck a doctor. Chuck has expensive tastes and his indulgent older brother has a hard task paying for his college tuition and material demands.

Mart McGuire tempts Dix with the idea of changing the brand of the cattle from Gray's O T ranch to a coffeepot, symbol of Dix's own.

Tom, an Indian helper, discovers a lost valley with a geyser on the Coffeepot ranch. Only one passage leads to it, through what is seemingly a blank cliff wall. It is an ideal hideout for cattle.

With vague misgivings Dix begins rustling from Gray's herd, hiding the stolen cattle in Lost valley. A blizzard obliterates all traces of the crime. After a second foray Dix was ready to call quits, but Mart and Tom continued night riding on their own. Dix's profits mounted steadily after every shipping.

Chuck and a flyer friend named Frosty arrive at the ranch. Chuck confesses to Dix that he has given up a medical career for aviation. He and Frosty plan to build secretly a competitive plane for a prize. A shed built against the crevice hiding the entrance to Lost valley seems to them the ideal place for their work.

Owen Gray's aunt and cousin Helen visit the O T ranch. Helen knew Chuck in Baltimore. From what Owen tells her, Helen guesses the true situation involving Dix. Helen and her friend, Josephine Parker, drive over to call on Larry, their nickname for Chuck. When she meets Dix it's a case of love at first sight, but Dix believes she is Chuck's girl and avoids her. Chuck gives a big party at the ranch, and Helen and Jo stay till the next day.

UNCONSCIENTIOUS INVESTIGATION.

Helen was in no hurry. While Dix lay in the shade of a juniper tree with his hat over his face and two bold young field mice playing tag over his long legs, Helen and Jo rested in Dix's room. At least Jo rested, sprawled in the middle of the bed with her flushed face half hidden by her mop of fine yellow hair. Helen, through the whole of that forenoon, found other things to occupy her time and her attention.

Helen discovered that a large safety pin and a hairpin may be made to perform wonders on the lock of an old fashioned roll-top desk. She also discovered that a man may ride bucking horses like a belt winner and dance like a college man and yet have no sense whatever about a little trick in office work. Helen had simply no conscience that forenoon and no more sense of honor than a common burglar. She read letters from Chuck to Dix and she thumbed packages of canceled checks and scanned monthly bank statements. She did sums in addition and subtraction. She rummaged in the back compartment of a drawer and found a large envelope stuffed with green-bordered stock certificates with an oil rig and a storage tank and a string of trucks neatly pictured within a green scroll at the top, and Graypoint Oil, Inc., in embossed lettering just below. For a time she studied the picture, apparently making some effort to identify that prosperous scene with the lone skeleton standing gaunt upon the prairie over there to the west, bleakly guarding the dry hole it straddled.

But she couldn't see any resemblance between the Graypoint oil well and the picture on their stock certificates, so she sharpened a pencil and jotted down the serial numbers and the number of shares. "Not so hot," she said once under her breath when she had proved her sum of addition. "I wonder what they stuck him for per share!" To find out she dug out Dix's old check books and went over the stubs, and got a headache trying to master Dix's original idea of keeping accounts. But her dad had taught her a good many practical short cuts to information, so she managed to learn pretty nearly as much as she wanted to know, without having to spend the day at it. The one thing she failed to discover was Dix's own secret tally book, which she did not even suspect existed.

So she didn't, after all, know quite as much as Dix knew about his own private business, but she did know more than he dreamed any one knew about himself.

So when she and Jo were speeded back to the O T ranch that night, Jo and Frosty huddled under a blanket in the rumble seat, one yellow lock of hair whipping in the wind of their swift flight, Helen was in a position to tell Cousin Owen a good deal which he was anxious to hear. She obligingly told him a good deal, too, in her own fashion.

"Well, you just about ran up a board bill over at the Larrabee ranch, kid. What did you find out?"

"Well, what, for instance?"

"Well, I found out how to sing the Omaha. Minny Rainy-Day taught me. She said she taught it to Dix and Larry when they were little bitsy kids and she carried them around on her back like they carry papooses. Can you imagine Larry laced into one of those mummy baskets with just his head and his two fists sticking out?"

"And singing the Omaha, I suppose," Owen made sarcastic addition to the picture. "What about the rustling? Get any line on my beef cattle?"

"No, dear heart, they had deviled ham mostly. Some egg sandwiches——"

"Quit kidding. On the level, what's your opinion of Dix? You pay any attention to him at all?"

"And how!" murmured Helen. "I was a knockout there—a wow—not wanting to boast."

"What did that get you?" Owen was regarding her skeptically. "I mean information."

"Well, of course, you didn't expect Dix to explain all his rustler technique right there at a party the like of that party. But I do think I made a beginning. I'm hoping he'll reveal his guilty past next Thursday, when we promised to go over again. They're working on a landing field now, and when it's all marked off and smoothed and all, the boys are going to bring us a plane from St. Louis."

"Plane? What the heck for?"

"Why, honey, you look as if it was coming out of your pocket! You aren't by any chance a bit Scottish, are you?"

"I am where that outfit is concerned. They've had their hooks into me pretty deep, you know. The more they spend the more they steal. Come out of my pockets? I'll say it does!"

"Well, but you have a two-way pocket, then. You must have, or things couldn't keep coming out. A perfectly huge amount must go in from time to time. For your oil well, as a concrete example. I made friends with Gram and she told me all she knew, or surmised, about Dix's unlucky investment. She says it runs in the family. His father got in with your father on some big irrigation scheme that didn't pan out——"

"That's all poppycock, Helen! Dad acted in good faith, just as much as I did with Graypoint Oil——"

"I haven't the slightest doubt of that, Owen. Don't be silly. I'm just telling you what she said. Dad always hammered it into me that you never can find out the truth about a thing unless you get both sides of the story. So it seemed to me rather important that first I should know something of the Larrabee viewpoint. Their mental reactions——"

"O, horse collar! What I want to know is the reactions of their running iron. They've got some system that beats me, so far. Did you find out wiether they are running some other brand under a dummy name—something they can work the O T into? Or something like that? Dix has got a system, I tell you. If I could once get next to that, I'd have him where I want him. Couldn't you find out if they're running any cattle except the Coffeepots?"

"Well, Gram did tell me about her husband, the original Larrabee over there, who first ran his cattle under the Quarter-Circle Bar. But then, she said, your father finally moved in with the O T, and in the course of time the Larrabee brand was changed to something not quite so—er—plastic, shall I say? She went on to say——"

"That old hag told you that?" Owen got up and walked around with his hands deep in his trousers pockets, and kicked small rocks into the weeds. "Why, the old hell cat! I oughta go over there right now and——"

"Burn their haystacks or som'p'n?" Helen gazed up interestedly into his purpled face. "Then they'd probably come over and set fire to your house, and then you'd start shooting on sight, and get in the papers and everything."

"Accused my father of rustling, did she? It's a damned lie on the face of it. I'll have her jailed for——"

"What? And, of course, you know you've accused them, so——"

"Did you tell her that?" Owen swung on her almost fiercely. "If you went and spilled the beans to that old——"

"No names, please, Owen. I did not spill a single bean, if that's worrying you. And she's quite a remarkable old lady when you get to know her. I think she's sweet. And if you are going to get excited just because I try to tell you what little I found out, I'm afraid I can't be much help to you."

Lincoln Cabin Draws Few to His Birthplace

Big Dinner Is Planned at Louisville.

Hodgenville, Ky., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Only the passing tourists and not the townsfolk gather on Lincoln's birthday at the cabin where he was born.

Hodgenville observes the day reverently, but with no formal rites at the log cabin near here, and on Thursday, the 122d anniversary of his birth, the Lincoln Ladies' league will give its annual dinner in the town library. It will be similar to other Lincoln day programs in small towns around the country.

At the great granite hall that incloses the Lincoln cabin caretakers expect more tourists than usual, but rarely do public men of state or national fame come to it on Feb. 12.

In Louisville, metropolis of the Blue Grass state, Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, Gov. Sampson, and other Republican leaders will address a large dinner party in honor of Lincoln, tell of his fame and of what he meant to their party.

Here the townsfolk will gather as the town's banker and Rotary club president, O. M. Mather, tells of the early history of the Lincoln family.

"I think I'll talk mostly about Lincoln's father, Tom Lincoln," Mr. Mather said today. "We've been looking into the records and have found he was a much better citizen than he's been given credit for. I intend to bring out in my talk some of the data that have been collected recently bearing on Tom Lincoln's reputation. An old merchant's account book has shown Tom Lincoln was a good buyer of merchandise and that his credit was excellent."

Mr. Mather said it was unnecessary for him to attempt any rebuttal of Edgar Lee Masters' recent book on Lincoln. He hadn't even read the review of it and doubted if anybody else here had.

Hodgenville, an agricultural community of some 1,100 souls, was only a cross roads known as Hodgen's Mill when Lincoln was born. The Lincoln cabin, two and a half miles from here, has been restored and protected by the memorial hall. The Lincoln farm is a national park and every effort has been made to keep the place, even to the old rail fence and the spring, as much like it was 122 years ago as possible.

Indiana Historian Disputes Claims of Hodgenville, Ky.

Lincoln's birthday activities at the Chicago Historical society on Thursday will be climaxed with an address by Dr. Louis A. Warren of Fort Wayne, Ind., historian, who contends that the birthplace of the Emancipator is more accurately placed in the extinct town of Burlington, Ky., than at Hodgenville. Dr. Warren will talk at 8:15 o'clock, on the topic, "Sounding the Fathomless Lincoln."

Open house will be kept on the anniversary at the Historical society, according to the annual custom. In the Lincoln room will be on view the bed on which he died, furniture from the old home in Springfield, the desk and chair used by him as a young man studying law in Vandalia, the coat he wore on the fatal night at Ford's theater, his favorite shawl and numerous other articles and documents.

Motion pictures of episodes in Lincoln's life will be shown in a special Lincoln program for children at the Field museum at 10 o'clock and at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning. Admission will be free to the entertainment, which is presented under the auspices of the James Nelson and Anna Louise Raymond foundation. "My Father," "Abe's First Law Case," and "The Call to Arms," will be the films shown.

Homeless men housed in the North Central temporary shelter on the extreme lower level of Wacker drive will enjoy a Lincoln birthday dinner at 6 o'clock tomorrow evening, to be followed by an entertainment by radio and theatrical folk. Guests for the occasion will include Capt. Loren F. Corliss of the governor's commission on unemployment and relief; J. F. Cornelius, of Kiwanis international; Oscar G. Mayer, director of the North Central association, and Fred W. Allen, president of the North Central Kiwanis.

Jane Addams Sponsors Charity Dance Tonight

The Jane Addams Juniors' auxiliary of the Hull House Woman's club are giving a formal charity ball tonight in the Lincoln room of the Edgewater Beach hotel. The dance will be sponsored by Miss Jane Addams and the proceeds are to be used for philanthropic work.

Greek Red Cross Sends Two Tons of Currants to Arkansas

The international friendship among the membership of the Junior Red Cross was expressed in the arrival here yesterday of two tons of currants sent by the Junior Red Cross of Greece to be distributed to the drought stricken area. The currants will be used to provide iron as a supplement to the hot luncheons being served by the Red Cross in schools in the drought area.

More than 280 tons of food are being purchased, the Chicago chapter said yesterday, each day in Arkansas from merchants on orders issued by the Red Cross. The local buying is being done to help small storekeepers, practically all of whom have been granting credit for months to victims of the drought. Among the staples are flour, meal, lard, salt, beans, rice, molasses, coffee, sugar, baking powder, canned tomatoes, and soup.

A meeting of the advisory committee in charge of the Chicago campaign will meet tomorrow in the offices of Samuel Insull, chairman, to make plans for securing the balance due on Chicago's quota. Chicago has given to date $555,000 toward its $940,000 quota to the national Red Cross drought relief fund.

Shellsburg, Ia., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Skating ability of a man 81 years old, with skates 76 years old, attracted many persons to the Cedar river. They watched him cut his name, and outdistance skaters many years younger. The skater is George Clemmons, cousin of Samuel Clemens [Mark Twain]. Skating is his favorite winter sport and rarely a day passes when the ice is thick enough that he is not out on it. Clemmons, born in Ironton, O., was a drummer boy in the civil war. He knew Mark Twain well.

Women Blame Dry Law for Bigotry, Crime

Mrs. Sabin Raps Drinkers Who Vote Aridly.

New York, Feb. 10.—[Special.]—The federal prohibition law, "written for weaklings and derelicts, those who cannot control their appetites, has divided the nation, like Gaul, into three parts—wets, drys and hypocrites," said Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, chairman of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, tonight at a dinner of the Brooklyn unit of the organization.

"I, personally, have seen members of the state legislature, members of congress, district attorneys, judges and cabinet officers break their oath of office," Mrs. Sabin declared. "I have seen such men at conventions, on the committee on platform and resolutions, advocate planks for the stricter enforcement of the prohibition law, and within a few hours take a drink."

Both Mrs. Sabin and Mrs. John S. Sheppard, state chairman of the organization, declared there was increased drunkenness among the young people of the nation as one of the worst effects of prohibition. They pointed out that their organization, only two years old, has "in several states a far larger membership than has the Women's Christian Temperance union, which has been organized in these same states over 57 years." They also told of the continued rallying to their banner of "outstanding women of every type."

Mrs. Sabin quoted the statement of Mrs. Ella Boole, head of the W. C. T. U., that "the nineteenth [women's suffrage] amendment will safeguard the eighteenth amendment." Mrs. Sabin declared:

"I hereby challenge Mrs. Boole's statement and in turn state that the nineteenth amendment will, in the end, be largely responsible for some change in the prohibition law which will restore to our country liberty, honesty, temperance, sobriety and sanity, to replace the present era of intemperance, intolerance, corruption and hypocrisy."

"Our coast guard," Mrs. Sabin told the guests, "is the sixth largest fleet in the world. That may be difficult to explain at the next naval disarmament conference. It may be embarrassing for our representatives to have to state that this fleet is due to an effort to make the American people good."

Foreign Specialist Tells Chicagoans of Efforts in Purifying Tuberculin

Prof. Franz von Groer, director of pediatrics of the University of Lemberg, Poland, told physicians at the University of Illinois college of medicine yesterday of his experimental progress in the removal of toxins from tuberculin. Dr. von Groer is here to conduct a six weeks' program of clinics and lectures under the auspices of the Chicago Tuberculosis institute.

Dr. von Groer declared his work to be purely experimental, but said he had made definite progress toward detoxinizing tuberculin. In some cases, he said, there have been "marvelous results" from use of the new tuberculin as a specific treatment for tuberculosis, although positive statements will probably not be made for years.

The scientist also described a "remarkable inhibition test" developed by Dr. Skibinski, a young colleague who, given a case of tuberculosis, can determine accurately what the course of the disease will be in the individual affected. A similar prognostic aid known as the skin pigmentation test was introduced several years ago by Prof. von Groer and called the von Groer test. He reserved an opinion, however, on the use of the "B. C. G.", immunization developed by Calmette of Paris, believing that "this vaccine has yet to prove its value and advisibility in prevention of tuberculosis."

Dr. von Groer reviewed the contribution of Robert Koch, a German physician, to the treatment of tuberculosis in his discovery in 1882 of the tubercule bacillus and his development ten years later of tuberculin, derived from a medium on which the tuberculosis germs have been cultivated, then filtered out. Experiments indicated, Dr. von Groer said, that it had a therapeutic value. The failure of tuberculin in that field is said to have hastened Dr. Koch's death though it was found to be valuable as a diagnostic aid.

Schools Will Celebrate on Washington's Birthday

Preparations to observe Washington's birthday are going forward in the schools and among civic organizations. Nearly all schools will hold special programs. Under the auspices of the Union League club two contests are being conducted among the schools, one an oratorical competition in which finals will be held Feb. 21 at the clubhouse, the other, to be concluded at the same time, having as its object the best poster portraying some angle of Washington's life or principles.

Pasley Book Hits Snag.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 10.—Fred Pasley's book, "Al Capone," is being barred by several of the leading London circulating libraries because the subject matter is considered objectionable.

THE STAGE

WALTER HAMPDEN, the actor-manager who has stood on the sidelines of the theatrical business this season, has decided to return to the stage. He has accepted an engagement to play the title rôle in a revival of Barrie's "The Admirable Crichton," which will be produced at the New Amsterdam theater, New York, by George C. Tyler and the Erlanger firm early next month. He will have the character originated by William Gillette twenty-seven years ago.

Fay Bainter will be associated with Mr. Hampden as co-star, in the rôle of Lady Mary. It is likely that Elsie Ferguson and Hubert Druce will also appear in the revival, which sounds as if it might become one of the "all-star" affairs for which Mr. Tyler is noted.

"Death Takes a Holiday" will return to New York next Monday night for a postscript engagement. After a few weeks, however, Philip Merivale, its star, will begin rehearsals of Sir Arthur Wing Pinero's latest play, "Dr. Harmer's Holiday." This work figured in the pre-season announcements of the Dramatic League of Chicago. Its production has been delayed by the popularity of "Death Takes a Holiday" on tour.

When "Flying High" comes to the Grand Opera house Feb. 22 its cast will contain Bert Lahr and Oscar Shaw as featured comedians, Grace Brinkley, Ross Brown, Pearl Osgood, Alyce Morley, Henry Whittemore, Frank Manatt, Diana Seaby, Bob Lively, and the Gale sisters—the latter being a team of dancers who are alleged to be quadruplets. "Flying High" is a musical comedy which George White has staged on a scale that recalls his "Scandals" revues.

The reports that Ina Claire would return to the stage seem to have been premature. The comedienne will pass through Chicago today, bound for Hollywood with a five year contract, signed by Samuel Goldwyn, in her suitcase.

A. A. Milne's latest play, "Success," will have its first American acting March 4, at Charles Hopkins' theater, New York. Mr. Hopkins is the manager who did so well with Mr. Milne's "Michael and Mary," recently presented at the Harris theater by the Dramatic league. As interpreters of "Success" he has engaged Louis Calhern, Sylvia Field, Edward Crandall, Ernest Lawford, Hugh Miller, Gladys Hanson and Hugh Sinclair.

"My Maryland," the operetta easily recalled from its run at the Great Northern theater two seasons ago, has been added to the imposing list of early spring revivals. The Shuberts will launch it for a tour, beginning in Philadelphia next week. The prima donna rôle, originated by Evelyn Herbert, will be sung by Ruth Urban. Others in the company are Alexander Callum, Frank Lalor, Betty Byrton, Harold Conkling, Maude Odell, Louis Cassavant and Arthur Cunningham.

Burton Holmes will begin his annual season of travel recitals in Orchestra hall tonight, with "Rejuvenated Rome" as his theme. He is now serving his thirty-eighth year as America's favorite Marco Polo.

Mary Garden Introduces Herself to Rockefeller Sr.

Ormond Beach, Fla., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Mary Garden met John D. Rockefeller Sr. today. Dressed in red and wrapped in a sable coat, the singer stepped from her car and, seeing Mr. Rockefeller standing with a group of friends, rushed toward him with extended hands, and then, without waiting for a formal introduction, expressed unbounded pleasure for the opportunity of meeting so great a character.

Mr. Rockefeller told her how much he had been looking forward to hearing her sing tonight over at Daytona Beach, saying, "Anything you sing I shall enjoy."

Mr. Rockefeller then presented a new dime to Miss Garden, who said she would fasten it to her watch chain and carry it always.

Italy Proposes Subsidy for Nations' Movie Producers

ROME, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Government subsidies for Italian moving pictures are provided by the terms of a decree made public after a meeting of the cabinet today. Parliament will be asked to approve it.

The subsidies intended to strengthen Italian producers in their fight against foreign pictures, especially those from America, will date from Jan. 1, 1931, and will vary according to the success of the films as testified by the attendance.

Foreign sound films already are finding difficulty here as the Italian market is limited. Producers often find it too expensive to remake films, using the Italian language.

Predicts U. S. of 175,000,000 People in 1970

Dr. W. F. Ogburn Tells of Hoover Survey.

The American scene is being analyzed for "a factual report on the trend of American civilization to see what can be done about it." The work was started more than a year ago when President Hoover commissioned six leaders in the social sciences to prepare such a study. The work will continue nearly two years longer.

Dr. William F. Ogburn of the University of Chicago, president of the American Statistical association, who is devoting his entire time to the work, described it last night before the Chicago chapter of the statistical association at the Auditorium hotel.

Dr. Ogburn said the population of the United States probably would become stable at about 175,000,000 by approximately 1970.

The changing family, women in business and industry, the altering relationships between rural and urban communities, will all have their effect in bringing that about, Dr. Ogburn said.

"Birth control and the decreasing birth rate will influence the ultimate population greatly," he said. "The birth rate still is going down, but it must stop somewhere. Possibly babies will be supplied according to the laws of supply and demand which control the amounts of other products, such as potatoes.

"I myself have thought that nothing less than a revolution is taking place with regard to our women and children. Society may come around to the point where it eventually will appreciate them more.

"Most of the functions of the home have passed over into the hands of industry and the government, leaving only the rudimentary educational functions to the home."

The number of separations of married people is increasing, Dr. Ogburn said, and there are as many such as there are those who are widowed.

Children are coming into families where the parents are older than formerly; the average age of Americans is going up. Yet 25 per cent of the women between the ages of forty and forty-five have no children, and another 25 per cent have only one child.

For the purposes of the survey, every element in American civilization is being studied: Education, religion, art, labor, the city, the farms, the small town, natural resources, ethnic groups, transportation and communication, social attitudes, the growth and expansion of governmental functions.

"Some of the intelligentsia around the universities seem to think that religion is a declining force, but if you move out among the people a little you will find that it is very powerful and effective," Dr. Ogburn said.

The members of the commission are: Chairman, Wesley C. Mitchell, director of the national bureau of economic research; vice chairman, Prof. Charles E. Merriam of the University of Chicago; Shelby M. Harrison of the Russell Sage Foundation, Prof. Howard W. Odum of the University of North Carolina, Dr. Alice Hunt, and Dr. Ogburn.

E. E. Hunt, member of the world economic conference of 1927, who is executive director of the field work, with thirty full time assistants, is attacking twenty-eight projects.

King and Queen Back in London for Little Season

LONDON, Feb. 10.—(AP)—The king and queen returned today from Sandringham. There they have been staying since Christmas, preparatory to the opening next week of London's "little season" during which both have a number of engagements. On Feb. 24 at Buckingham palace there will be the first full dress function, followed by a private investiture two days later. The king will hold two levees at St. James's palace and their majesties are expected to visit the Persian art exhibit at Burlington house.

Single Woman, 41, Disrupts Home of the Mother of Six

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"What is your opinion of a single woman, 41, who knowingly and deliberately encourages a married man with six children?

"I am the mother of eight. Six children are living, and I am 16 years of age. My husband confesses to me that he has had an affair with this woman, but he will not tell me where she lives, so this is the only way I have of telling her what I think of her.

"Does she realize what she is doing? Taking the father away from six children? It seems terrible, after 18 years of spending one's life with a man, giving him the best that is in you, and six grand children into the bargain, to have him tell you he has had another woman. But he tells me now that he realizes he loves the children and me better than he does her.

"Am I to believe him and give him another chance, for my children's sake? You have to swallow a lot for children. I'm not bowed down nor broken, as large family opponents might suspect. I look young and feel it. Of course I have nothing but sympathy for this woman, while I ought to hate her. To think she went all through her life and then had to fall for a married man!

"Well, if she can prove that she loves him more than I do, I'll step aside and leave the road clear, as I have six precious kids and can get along without the father of them, if need be. H. H."

Wasn't your problem solved with the man's admission that you were the one and only and your admission that you love him more than the other woman can? Anyway, that's where you might have written "finis" to the drama. Now, don't go harping on the incident. Or keep harping on it. Call it closed.

You must feel pretty safe in your own heart, to be able to sympathize with the other woman. Feel sorry for her—for it is a sad, as well as a ridiculous sight for a single woman at 41 to have to look to a much, much married man for a love interest. You have her "licked" eight ways if you'd only look the triumph squarely in the face. In your heart, one; in the six small hearts, and in the man, if you'll now take him on again.

Don't spend any time or get any gray hairs worrying about the whys and wherefores of male conduct. The best of 'em sometimes are just beyond woman calculation. Anyway, let the other one, in her dull hours, suffer the penalty of having postponed romance too late for sane judgment.

Couturiers Sponsor Egyptian Silhouette

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—Hip draperies and Egyptian draperies are among the latest skirt treatments for dressy afternoon and evening frocks. Jean Patou likes this line which he interprets in different ways for all times of day. Martial et Armand and Paul Poiret are also among the creators who favor this silhouette, with the figure closely moulded and the fullness concentrated in the front of the skirt.

This silhouette, though at first it may seem extreme, is really easily adaptable to many women, for the hip drapery avoids too much emphasis on the sometimes absent waistline and the front fullness makes walking possible and lounging sinuous.

The afternoon frock from Callot Soeurs, sketched here, carries out the Egyptian idea in a most original manner. It's in brown self-figured georgette, a fabric, that is forecast to be popular in the spring. The sun-ray plaiting effect on the skirt is achieved by all-over tuckings. The skirt is all in one with the crossed hip girdle which fastens in back with a wooden motif.

Tuckings also ornament the front and back of the bolero while the sleeves and the plastron are left plain. Ruchings of the brown georgette edge the neck, sleeves, and the bolero hem as well as the skirt hem.

Let the Face Exposed by That Smart Hat Be a Beautiful One

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Some one was telling me, the other day, that the hats-off-the-face style has lent a good trade hand to the facial massage business. Good news, too. Anything that makes women become more conscious of the quality of their skin is a good thing.

But about the face—I've a notion that the result will be a great improvement in skin texture, all 'round. Just as the short skirts brought neglected legs and ankles into better shape,

If you've a line across the brow, or up, across, or down a cheek, the present hat style will shriek it. Lines around the eyes, too, are thrown into prominence as they never were with a kindly brim to shadow the face. So, the truth is that there can't be any more lines. If there are any there already, they must be ironed out.

Now, if you never massaged your face, you simply must do it. And every blessed night, too. If you can afford your professional massages, all right. But if that means only a once a week, or a once in two weeks ironing out, it isn't enough. You must vamp the face service with your own willing hands, creamed for action.

If you haven't any lines—yet—massage the face every night anyway. It may be enough for you to give it a greasing and such stroking as will stir up the circulation, and let it go at that. But if there are lines, you want a regular, good massage cream, a little of which you may leave on over night.

And if the face is getting on, as the nicest faces will, you'd better take to astringent properties, too. I don't advocate the use of astringents for the young skin. Only for that of women who are beginning to line or sag. Have some good professional tell you what sort of astringent you need for your particular quality and age of skin and use it with the massage treatment. There's always witch hazel, if you haven't any other astringent handy. It's good. And cold, cold water is the cheapest and one of the best known.

FARM and GARDEN BY PAUL POTTER

Practical gardening talks on a variety of horticultural subjects are featuring a series of lectures offered the public by the West Chicago park commission, the second of which will be this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the conservatory lecture room when R. T. Van Tress will discuss "Fragrant Shrubs for the Garden."

The first free lecture, presented yesterday by C. J. Hudson, was on the subject, "Ferns and Other Foliage Material as House Plans." Dates, subjects and speakers for the remainder of the lecture course include Feb. 13, "Forcing Dormant Twigs Into Bloom," illustrated by 50 variety specimens, Frank K. Balthis; Feb. 17, "Subsequent Treatment of Bulbous Materials After Forcing in the House," C. J. Hudson.

Other lectures for the month of February include one Feb. 18, "Beautifying the Home Grounds," illustrated with lantern slides, Mr. Balthis; Feb. 20, "Shrubs to Use as Specimen Plants," Mr. Van Tress; Feb. 24, "The Different Kinds of Rock Gardens," Mr. Hudson; Feb. 25, "Conifers and Broad Leaved Evergreens for Foundation Planting," Mr. Van Tress; Feb. 27, "Annuals and Perennials in the Home Garden," Mr. Balthis.

The program for March lists the following dates and subjects: March 3, "Flowers in the Garden All Summer and Their Uses," Mr. Hudson; March 4, "Hedge Plants for Specific Purposes," Mr. Van Tress; March 6, "Ironclad Plants for the Congested Chicago Garden," Mr. Balthis; March 10, "The Aquatic Garden," Mr. Hudson; March 11, "How to Order Plants from the Nursery Catalogue," Mr. Van Tress; March 13, "Vines as an Inexpensive Element of Beauty," illustrated with lantern slides, Mr. Balthis.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

RUTH B.: IF THE BLACKHEADS are not treated at once they will become infected and develop into pimples. Scrub your face with warm water and a pure soap, using a brush. Rinse with warm, then cold, water. If possible, finish off with an ice rub. It tones up the skin and helps to reduce large pores. My booklet on the skin may be had for a stamped addressed envelope.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

May Be Financial Holdback.

"Dear Miss Blake: My boy friend says he likes me. I go out with him three or four times a week, but he never takes me to a restaurant or to a show. Do you really think he likes me? DARLING."

He is an attentive young man and if he doesn't include shows and dinners in his program of amusements it may be that his circumstances do not permit it. This, you must consider, before offering a criticism.

Want to Look Young?

The secret of keeping young is to feel young. To do this you must watch your liver and bowels. There's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you 90 per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They help bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30, 60c.

Mrs. Campbell Gives Lecture; Stage Fright

BY THALIA

EVERYBODY was thrilled to death to see and hear Mrs. Patrick Campbell at the Arts club party yesterday afternoon, but the unanticipated excitement of the occasion was caused by some one swearing up and down that John Barrymore was present. Thereafter ensued much rushing up and down the halls and buzzing "Where is he?" It turned out that the gentleman in question was Mrs. Clarence Hough's guest, Mr. Stuart Bailey.

The galleries were "pack-jam-full" for Mrs. Campbell's talk on "Beautiful Speech and the Art of Acting," and lots of people had to listen from behind the stage. They had a better chance, anyway, to see her when —at the conclusion of her speech—she rushed behind the screen that served as a backdrop and exclaimed dramatically about her stage fright. So many of the audience tore back to see her there that up to a quarter to six she hadn't made any progress toward the tea table in the lounge.

There was a large representation present of the various ones who are interested in dramatics and the theater, and so we may expect the introduction of broad English a's and deep-toned rhythmic cadences in future local amateur theatricals. We shouldn't be afraid to say "exahmple" and "wuhd," though, according to Mrs. Campbell, because it is worth it. "To speak well," she concluded her talk, "in my country means risking being thought affected. In this country it means risking being thought an Anglomaniac."

Mrs. Pickett Withers to Have House Party in Florida.

Society news angles . . . Mrs. John Borden and the Laurance Armours are to depart on Thursday, the 19th, to visit Mrs. Pickett Withers, who is at Errol lodge, the Florida estate of her parents, the John T. Piries, for about ten days. . . . The Robert Piries are going down there soon for a stay, too. . . . Mr. and Mrs. John V. Farwell were aboard the Golden State last night, bound for Tucson, Ariz., and are to be away about 2 months . . . Young Mrs. Bill Burry has gone to Tucson to see her young son, Bunny, who has been there since fall . . . The Paul Schulzes Jr. will be on the way to Europe shortly. . . . The Fletcher Durbins are leaving this week to visit Mrs. Joseph B. Long at Palm Beach. [You can tell how busy Mrs. Long is socially from the Florida society news.]

Out Lake Forest way . . . Speaking of signs of spring, Mrs. J. Andrews King had the Lake Forest Garden club for a meeting at her house yesterday. [Mrs. King is president of the club now, and the Junior Garden club is no more, as it has been absorbed into the senior organization].

Did you hear . . . that the Charles G. Cushings are now in New York City, having postponed pulling up stakes here longer than they at first intended; that they're at the Hotel Pierre and had A. Perry Osborn of Roslyn, Long Island, as their guest last week-end . . . that Mrs. Sam Chase gets back on Friday from New York City after a visit with her daughters, Polly Chase Boyden, who is writing away for dear life, and Janet, who is studying some more art? [Mrs. Chase wrote another jingle for the White Elephant Rummage shop with lots of "ines" in it and ending with "And send a Valentine."]

News Concerning Chicagoans Going to, from West Indies.

Nassavian news . . . The Owen Barton Joneses arrived in the islands by Pan-American airways last Friday and are staying with Mrs. Jones' sister, Mrs. Leslie Higgs, before going to their own cottage at Green Cay. . . . The Jimmy Simpsons Jr. are at the New Colonial now, having gone to Nassau from Bermuda, the first destination on their wedding trip. . . . The Thomas Coynes of Kenilworth and the Paul Williamses of Winnetka are among recent arrivals, and they have chartered a fishing smack for some deep sea angling; the Coynes dined with the Paul Gardiners at their winter place one evening last week. . . . The Britton I. Budds flew down from Miami on Saturday to call on the Mitchell Follansbees.

They tell me . . . that in Lake Forest everybody's going in strong for wearing lounging pyjamas practically all the time, some of the more adventurous ladies even wearing them to the movies . . . that the board of the Drama League in general, and Mrs. Marvin Miner Jr., the president, in particular, are most grateful and appreciative for the things Mrs. Hayden Harris has done for the league since she's been vice president [she has been active in making many contacts and in getting loads of people interested in the league's activities] . . . that the Bennett school club is holding its first meeting of the year at 11 o'clock this morning at Jean Adams' house at 232 East Walton place [Miss Adams is president of the group of girls who went to Bennett, at Poughkeepsie].

Iturbis' Playing Growing Better, Critic Asserts

BY EDWARD MOORE.

WHEN José Iturbi appeared as piano soloist with the Chicago Symphony orchestra last season he played the Beethoven Concerto in G, the fourth of that set. When he returned yesterday he played the same work.

The incident is cited less as an example of Mr. Iturbi's economy in the matter of concertos than of development in his own artistic resources. Yesterday's performance was so much superior to last season's that it was necessary to go to the records to confirm the fact of the two performances. It is desirable to add that last season he played on the Friday-Saturday series, so that the audiences were not the same, and that when he returns for another Friday-Saturday appearance toward the end of March he will probably use another work, so the concertos will not be the same.

What he has gained is serenity and poise, and this with his instinctive and acquired musicianship made him a notable exponent of the way that Beethoven's music ought to be played. It was a performance full of fine feeling and sympathy, perhaps falling a bit short of the grand manner, which after all is not entirely necessary. It is as well to think of Beethoven in his aspect of hunam being as of heroic statue, and it was the humanity that Mr. Iturbi emphasized.

⊸

The program counted by numbers was brief, Dr. Stock began with Georg Schumann's "Liebesfruehling" Overture and continued with Bruckner's Ninth Symphony, a spacious work full of details, moving slowly toward its objective, but by the very lingering of its pace giving an opportunity to observe the musical landscape about. It is an excellent sedative in an age of automobiles and radio, a reminder that speed is not necessarily the best thing in life.

Whipping Still Goes on, Even in This Modern Day

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

"Dear Mrs. Bevans: Will you please give your opinion of the following:

"An 8 year old lad had broken his promise to his dad and played truant for a second time. The father had struck him only once before in his life. "While the boy's teacher was still at the house, the father told the boy to fetch his riding crop and stand against the wall with his hands above his head. The lad took it without a whimper or plea to be let off and then apologized to his father. He said his father had warned him and, therefore, was justified.

"But don't you wonder how a man who could rear a boy to be so obedient that he would get the whip he was to be punished with and stand as he was told to, could have continued without the use of corporal punishment?"

In the first place, the father who used his riding crop so freely was undoubtedly showing off before the teacher—for if he believed the punishment necessary he had no excuse for making a public performance of it. "See how obedient my son is to ME —just like a little slave—or an obedient little dog. See me strike him, now. Don't you admire me as a strong father? Watch me humiliate him, is what he tacitly said.

Food Talk.

Mrs. A. has asked us to discuss in this column the making of a chocolate icing for eclairs that will neither soften nor run off after it is on for an hour or so. And another question that we have been asked many times is how to make chocolate icing so that it will stay nice and shiny. The usual complaint is that too many times it grows dull and loses the esthetic appeal that an attractive rich chocolate brown color should have.

Icing runs off for two reasons. One is that there is too much liquid in the icing, and the other is that the food on which the icing is put is allowed to remain in an atmosphere that contains too much moisture.

Good chocolate fudge [cold] worked to a smooth consistency with cream or evaporated milk and just a tiny bit of egg yolk makes an icing of pleasing taste and appearance. Chocolate fudge of fine texture may be prepared just for cake icings. It should be kneaded into a soft plastic mass and stored in a jar with a tight fitting lid for a few weeks just as is fondant. It will not keep, however, in good condition as long as fondant because of the milk and butter.

Dipping chocolate of the sweet, vanilla, or milk variety that is melted carefully at a low temperature [directions are given on the package] makes a good appearing and fine flavored coating for eclairs, but the texture is hard or paraffin like and is not enjoyed by some people as much as a softer icing. [This is not the ordinary chocolate used in baking. Be sure to obtain "dipping" chocolate.]

A satisfactory icing for eclairs, I have found, is made of confectioners' sugar. It is a quick butter type of icing that also makes use of some egg yolk. The egg yolk gives an attractive shine and adds a pleasing texture to the icing. The influence of the egg yolk is as an emulsifier. Which means that it has the power to put fats and oils into an emulsified state. Chocolate itself is an emulsion, but is not a stable one. The egg yolk stabilizes the chocolate emulsion and when chocolate remains in a perfect emulsion it has a beautiful shine.

Here is a chocolate icing recipe that I can recommend for eclairs. And since some of our readers may also need a recipe for the eclairs, we are giving that, too. This icing is an excellent one for layer and cup cakes and cookies:

Heat water and butter to boiling point. Add flour all at once and stir vigorously until it leaves the sides of the pan. Remove from stove. Add eggs one at a time, beat thoroughly after the addition of each one. Force through pastry bag onto buttered baking sheet. Bake in a hot oven [400 degrees F. for 35 minutes].

1-3 cup bread flour.

Mix dry ingredients. Add scalded milk gradually and cook 15 minutes in the upper part of a double boiler, stirring constantly until mixture thickens, and then occasionally. Add eggs slightly beaten and cook 2 minutes longer. Cool. Add flavoring and fill into eclairs.

CHOCOLATE ICING.

Melt chocolate over hot water, add cream gradually, salt, egg yolk and butter. Stir in confectioners' sugar until of right consistency to spread. Spread on top of eclairs.

Meta Given will answer in this department questions that are of general interest from readers. Personal replies will be made by mail where stamped, self-addressed envelope is inclosed.

Bright Sayings of the Children

At a family dinner in a friend's home one evening, my 5 year old son broke a momentary silence and my peace of mind by a triumphant, "Look, mother! Now I told you it was all right to eat with my knife! Mr. Brown is doing it!"

And Mr. Brown was! M. M.

My 5 year old daughter, Maxine, was out playing. When she came in she said this little verse, which I thought was quite cute:

My nose is like a cherry,
My cheeks are like a rose,
My lips are like strawberries,

IN HOSPITALS...

Regular Kotex—45c for 12
Kotex Super-Size—65c for 12

WHEN you realize how individual a problem sanitary protection is, you appreciate the fact that Kotex is so made that you can adjust it to your changing needs.

That, of course, is only one of the advantages of Kotex. It is shaped to fit inconspicuously under any frock, no matter how close-fitting. It deodorizes—keeps one feeling dainty and immaculate at times when that is more than ever necessary. It is soft—not only at first, but during hours of use.

Why Kotex stays soft

Kotex owes its unique dependability and comfort to the fact that it absorbs laterally. The soft, delicate fibers of which it is made carry moisture rapidly away from the surface, leaving the pad soft and delicate, leaving the sides unpenetrated, which prevents chafing and irritation.

Kotex can be worn on either side with equal protection, with no possibility of embarrassment. Adjust it to meet changing requirements. It is made of Cellucotton (not cotton) absorbent wadding. Dispose of it quickly, easily. Buy it anywhere. Simply specify Kotex.

After 40, Bowel Trouble is Most Dangerous

CONSTIPATION may easily become chronic after forty. Continued constipation at that time of life is productive of piles—and a host of other disorders.

Watch your bowels at any age. Guard them with particular care after forty. When they need help, a doctor knows what is best.

"Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin," is a doctor's prescription for the bowels. Tested by 47 years' practice, it has been found thoroughly effective in relieving constipation and its ills for men, women and children of all ages. It has proven perfectly safe even for babies. Made from fresh laxative herbs, pure pepsin, and other mild, harmless ingredients, it cannot gripe; will not sicken you or weaken you; can be used without harm as often as your breath is bad, your tongue is coated; whenever a headachy, bilious, gassy condition warns of constipation.

Next time, take a spoonful of this family doctor's laxative. See how good it tastes; how gently and thoroughly it acts. All drugstores.

BULLETIN.

De Nef and Charlier early this morning went into a tie with Richili and Grimm and Linari and Belloni for the lead in the six day bicycle race. Richili and Grimm remain technical leaders on points.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Bravos, hollered from 17,000 throats, had an inspiring effect on the six day bicycle artists at the Chicago Stadium last night. Though the artists do not work on a percentage basis, they do love their bravos in wholesale lots. Last night's gathering was the largest that ever saw a bike race in Chicago and the largest that ever turned out on a Tuesday night at any race in America, and maybe the world—who can tell?

So many customers naturally provided a thunderous accompaniment to the acts of the performers, and the poor fellows lost all sense of restraint in their dizzy appreciation of the record amount of attention they were receiving.

Lead Bounces About.

One minute one applause hungry team would be in the lead, and before the patent announcer would get through vibrating there would be another set of leaders. But when midnight came Richili and Grimm, who had been bouncing in and out of the lead all evening, were back at the top of the heap, just as they had been at the opening of the evening's entertainment.

Instead of having five teams tying them in mileage, as was the case at supper time, Richili and Grimm had only one team with them on the top rung, namely, Linari and Belloni, who were there mostly because of the astute efforts of Linari.

Most of the racers who possess big followings popped into the lead or a tie for the lead during the course of the festivities. Even old Reggie McNamara and Charley Winter came up from ninth to a look in at the top berth, and for a while, Jimmy and Bobby Walthour led the race.

French Team Slips.

The only fellows who got bouquets—Lemaire and Guimbretiere—sank from first place at 8:50 o'clock to tenth place at midnight, but even so, they were only four laps behind the leaders and weren't bothered much except for a lame shoulder possessed by Guimbretiere.

WHITE SOX BUY SIMONS, WHO HIT .371 IN MINORS

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Some of Donie Bush's worries about his 1931 White Sox were removed yesterday. This happened when Louis Comiskey, club treasurer and the big boss in the absence of his father, consented to write a check that would bring about the removal of Outfielder Melbern Simons from the Louisville team to the pale hose roster.

ED WALSH JR.

Along with the check, the amount of which Treasurer Comiskey neglected to reveal, the Sox sent to the Colonels one outfielder and one pitcher. The former is Clarence Hoffman, who has been on the south side pay roll at various times in the last two years, and the latter is Ed Walsh Jr., son of an illustrious father. Both men were sent away with strings attached to their services so are almost certain to be back in the big show next fall.

Answers Bush's Prayer.

By taking a slice at the family bank roll, Louis Comiskey provided an answer to Bush's prayer for a fellow who might be worth while as a center field performer.

Simons is a well set up youth who once had a trial with the Senators. For the last two years he has been engaged in the Colonels' outfield and performed in such impressive manner that more than a few major scouts reported favorably on him. The Colonels, as usual, wanted too much money. Last season the kid rattled off hits at a .371 pace. He hit almost that well the season previous. If he can do within 40 points of .371 when he is put to work between Jolley and Reynolds, the Sox should have three fly chasers of more than passing merit.

Scores 134 Runs.

Other figures on the newcomer are as interesting as his batting mark. In the last campaign he produced 49 doubles, 15 triples, and 11 homers. His total of bases on hits was 360 and was excelled in this respect only by Nick Cullop, who boasted 393. Simons drove in 86 runs and scored 134 himself. He also was second in this feature, Cullop leading the association with 150. Simons swings from the left side of the plate.

Fighter's Fury Is Fickle Thing, But These Boys Really Get Mad

BY ARCH WARD.

There is a growing opinion that professional boxing takes all the fight out of a man. His ring fury rises and falls with the size of the gate.

But there still is plenty of fight in the amateurs. There are hundreds of Chicago lads eager to face the wear and tear of a tournament that has as its goal a place on the Golden Gloves team.

THE TRIBUNE boxing meet is conducted for amateurs and every effort is made to see that the contestants measure up to the amateur code. None of the athletes receives a penny for his efforts. If he is successful in wining first, second or third place in his division he receives a golden glove with a diamond, ruby or emerald inset.

Every boxer who competes in the Golden Gloves tournament has been certified by the Amateur Athletic union. When he applies for admission he registers with the A. A. U. He deposits his picture, description, and record with the secretary. A copy is sent to the Illinois athletic commission.

If either the A. A. U. officials or boxing commissioners question his amateurism he is held out of competition until an investigation has been completed. If there is the slightest doubt of his right to compete, he is ruled out of THE TRIBUNE meet. The success of a tournament the size of the Golden Gloves is not dependent upon boxers whose amateurism can be disputed.

Managers of amateurs are not recognized. It is contrary to A. A. U. ethics for an amateur to have a pilot. No business negotiations are necessary, for there is no money involved. The boxer's conduct in the ring, once he has qualified for THE TRIBUNE team, is entirely in the hands of the coaches and trainers appointed to do that work.

There has been little trouble in the past in enforcing amateur rules. THE TRIBUNE anticipates none this year. Candidates understand when they enter that violation of the regulations means permanent disbarment from competition in Golden Gloves meets.

There is every indication that this is going to be the biggest amateur tournament in Chicago's history.

Contestants this year are expected to be of higher caliber than heretofore. There is a wider field from which to pick.

George Kamberson, proprietor of the Lawndale gymnasium which last year won the team trophy, reports that 212 want to represent his establishment. He has entered a team of 36. Last year he had about half that many.

"We are going to repeat this year," Kamberson remarked. "Take a look at that list of boxers," he advised as he presented his entry. "If you know anything about amateur boxing I won't have to tell you that these boys have class. We have had a champion every year and we are stronger than ever. Tell those fellows up at the Belle Plaine A. C., Johnny Coulon's, the Arcade, and any others who think they have a chance for the team trophy to watch out for Lawndale."

This was not blatant egotism. A noted football coach once defined egotism as an anaesthetic that deadened the pain of stupidity. But this is not the case with the boxers out at Lawndale gym. Theirs is a self-confidence founded on demonstrated superiority.

THE SAVOLDI PLUNGE.

We read with considerable interest that our old pal Joe Savoldi, for want of something better to do, is going to take up wrestling in a big way. It shows how far a fellow can stray when he leaves school before getting his degree.

Still he may be a big success, if there is such a thing as success in wrestling. There is no telling how much money he may make if he catches the public's fancy as he did while rushing the football up and down the nation's gridirons for Notre Dame.

If Savoldi is smart, he will introduce the "Savoldi plunge" into the mat sport. You've got to have a hold like that to make good. Sonnenberg has the flying tackle and Jimmy Londos the airplane spin. The pastime is built upon showmanship. It no longer is essential to have a lot of hammer locks, toe holds, and half nelsons like Gotch, Caddock, and Stecher.

By this time Jumping Joe probably has mastered the grunt. Without grunts and groans wrestling would have no appeal.

BUSH SIZES UP RACE.

The American league race at the start of 1931 shapes up much as it finished in 1930, according to Donie Bush of the White Sox. He picks the Athletics to repeat with the Yankees and Senators as runnersup. There may be a surprise team in fourth place and Donie hints it will be the Sox.

"The Senators' chances depend mainly on two old timers, Rice and Judge," Bush said. "If they can maintain their 1930 pace, the club will be hard to beat. But they are at the age where they are apt to break.

"Joe McCarthy has a good layout in New York except for pitchers. He might have had worries along this line with the Cubs, but he will find more with the Yankees."

GOLD COAST VS. CAB DRIVERS FOR GOLDEN GLOVES

BY FRENCH LANE.

Some people might be carrying around the idea that the boys from Chicago's gold coast would go in for backgammon, miniature golf, the ping pong revival, those new outdoor billiards, or any game rather than step into the ring and take a punch at each other's chins.

But if you think that way it is a mistaken idea. A glance at the entry lists for THE TRIBUNE'S north section Golden Gloves tournament offers the proof. The north section tournament at the Hippodrome arena, to be held on the nights of Feb. 19 and 20, will be one of the largest held anywhere in Chicagoland. More than 200 boys may compete, but the exact number of contestants will not be known for a few days as entries do not close until midnight tomorrow.

The north side boys know how to box, and many of them carry plenty of punch. A visit to various north side gymnasiums reveals some of the finest physical specimens among the youths of the nation going through lively training drills getting ready to fight their way toward a TRIBUNE Golden Glove.

Will See Some in Finals.

Boys who were taught their first boxing lessons at prominent elementary schools, at the finest prep institutions in the country, at the best universities and colleges, are included in the early entries.

The north side fighters are not all rich boys by any means. They will have to whip the hardest punching newsboys, cab drivers, street car conductors, barbers, hotel porters, chefs, clerks, janitors, sailors from great lakes, banana peddlers, hurdy gurdy grinders, truck drivers, and bricklayers that hail from that section of the city north of Chicago avenue.

North Section Has Grown.

Amateur boxing has grown so much along the north shore during the last year that the north sectional meet next week has already attracted nearly 100 more boxers than it did last year. It is going to crowd the west and south sectional meets for honors and a rush of late entries may make it the largest held in Chicago.

With the entry list for the west side tournament to be held at Ashland Boulevard auditorium Monday and Tuesday nights complete, boxing fans from the west side and many from the north and south sides began to clamor for tickets yesterday for the two day sectional meet. No re-

Even a Ritzy Dog Can Be Good Fellow

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 10.—In connection with the annual exhibitions of thoroughbred dogs, it always occurs to me that these dogs are no more like the ordinary dog than the little aristocrat, walking with his nurse in Central park and keeping his feet dry, is like Eugene Fields' young man who loved to chaw green apples and go swimmin' in the lake.

This may seem to bespeak a prejudice against the little aristocrat and also against the bench dog, and if so, O. K. The tradition of the time and place of my youth had it that a clean face and summer time shoes and stockings, were objectionable traits in a young man.

The humor of the magazines and newspapers dealt unkindly with the aristocratic mother who did not attend to her own offspring but delegated much of this duty to the nurse, even though the little man out walking in Central park could be proved to be better off than the kid who chawed green apples and so forth. A lot of the latter were drowned or run over by box cars or fell through the ice in winter, due to the absence of any nurses or mounted policemen and it did not follow that because the barefoot boy was more free and independent he must grow up more manly and admirable. Lots of them grew up to be bums.

Still, I must believe that there are a lot of people who cannot pass a little aristocrat riding his velocipede in the park with his governess close by, but that they instinctively curl a lip and instinctively mutter, "Sissy."

These dog show dogs are the aristocrats' dogs, of course. They cost a lot of money whereas an ordinary dog is a give away dog or a 75 cent dog at most. But the disconcerting thing about them is that under their barber shop curls and their manicured claws and notwithstanding their owners' commercialism, they are just as friendly and humorous and mischievous as the commonest yellow mongrel of the sentimental midwestern conception. I am afraid they are pretty good dogs, considered apart from their surroundings. An aristocrat is as good as a democrat if he behaves himself.

The professional dog raisers and exploiters I cannot sympathize with. If they loved dogs with that touching sympathy which they appeal to in the customers when they wish to sell their stock, they would not be willing to sell. For don't they tell people that the dog is man's most faithful and for-

ILLINOIS' FIRST PERIOD ATTACK UPSETS PURDUE

Champaign, Ill., Feb. 10.—The University of Illinois basketball team, underdog in the Big Ten basketball race, rose to the heights to defeat Purdue, 26 to 22, here tonight. This was the first conference victory for the Illini.

BOYD OWEN.

The Illinois team shot phenomenally in the first half and led at the end of the period, 21 to 6. The Boilermakers staged a great rally at the start of the second period, and although they managed to outscore Coach Ruby's team 16 to 5 in this period, the Illini were never threatened until the last two minutes of play. At no time during the game was Purdue in the lead. Purdue beat Illinois earlier in the season, 30 to 15.

Caslon Bennett and Boyd Owen, two sophomores, led the Illinois team. Bennett's play under the basket was irresistible and his five field goals came mainly from his ability to rebound Owen scored four times in the first five minutes of the game.

Bob Kamp held Johnny Wooden, Purdue's star, to seven shots from the field. Two of these he made. He also scored once from the free throw line. Stewart led the Purdue team with three field goals.

Shamrocks Lose to Tulsa, 1-0.

[Other hockey scores on page 27.]

Boston, Mass., Feb. 10.—(AP)—The Boston Bruins gained over the Chicago Blackhawks, their leading American division opponents, here tonight when George Owen scored a third period goal unassisted that gave the Bruins a 2 to 1 victory, the second they have scored over the Hawks this season.

The game was one of the fastest played here this season. Both teams played cautious hockey and they checked cleverly. The Bruins took an early lead when Dit Clapper braved the Chicago defense, broke through, and fed a scoring shot to Cooney Weiland about half way through the opening period.

Vic Ties Score.

This lead stood up until late in the second session, when Vic Desjardins, rushing with Frank Ingram, banged a shot into Tiny Thompson's cage and deadlocked the game.

About 10 minutes of safety—first hockey followed. A Boston rush died deep in Chicago territory and Ingram attempted to bring the rubber back. He carried it down the right lane and was poke-checked by Capt. Lionel Hitchman. The latter rushed and George Owen joined him. Just before the enemy blue line was reached, Hitch passed to the former Harvard star and George belted the puck, from a point a few feet out side of the blue line, into the Blackhawks' cage for the winning score.

The lineup:

BOSTON.		CHICAGO.

SHAMROCKS LOSE

Burr Williams, stalwart of the Tulsa defense, brought the game to an end early in the extra session when he skated in to slip the puck past Goalie Timmins. Ron Moffett supplied the assist on the play.

Little Tony Christello got a chance to show his stuff as the Oiler goal tender and did a creditable job. Red McDusker, regular goalie, is suffering from a hip injury. The lineup and summary:

BEFORE THE BATTLE SOLDIERS MUST DRILL—AND WHAT A BATTLE WITH GOLDEN GLOVES AT STAKE

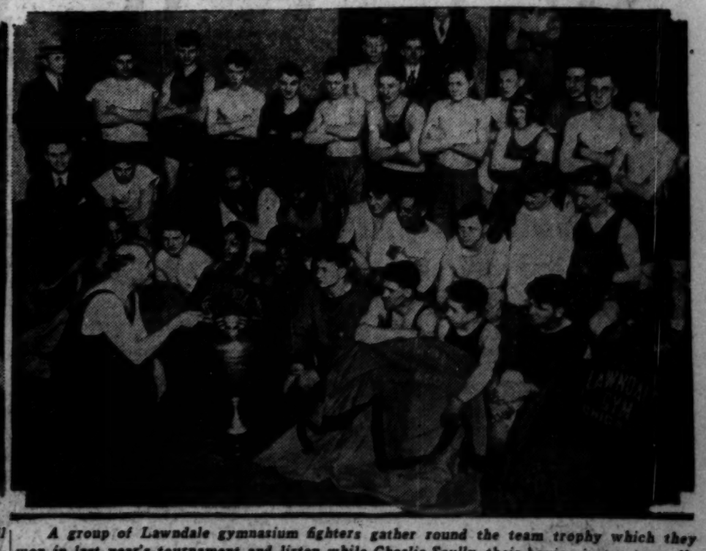
The boys of Arcade gymnasium line up for a few pointers from Kid Howard. Fight fans who have seen previous Golden Glove tournaments may notice a few familiar faces here. For instance, there's Nick Fosco at the extreme right in the second row.

A trio of athletes flex their muscles in he Jewish People's institute. Harry April and Harry Rosenthal are testing the power of their punch at the right, while Max Robinson has a bag all to himself. These and many other Jewish boys will be in the thick of it when gloves are flying fastest in The Tribune's tournament.



A group of Lawndale gymnasium fighters gather round the team trophy which they won in last year's tournament and listen while Charlie Scully, their boxing instructor, tells them how to keep it. Most of these boys will take the ring on Monday night when the west side eliminations begin.

Havana Sees Smith on Three Victors.

New York, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Eugene James and Vernon Smith grabbed the turf spotlight today. James rode four winners at the Fair Grounds, New Orleans, while Smith, contract rider for the Greentree stable, scored on three of his mounts and placed the other three in the money at Oriental park, Havana.

James accepted five mounts. He had a leg up on Joseph Leiter's Prince Apollo and Count Palatine, winners of the third and seventh races, respectively, and accounted for the fifth and sixth numbers with S. W. Labrot's Rocket Glare and J. Goff's Shasta Pebble.

Shasta Pebble Pays 7 to 1.

Smith won with J. D. Stevens' Two Bills in the second, J. F. Patterson's Papyrograph in the fourth, and M. Allen's Star Button in the first. He placed with Romany Bar in the Plaza Roof purse, and brought R. L. Rites' Free Helen and H. C. Hatch's Bylona home in third position.

Royal Tree Wins.

With a program of six claiming events and a condition race for two year olds, the form players scored heavily at Hialeah park, Miami. A six furlong sprint, carded fourth, was the most disastrous of the day, however, for the favorite players. Black Diamond, held at a short price, ran third, with the winner turning up in Royal Tree, which paid $18.90 for $2. Landlord was second.

Froebel Evens Score with Emerson; Triumphs, 21-8

Gary, Ind., Feb. 10. — [Special.]—Frobel High school evened the score for the season with Emerson in a basketball contest tonight by a 21 to 8 victory. Emerson was the victor in a previous engagement, 18 to 15. Pleska and Vowell, Emerson forwards, scored 17 points between them.

BRUINS PLAY 1ST PLACE BROOKLYN CAGERS TONIGHT

Brooklyn and the Chicago Bruins, first and second in the American Professional Basketball league, will battle tonight at the Broadway armory. The easterners, who captured the first half championship, are on top once again, so it will be up to the Bruins to halt their gallop.

Preceding the pro match will be a game between the Skokie Valley Reds and the E. F. Drivers. Both teams are made up of former college stars. One of the outstanding performers is Hank Bruder, former star at Northwestern. Bruder was an expert cager in his prep days, but confined his athletic activity to football while at N. U.

The Bruins will leave at 10:30 on a southern trip and the starting time of the first game has been moved up to 7:30. At the finish of the first half the Bruins and Brooklyn will go into action at approximately 8:15.

giving pal and don't they pose their little pups and yearlings in such mischievous attitudes and with such comic expressions that the customers cannot resist buying them? And would a true lover of the dog sell away his best pals as a business, setting an arbitrary price on each? And does it take any salesmanship to sell a puppy to a man or woman with a child and the price?

There is no doubt that the sentiment of the dog has been exaggerated. Conceding that dogs are almost human, as the lovers of the dog are fond of contending, it must be conceded also by any one who has observed them that there are phonies and rotters and miscellaneous nogoods among them.

I saw an informal dog fight not long ago. A sort of collie and a kind of hound met in front of a country grocery store and the collie, so to speak, apparently called the hound, as it were, a very opprobrious name. The hound's neck hair came up and he scratched some gravel and skinned his lips back off his teeth in an expression that plainly said: "I am; am I? Well, you are a——."

At that the collie made a pass and the hound let fly and the collie went down badly frightened, with his legs up and his eyes almost all white with fear. The hound held him that way a few seconds, glaring down at him and muttering. "Why, I ought to kill you, but you're no good, so I'm going to let you up and chase you back under the garage so everybody can see you tear."

So he stepped back and the collie jumped up, but as soon as the collie got up he began to yell for his pal, Joe, another sort of collie with a little setter in him and, maybe, some scottie, for his forelegs were slightly bowed. Joe is a neighborhood character. He does some rabbit running and plays with the kids and is a very devil of a fellow with the opposing sex for miles around. Joe came tearing out around the gasoline pumps and his master, Earnest Schilling, a fellow who was shot up and gassed in the war, came out with a sugar ladle, to see what the row was all about.

The collie yelled to Joe to help him out handling the hound. "What did he do to you?" Joe asked.

"Why," the collie said, lying like a witness for a street car company in a damage suit, "Why, I was sitting over there batting myself on the ear to dislodge a flea when this mutt came tearing over and the first thing I knew he was on me from behind and had his teeth in my throat. I had a terrible time fighting him off and then he said he was mistaken because he was looking for you all the time and he called you a dirty so-and-so. O, the names that bum was calling you, Joe."

Joe is short tempered and he had something against the hound, anyway, besides which the collie was his pal, so he made one jump and down went the hound who rolled loose, however, and started to fight. At that the collie's gumption came up and he sailed in, yelling, "Let me at him, pal." But they seem to have some kind of national boundary. The hound lives across the road and when he found himself out-numbered he got behind his own property line and came to a stand, snarling insults.

Joe stopped at the line and addressed himself to the hound but he seemed to respect some diplomatic barrier at this point and went no farther. Anyway, a couple of children had come out of the hound's house and were soothing him now and throwing chunks of ice at Joe. Of course, Joe could have torn them apart but he was aware of some rules and immunities, so, in his own language he addressed some evil remarks to the hound, kicked up some pebbles himself, and jogged off home.

Mr. Schilling came down the steps of the grocery store and gave the collie a slap alongside the head with the ladle. Then he spoke to Joe.

"Listen, Joe," he said. "You've got that hound all wrong. He's a right guy. Minds his own business. Treed about fifteen possum this year and his old man is out of work and he gets six bucks a hide from Sears-Roebuck. Lay off that hound, Joe. That collie is a gold-brick, anyway."

Joe wiggled all over, gobbled some remarks in his throat and let go three or four loud, laughing barks. "Well, he was licking my pal," Joe said, if I understand the language. "He may be no good, he may be a phoney, but I take them as I find them and he's always been a pal with me, and any dog that licks my pal has got to lick Joe."

These were all 75 cent dogs of the kind that McCutcheon draws and Tad and Clare Briggs used to draw. But the aristocrats, taken off the bench in the show, would assay no better in character, usefulness and conduct. There are still Lincoln dogs at the cross-roads and Roosevelt dogs at the shows.

BOXING BOARD LIFTS SUSPENSION OF JOSE SANTA

The Illinois state athletic commission yesterday lifted the six months' suspension of José Santa, giant Portuguese heavyweight, after a personal plea by his manager, Bertys Perry. Santa was suspended the day after his unsatisfactory fight last Wednesday night against Knute Hansen.

Santa's fine of $1,375, which included his purse for the fight, with the exception of $125 for training and traveling expenses, was not revoked, however.

Perry pleaded that Santa did the best he could in the bout, which was stopped in the second round.

OHIO STATE CAGE COACH CENSURES BIG TEN REFEREES

Columbus, O., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Present officiating in the Big Ten as well as that in other basketball circles was criticized today by Harold G. Olsen, coach of the Ohio State university team.

Chief among the evils of the present day officiating is the calling of too many unnecessary fouls, thus slowing up the game and diminishing its appeal, Olsen said.

"Basketball officials have the power to speed up the game and make it more desirable from the spectator's standpoint," he added. "I don't wish to make a blanket criticism of officials, but many have the tendency to call fouls which are not pertinent to the play.

Censures Slapping Officials.

"Officials often seem to forget they are secondary to the game itself. Particularly obnoxious is the official who calls a foul and then proceeds to administer a hard slap on the back of the offending player. Such an official is not desirable on the court."

Regarding the plethora of fouls that mars many games, Olsen feels that basketball may well borrow a page from the increasingly popular sport of hockey.

"Several years ago," according to Olsen, "hockey games were slowed up by officials who called fouls on players who ran ahead of the puck, even though no advantage was gained. Consequently hockey fans protested. Then higher-ups in the games warned officials not to be so technical in their duties. Interest in the game was immediately revived."

Sees Fans Protest.

Similarly, Olsen looks for an uprising among basketball fans in the near future. He feels that too many fouls are called that are not intentional and have no relationship to the playing of a game. The result is a continuous procession to the free throw line.

The calling of out of bounds play imposed for "traveling" is unnecessary in many instances, Olsen thinks. This is especially true when the offense occurs in back court after the defensive guards has taken the ball off the bank board and the actual offensive drive has not even begun.

Dear Sirs:

I want the cigar smoking public to be made conscious of the danger to health involved in any unsanitary methods of manufacture. "Spit-tipping" is disgusting and unhealthy. It will go when the public realizes it exists, and it is such a campaign as yours which will bring the public to this realization.

I commend your campaign heartily and wish you well. I have no objection to your publication of this letter, over my signature, if it will help in the good work.

Very Truly Yours,

COUNTY CLAIMS $55,000 ESTATE DESPITE A WILL

Tells of Document Drawn 54 Years Ago.

The state's attorney's office took steps yesterday to stop the payment of a $55,000 inheritance to Dr. Edmund J. Bollo, 89 years old, a physician of Detroit. Dr. Bollo, according to a will filed two months ago in the Probate court, was made sole heir to the estate of Mrs. Ida Marcoux, who died in her home at 1703 Mozart avenue in June of 1928.

At a hearing yesterday before Oscar S. Caplan, assistant to Probate Judge Henry Horner, Dr. Bollo testified that the will of Mrs. Marcoux, executed in 1877, was discovered last fall in an old family Bible in the Bollo home. He said that he had befriended Mrs. Marcoux some sixty years ago and as a result she wrote the will naming him as beneficiary.

Will Drawn in Drug Store.

As a witness to corroborate Dr. Bollo's testimony, attorneys summoned Thomas J. Noyes, 69 years old, a captain in the Detroit fire department. He said that he remembered the signing of the will when he was 15 years old. He said that it was drawn up by a street car conductor and signed by two witnesses at a conference in a drug store 54 years ago. Both the witnesses are dead, Noyes testified.

It was at this juncture that Assistant State's Attorney Edgar B. Elder pointed out that the limit of two years had elapsed between Mrs. Marcoux's death and the filing of the will and that therefore the estate should go to the county, no heirs having been located within the two year limit.

Dr. Bollo declared that the will disappeared after it had been executed and was not seen again until it was found in the Bible. Mr. Caplan continued the hearing until April 9 to permit attorneys to gather evidence that the signing witnesses to the will are dead.

Find $15,000 in Safety Box.

Mrs. Marcoux was believed to be a penniless recluse when she died at the age of 78. Investigation disclosed that she owned not only her home but several valuable pieces of real estate in addition to $15,000 which was found in a safety deposit box.

After Dr. Bollo filed the will, Frederick A. Matthews filed a claim against the estate alleging that Mrs. Marcoux promised to will her estate to him for services given to her. He alleged that he lived in Mrs. Marcoux's home for more than fifteen years. Judge Horner allowed him a claim of $36,000. This was reversed by Circuit Judge George Fred Rush and is now pending in the Appellate court on Matthew's appeal.

Completion of the arrangements for the broadcast of the address of Pope Pius XI, which will be heard throughout the world tomorrow morning have been made by the National Broadcasting company. The address will be heard in Chicago from W-G-N, the Chicago Tribune station, and other stations of NBC and the Columbia Broadcasting system.

The pontiff will arrive at the broadcasting station at 9:30 a. m. [Central Standard Time] announced by a blare of trumpets. He will go first to the motor room and then to the transmitter room, where he will throw on the power by pushing a button.

Then the pope will send by hand in Morse code the call letters of the station. He will then go to the amplifier room, where he will be met by Senator Guglielmo Marconi, builder of the station, and at 9:45 a. m. will address the world in Latin. The talk will be repeated in several languages.

COL. WM. RAND, NOTED LAWYER, DIES AGED 65

New York, Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Col. William Rand, widely known New York lawyer, who was attached to Gen. John J. Pershing's headquarters in France as assistant to the judge advocate general, died in his home here today at the age of 65. He was the possessor of the distinguished service cross awarded by congress.

Col. Rand was chief assistant to William Travers Jerome in the latter's first term as district attorney of New York, and resigned to join the law firm of Lauderbach & Johnson. Later he formed his own law firm of Rand, Moffett & Webb, still later entering the firm of Jerome, Rand & Kresel in 1910, which in 1924 became Guthrie, Jerome, Rand & Kresel.

He was associated with Max D. Steuer in the defense of Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, and Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general, charged with irregularities in the settlement of alien war claims.

SINGER IN CELL, THUS PROVING HE IS NOT MISSING

Mario Rubini, 35 years old, 901 Sheridan road, a concert singer, denied to the world last night that he had disappeared and proved it by sitting in a cell at the Town Hall station.

The concert singer was arrested on a charge of using false preterises to borrow $100 from Miss Palma Mathisen, 28 years old, 4809 Montrose avenue, a pupil, who alleged that he had disappeared when she obtained the warrant last week. Rubini admitted borrowing the money, for which, he said, he gave his note. "But," he protested, "I deny I disappeared."

Miss Mathisen asserted she had advanced the money so Rubini would be more presentable in his vocal appearances. The matter will be settled today before Judge Leon Edelman in Town Hall court.

C. L. SCHWARTZ OF NAPERVILLE TAKEN BY DEATH

Charles L. Schwartz, a retail lumber dealer and for years a Democratic leader in the Eleventh congressional district, died yesterday at his home in Naperville of pneumonia. He was 60 years old.

BERTHA MURRAY, FRIEND OF VETS, DIES IN WHEATON

Mrs. Murray was known in Du Page and Kane counties for her work in behalf of hospitalization for war veterans, and for her activities in Americanization. She was vice president of the Fathers and Mothers of the 149th Field Artillery, the Gold Star Mothers' association, and the American Legion auxiliary. One of her sons, Stuart R. Murray, was killed in action the day the armistice ended the world war. Mrs. Murray was a member of the Wheaton park board since its organization.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Friday at the First Presbyterian church, Wheaton, with burial following in Wheaton cemetery. Surviving Mrs. Murray, besides her husband, is a son, Donald R.

LOOP TAILOR IS VICTIM OF AUTO FUMES

Overcome by carbon monoxide fumes from his automobile, Arthur W. Wallin, 46 years old, treasurer and member of the Franche-Wallin Tailoring company, 104 South Michigan avenue, was found dead yesterday in the garage in the rear of his home at 6430 Glenwood avenue. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

Mr. Wallin returned to Chicago from a business trip to Kenosha Monday night and telephoned his wife, Margaret, he would be home shortly. He failed to return during the night. Yesterday Mrs. Wallin sent their daughter, Marguerite, 13 year old, to the garage to see if he had appeared, and the girl discovered him dead.

Bridget Tervin, Mother of Capt. John Stege, Is Dead

Mrs. Bridget Tervin, 63 years old, 4643 South California avenue, mother of Capt. John Stege of the Cragin police district, died at her home yesterday after an illness of six weeks with influenza. Mrs. Tervin had been a widow for a number of years.

PRIEST KILLED, 2 FRIENDS HURT IN AUTO CRASH

The Rev. R. J. Ashenden, head of the Catholic Youth organization, 30 North La Salle street, was fatally injured last night and two friends escaped with slight injuries when the car in which they were returning to Chicago from a Boy Scout meeting at Techny, Ill., collided with another car.

Father Ashenden, who was 30 years old and resided at 2060 Roosevelt road, suffered a skull fracture and internal injuries, which resulted in his death at 1:15 a. m. at the St. Francis hospital, Evanston. His companions were Casey Jones, 5430 Crystal street, and William Campbell, an attorney at 175 West Jackson boulevard. Northbrook police arrested the other driver, Hans Boulokka, 55 years old, of Northbrook.

This death and four others raised the Cook county motor toll for the year to 150. The other victims:

Benjamin Friedman, 43 years old, 3838 West Congress street. He was killed and his son, Jacob, 11 years old, injured when their automobile collided with another at Taylor and Jefferson streets. August Juliana, 41 years old, 819 Taylor street, driver of the other car, suffered a heart attack following the accident and was taken to a hospital.

brook, Ill. Died in the St. Francis hospital, Evanston, of injuries received a week ago when his auto was struck by a North Western railroad freight train in Evanston.

Benjamin D. Miles, 4 West Ontario street. Died at the county hospital of injuries received on Feb. 2 when struck by an auto at Erie and Dearborn streets. The driver was Mrs. Helen T. Holloway, 10416 South Seeley avenue.

Mrs. Sophia Patula, 42 years old, 3724 South Hermitage avenue. Died in the Southwest General hospital from injuries received when struck by a hit and run motorist at 49th street and Archer avenue.

Roy Alexander, 27 years old, of 2011 Lincoln street, Whiting. Died in St. Catherine's hospital, East Chicago, of injuries received on Monday when he was struck by a hit and run driver while riding on his motorcycle in 149th street, East Chicago.

SWEAR REVENGE AT FUNERAL OF FEUD VICTIM

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Twelve funeral orations were pronounced today at the last services for Vordian Gorkoff, slain Macedonian revolutionary, and 120 wreaths were deposited at his grave. Gurkoff was slain on Feb. 8 in a feud that flared up between the two factions of the revolutionary party.

Gurkoff was a close friend of the Macedonian leader, Ivan Michailoff, and the orators at today's funeral gave scarcely veiled warning to enemies of Michailoff that vengeance would follow soon.

Charles Hass, Detective Agency Head, Dead at 73

Charles Hass, head of the Hass Detective agency, 53 West Jackson boulevard, died yesterday at the residence, 6149 Vernon avenue. He was 73 years old and a native of Chicago. Mr. Hass for three years served as president of the International Detective association. He was one of the three oldest members of the Dearborn lodge, Masons. Mr. Hass will be buried in Oakwoods cemetery tomorrow. He is survived by a son, Dr. George A. Hass.

S. HOLLESEN, 81, REALTY DEALER, DIES AFTER FALL

Siebert Hollesen, 81 years old, 6345 North Hermitage avenue, wealthy real estate dealer, died last night at the Edgewater hospital of injuries suffered on Jan. 31 when he fell from a stepladder while inspecting a building at Clark street and Devon avenue.

Mr. Hollesen came to Chicago from Denmark shortly after the Chicago fire and acquired considerable real estate holdings at that time. He is survived by five daughters.

Charles Pond McAvoy, 67, Is Dead at Honolulu Home

Charles Pond McAvoy, 67 years old, son of the late John McAvoy, head of the old McAvoy Brewing company in Chicago, died in Honolulu Monday. Mr. McAvoy had been in the government service at Honolulu for 10 years. He went there following his divorce from Mrs. E. C. McAvoy, proprietor of a dress establishment at 615 North Michigan avenue. Previously he had been a stock broker in Chicago. Mrs. McAvoy, who lives at 20 Cedar street, was visiting in Boston when notified of her former husband's death.

BOARD OF TRADE PROTESTS BILL ON REGULATIONS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—Protest by the Chicago Board of Trade against the more stringent regulation of trading in grain futures proposed in the Capper-Dickinson bill was registered today before the senate committee on agriculture. A statement signed by J. C. Murray, president, was presented by Senator Otis F. Glenn [Rep., Ill.].

JAMES C. MURRAY.

Enactment of the legislation was urged by Edward A. O'Neil, vice president of the American farm bureau federation. Dr. J. W. T. Duval, chief of the grain futures administration of the department of agriculture, favored the Capper-Dickinson bill with some modifications.

Today's hearing was intended to lay the foundation for consideration of the legislation at next winters session of congress. It s unlikely that the committee will report a bill at the present session and no consideration will be given to the legislation at this time by the house committee on agriculture.

Would "Divert" Trading.

Mr. Murray in objecting to the bill in behalf of the Chicago Board of Trade asserted that it would destroy the grain exchanges and divert much of the trading to Winnipeg.

"The great objection to the principles embodied in the Capper bill if enacted into law, is that it will practically destroy a business which has been conducted for eighty years on the Board of Trade as a part of the system of marketing the products of agriculture of the United States and the world," said Mr. Murray.

"It goes without saying that a law which authorizes an individual then holding a position of governmental authority to prescribe rules and regulations for carrying on grain trade on a public exchange; to prescribe and to change from time to time during the life of contracts grades deliverable on such contracts; to permit delivery of grain in cars, on boats, in public or private elevators in any position, at any time at his will; to limit the amount from time to time which may be dealt in by any individual or corporation or any grain exchange; to approve or disapprove the warehouses from which delivery of grain can be made, and which requires his approval of all rules of exchanges and requires exchanges to adopt all rules required by such individual, will have the effect of driving away from American contract markets a very substantial part of the business now conducted on them.

Effect on Other Industries.

"The result will be that some foreign market, presumably Winnipeg in Canada, will supersede the Chicago Board of Trade as the great grain market of the world.

"This will, in addition to the direct loss which will be sustained by those now engaged in the grain business in

Favor Expansion of Three Kinds of Power Distribution

BY SCRUTATOR.

Any suspicion that engineering science is running out of ideas which may make life more pleasant or work more effective can be dissipated by attending the sessions of the fifth Midwest power engineering conference, being held at the Stevens hotel.

Suggestions were made yesterday that the time is now ripe for a wide expansion of three forms of power distribution. The first is central station refrigeration, the second air conditioning—including refrigerating and moistening or drying the air—in homes and public buildings, and the third the sale of heating and processing steam by utility plants which furnish electricity.

All have been tested out already on a sufficiently large scale to be practicable. No sensational predictions were made by the authors of the papers dealing with them, but the possibilities of great changes along such lines are readily apparent.

Serve Big Plants.

Such central refrigerating plants as exist now were established to serve commission warehouses and cold storage plants, according to George A. Horne, chief engineer of the Merchants Refrigerating company, New York. His company pumps brine at a temperature of zero F. to its customers and has a maximum pumping capacity of 4,000 gallons a minute.

Although the lines were laid to serve the cold storage people, Mr. Horne told how the management of the Western Union Telegraph company heard that refrigeration was available from a street main passing its new building in New York and had pipes installed just as gas or water pipes are usually installed. One of the factors stressed was the safety of the calcium chloride brine. A leak does not mean danger to human life.

Mr. Horne held that there was ample opportunity, justified by the engineering facts, for establishment of such central station refrigeration for congested apartment house districts. The cost of a layout for 2,000 aparments would be no more, he indicated, than the installation of 2,000 individual refrigerators, and operating costs would be smaller.

Future Ventilation.

In discussing air conditioning, which goes much further than mere refrigeration, Willis H. Carrier of New York, ventured the prediction that within a few years every new hotel in the larger cities will be equipped to give its guest rooms conditioned air of the proper purity, temperature and humidity, just as it now gives them each a bathroom. There are 300 theaters using air treated in some manner, but only a half dozen office buildings, a dozen or so large department stores and no hospitals anywhere in the world, he said.

Mr. Carrier suggested that air conditioning was now available for homes and that when processes are perfected a little more home comfort in hot weather will be easy. He suggested that gas probably would be the energy medium for the cooling.

Dual purpose power plants, furnishing both steam and electricity to their customers, are growing up, according to John M. Drabelle of Cedar Rapids, Ia., because customers like hotel and office and industrial building owners are demanding a complete service. Somtimes, he pointed out, hotels installed their own electrical plants because they could combine them with a heating plant.

Offer Steam Service.

He named a half dozen utility projects which offer steam service in some measure. In Rochester, N. Y., two stations are giving dual service to industrial buyers. One station alone sold $74,000 worth of steam against $115,000 worth of electric power.

Mr. Drabelle suggested that the utilities with byproduct steam would be better able to meet small plant competition if they furnished all the prospective buyer could give himself with his own plant.

The conference will continue today. In connection with it the power exposition at the Coliseum is being held. The latest types of machinery are on exhibition.

HARDWARE MAN SAYS CUSTOMERS WATCH VALUES

"The customer knows what he wants; if he cannot get it from his local merchant he is going some place else to do his buying," Fred W. Swannell, retiring president, yesterday told members of the Illinois Retail Hardware association at the opening meeting of the thirty-fourth annual convention, now in progress at the Hotel Sherman.

"Increased education on the part of the consumers to values and styles has followed improvements in business methods," he said.

"They want to know the price without having to ask for it and they will not buy last year's stuff at any price."

The convention will continue until tomorrow. A banquet was held tonight. James F. Bowers, local advertising expert, was the principal speaker.

U. S. Steel Corp. Reports Big Increase in Unfilled Orders

BY O. A. MATHER.

The United States Steel corporation offered evidence yesterday that trade and industry may be improving faster than the more timid observers have calculated.

This big leader in the steel industry reported a considerably larger increase in forward business last month than had been predicted and, moreover, the increase was larger than occurred in January in either 1930 or 1929. It also was the fourth consecutive month to show an increase.

The monthly report of United States Steel showed a gain of 188,755 tons in unfilled orders last month, which brought the total backlog up to 4,132,351 tons on Jan. 31, the largest amount since last April. The showing for last month is all the better from the fact that plant operations increased gradually, although shipments are understood not to have been large. Leading consumers were not active in the market but the demand for miscellaneous products from various consumers was regarded as at least good.

See Prices on Firm Basis.

While the January increase was not as large as the December gain of 303,960 tons, when output was sharply curtailed, it ran well above the increases of 51,000 and 123,000 tons registered respectively in January, 1930 and 1929. Also, it was the second largest gain registered in the last twelve months. Finally, the current increase inspired predictions that steel prices will be at least maintained on a firm basis and even may be raised.

Reports from the Birmingham district also reflected increased activity in the steel industry last month. Orders for about 118,334 tons, mostly rails and fixings, pipe and structural bridge materials, were placed and will result in full time operations for most of the mills for several months.

Some pickup in general trade also was indicated by the weekly report on the movement of commodities by the railroads. Loading of revenue freight for the week ended Jan. 31 totaled 719,281 cars, according to the American Railway association. This marked an increase of 3,591 cars over the preceding week, although falling 179,554 cars below the corresponding week last year. The largest decline from a year ago was in coal, which fell off 68,797 cars because of the present mild winter.

Rail Business Improves.

Improvement in railroad traffic and earnings was reported by Fred W. Sargent, president of the Chicago and North Western, and J. J. Pelley, president of the New Haven.

"Business in our territory apparently hit bottom in December," Mr. Sargent said. "There has been a gradual pickup since then, with January loadings showing a gain of about 9 per cent over December compared with a normal seasonal increase of about 5 per cent. Further small gains have been shown this month. January gross revenues were about $2,000,000 less than the $10,474,139 shown in January, 1930, and net operating income will be about $250,000 below the $719,709 reported a year ago."

"We are beginning to note some slight improvement in business through our weekly traffic reports, and are hopeful that the turn has about been reached," Mr. Pelley said. Gross revenues last month were about 16 per cent less than a year ago and net income was approximately $700,000, a decline of about $200,000 from January, 1930, which was an exceptionally good month.

The petroleum industry, however, again produced adverse news, indicating small headway in measures to end overproduction. The daily average gross crude oil output last week totaled 2,116,500 barrels, an increase of 30,550 barrels a day over the preceding week, according to the American Petroleum institute.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 10.—Bullish enthusiasm ran high on the New York Stock exchange today and prices generally were sent whirling up to new highs for the year. Net gains ranged from $2 to $14 a share.

The turnover was the heaviest since last Dec. 17, about 5,000,000 shares changing hands in the course of the exciting five-hour session. Brokers reported a heavy increase in buying orders from outside speculators as well as the professional trading element and the board rooms of the leading houses of the street were crowded for the first time since the market began to fold up away back last fall.

Shorts Are Trapped.

Shorts were trapped in many of the more volatile issues and badly punished. The eager scramble for stocks put Auburn Auto, the big fireworks specialty of the day, up to a new high of 191¼, an advance of nearly 17 points over Monday's closing price. Profit taking by more cautious traders toward the last hour slipped about 3

JEWEL TEA CO. DIVIDEND RATE IS RAISED TO $4

Directors of the Jewel Tea company yesterday increased the annual dividend rate from $3 to $4 by declaring a quarterly disbursement of $1 a share. John M. Hancock, chairman of the board, said the increase was based on the earnings record of the company and the present outlook.

Directors of Gulf, Mobile and Northern railroad announced yesterday that no dividend would be paid on the preferred stock at this time. Dividends have been paid at the rate of $1.50 a share quarterly.

The Atlantic Refining company declared the regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents. Previously the company had been paying extra dividends of 25 cents in each quarter in addition to regular quarterly dividends.

Concerning Russia Revolt Rumor—"Nothing Known"

MOSCOW, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Nothing was known here tonight of any disturbances in Russia, rumors of which were reported to have caused grain prices to rise in Chicago and Winnipeg.

General American Tank Car's Earnings Improve

General American Tank Car corporation for the year ended Dec. 31, 1930, reports net profit of $6,518,181 after all charges, depreciation and taxes, equal to $8.03 a share earned on 811,647 shares stock outstanding at end of the year. This compares with a net profit of $5,770,741, or $7.56 a share earned on 763,722 shares outstanding in 1929.

For the quarter ended Dec. 31, 1930, net profit was $1,050,301, or $1.29 a share on 811,647 shares, compared with $1,814,181 net, or $2.26 a share on 804,522 shares in the last preceding quarter and $1,335,315 net, or $1.74 a share earned on 763,772 shares in the fourth quarter of 1929.

Relief from the cares of PROPERTY

In the experience of most persons of means a time comes when the supervision of their possessions is a burden. They want relief—for a while or forever, yet with complete assurance of the safety and earning of their accumulations.

BY placing property in a Living Trust with this bank, you at once safeguard it with the experience and watchfulness that has guided millions of dollars of trust properties in our care for a great many years . . . assuring its protection, its most effective handling, and its proper income. ¶ Thus, you free your energies for activity in other directions. Also, you may reduce income taxes, exempt the estate from inheritance taxation, eliminate expenses of probate and place property beyond the reach of subsequent reverses. ¶ On the other hand . . . if you desire only partial relief . . . you may delegate just the burdensome detail while reserving decisions to yourself. We will hold securities, manage realty, collect income promptly when due, pay taxes, insurance premiums and other routine charges, keep your holdings under alert supervision, notifying you of maturities, calls, rights, and other factors which may enable you to anticipate desirable changes in your investment structure. ¶ You are most cordially invited to call upon this bank for any service where the exacting responsibility of a trustee is needed . . . from the simple task of custodian, to complete supervision. The effect is to organize your personal affairs as the successful business is organized . . . affording them the vigilance which an owner can rarely give unless he devotes all of his time to it.

PROFIT TAKING REDUCES EARLY CHICAGO GAINS

Stock Trading Slows Up in Late Dealings.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Trading slowed up late in the day on the Chicago exchange yesterday as the brisk advance which had carried over from Monday began to show signs of exhausting itself. The profit taking cut deeply into early gains and was followed by a shrinking in trading volume.

The early trading was a repetition of Tuesday's bear rout. Stocks in every section of the list pushed ahead vigorously, in several instances setting new high quotations for the year and generally adding substantially to the previous day's gains. Final prices in the majority of leading shares were above the last quotations of the previous day. The motor shares were outstanding exceptions, however, with nearly all of the issues in the group finishing with small net losses.

Soviet Revolt Rumor.

A ripple of excitement was caused in the trading community late in the morning as rumors spread that the existing regime in Russia had been overthrown. The rumors were entirely lacking in confirmation, but gained rapid currency. The first reaction of the traders was to regard the supposed revolution as bullish. As no confirmation was forthcoming, however, the story soon passed into the limbo of stock market mytha, where all good rumors go if they have served the purposes of their creators well.

The utility shares as a group received more attention than they have been accorded in the recent past. Net gains of a fraction or more were chalked up by Cities Service, Middle West Utilities, and Insull Utility. Public Service no par inched its way up 4½ points to 256. Saxtet sold off nearly 3 points on light turnover.

Make Moderate Gains.

Among the miscellaneous shares moderate gains prevailed. Standard Dredging common and preferred retrieved much of the losses suffered on the previous day following the passing of the common dividend by directors. The common snapped back to 5½ and the senior issues closed at 11⅞.

Estimates on W. F. Hall Printing company earnings place net for the fiscal year ended Jan. 31 between $900,000 and $1,000,000, which would be equivalent to between $2.25 and $2.50 a share on the 400,000 common shares outstanding. In 1929 the company showed net profit of $1,511,653, or $4.03 a share, on the same basis.

LOOKING AHEAD WITH BUSINESS

Indications of better conditions in the textile industry were seen in the announcement of W. M. McLaurine, secretary of the American-Cotton Manufacturers association, that sales of standard cotton cloths last month were 118 per cent of production. Production during the month, he said, amounted to 202,149,000 yards, as compared with sales of 239,106,000 yards.

Cash dividends paid by domestic corporations in January totaled $567,866,546, compared with $536,313,416 in December, a compilation by Standard Statistics company shows.

North American Co.

The North American company has an issue of $25,000,000 debentures payable in 1961. We would appreciate knowing if you consider these a sound long term investment. They are 5 per cent debentures.—R. N. F.

The North American company, a holding company, controls one of the largest electric power systems under single ownership. It has been in business for 41 years.

Subsidiaries include Cleveland Electric Illuminating company, Union Electric Light and Power company [Mo.], Mississippi River Power company, Union Electric Light and Power company of Illinois, The Milwaukee Electric Railway and Light company, Wisconsin Electric Power company, Wisconsin Gas and Electric company, Wisconsin Michigan Power company, Washington Railway and Electric company, and Potomac Electric Power company.

Last year the company extended its interests on the Pacific coast by acquiring through a subsidiary 32 per cent of the outstanding common of Pacific Gas and Electric company. It also has substantial interests in the common stocks of Detroit Edison company, and North American Light and Power company.

The $25,000,000 5 per cent debentures, dated Feb. 1, 1931, and due Feb. 1, 1961, constitute the company's only funded debt. They have been issued to provide funds for payment of floating debt and for other purposes.

Lessened industrial activity during the last year has temporarily interrupted the normal increase of demand for electricity by industrial customers, but it has not affected the expansion policy of the company's subsidiaries, which will spend during 1931 approximately $51,000,000 for additions to plants and systems, according to a recent statement by the management.

In addition to the debentures North American company will have outstanding $30,333,900 par value of 6 per cent cumulative preferred and 6,339,555 common shares. Subsidiaries have outstanding with the public $296,303,984 of funded debt and $138,164,056 of preferred stocks.

Consolidated net earnings of the company and its subsidiaries for the twelve months ended Sept. 30, 1930, were $29,785,345, compared with $28,772,046 in the preceding twelve months. Annual interest requirements on these debentures amount to $1,250,000.

Central West Public Service.

"I own a Central West Public Service company 5½ per cent bond of 1956. May I ask you for your opinion as to its being considered safe?—C. N. K.

Central West Public Service company first collateral 5½s, series A and B, due Nov. 1, 1956, are considered more suitable for a business man's surplus funds than for small savings.

Allen Cites Discrepancy in Wholesale, Retail Prices

The future recovery of business is more tied up with the righting of what is at present a distorted price structure than any other thing, and until retail prices have declined to the extent wholesale prices have, recovery is impossible, Harland H. Allen said yesterday. Mr. Allen, who is an economist with the Foreman-State National bank, addressed the eighteenth annual business conference of the National Association of Retail Clothiers and Furnishers in the Hotel Sherman.

"Some commodities have not declined at all, and some have declined as much as 85 per cent, one situation being as bad as another," he said. "The abnormal disparity between wholesale and retail prices as a whole is depriving business of its customary assurance. The wholesale decline is between 20 and 25 per cent. The retail decline is less than half of that."

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 7,000 cattle, 24,000 hogs, and 15,000 sheep.

Demand for all classes of live stock expanded yesterday. Slightly colder weather has had a stimulating effect on buying of fresh meats and some trade are selling near the high point of the year. Hogs advanced 10@15c yesterday, the top at $8.15 standing highest in two weeks, while a bulge of 25@40c in the lamb market carried the top to $9.60, which equals the highest since middle of last September.

Cattle showed the least improvement, but were easier to sell. Eastern demand is the broadest of the year. Shipments of cattle from Chicago on Monday, at 5,427, were largest since Dec. 1.

Dealers in fresh pork were the principal buyers on the hog market again yesterday. Small packers, city butchers and shippers competed for the comparatively small supply of stock averaging 225 lbs. and lighter. Larger houses refused to follow at the advance and were practically out of the market, leaving about 6,000 in the pens at the close, mostly medium and weighty butchers.

Today's Hogs Bid $8.10.

Bids of $8.10 for lightweight hogs for today's delivery were made on the "to arrive" market yesterday, but there were no sellers at that figure when the advance estimate of 24,000 was posted for today.

March light were bid $8.00, while there were buyers willing to pay $8.75 for lightweights delivered anytime during April and May. March mediums were offered at $8.25 and bids of $8.00 were made on April and May mediums. March heavy were bid $6.75 and offered at $7.25.

Although the cattle market was not as satisfactory as traders had hoped for, weakness in evidence at the first of the week was not as pronounced on yesterday's session. The extreme top moved up 25c at $11.25, which was paid for 1,208 lb beeves. Yearling heifers averaging 635 lbs brought $10.

Sheep Receipts Smaller.

Smaller sheep receipts, coupled with broader demand enabled salesmen to replace all of the loss recorded during the last few days and prices at the close were only 5@10c under the high-water point since middle of last August. The top, at $9.60 equaling the year's peak.

Most good 85@95 pounders sold at $8.25@8.50, and prime 101 lb averages reached $8.85. Aged sheep and yearlings were unchanged. Feeding lambs were scarce and steady.

San Life Assurance New Business Grows in 1930

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Montreal, Que., Feb. 10.—Canada's leading life insurance company and the largest in the British empire, the Sun Life Assurance company, held its annual meeting today. It was shown that despite the depression the company had the best year in its history as far as new business was concerned. New insurance written in 1930 totaled $705,873,796, compared with $654,451,-243 in 1929, a gain of over 50 millions. Total Sun Life insurance in force increased for the total of $2,863,701,580 at the end of the calendar year. The meeting bore out the belief that many companies have had their best years in 1930 despite all the talk of poor times.

WHEAT PRICES VEER UPWARD IMPRESSIVELY

Foreign Buying, Russian Rumor Are Factors.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Unconfirmed rumors of a revolution in Russia, coupled with liberal buying of wheat futures credited to foreign account, swept prices upward yesterday in an impressive manner to the highest levels witnessed in the leading markets of the world since the middle of December.

The new crop months at Chicago jumped 3¾@4c over the early low to a new high of 72¾c for the July, while the September touched 72½c, going to a premium over the nearby future for the first time this season. Stop loss orders were uncovered on the way up and sellers of daily and weekly offers were forced to protect themselves.

Profit taking caused a reaction of around 1c from the top, but the finish was at net gains of 2@3¼c with September wheat leading. The latter closed at 72@72¼c, while July was 71½@71¾c. Old crop months moved up moderately and were ¾@½c higher at the last, with March 79¾@79¾c and May 82⅞@83c.

It was impossible to trace the Russian rumor. Advices to the state department at Washington failed to indicate any untoward developments. It was understood that Russia sold a liberal amount of cash wheat to the united kingdom during the day, which caused operators who had the information to express the belief that there was no anxiety shown by soviet government officials. A Berlin cable late in the day said the rumors were without foundation.

Cash Wheat Higher.

Foreign buyers of wheat seem to have overstayed their market, and apparently have permitted stocks to decrease to an extent that demands replenishment. Spot wheat in Liverpool was quoted as 3@4½d higher for the day with No. 2 Manitobas at 89½c, or about 25c over the closing figure on the May delivery at Winnipeg on Monday. Futures in the English market were 1¾@1⅝d higher for the day.

In addition to free buying of futures at Winnipeg credited to Chicago account the country took October freely, and the close there was 2¼@2⅝c higher. Winnipeg July at one time sold within 2¼c of the same future in Chicago, and with 3½c under the last, but at a permium of a like amount as compared with Kansas City.

Export sales of around 750,000 bu Manitoba wheats were reported during the day despite the pronounced strength in futures with Europe the leading buyer. Buenos Aires closed ⅛@⅜c higher with an upturn of ⅛c in the exchange rate a factor.

Corn in Strong Rally.

Profit taking was on in corn early with a decline of around ¾c from Monday's finish, the selling being based largely on the fact that prices were up 5½c from the low of last week. The market turned strong when wheat started upward and prices advanced 1⅛@1⅜c over the early low with shorts covering freely on the way up. Reports of a material increase in country offerings of cash grain to arrive caused a reaction of ¾c from the top. The close was at net gains of ⅝@¾c. March being 66⅝@66¾c; May, 69@69¼c; July, 70⅝@70½c, and September, 70⅛@70¼c at the last.

Illinois, Iowa and Nebraska took advantage of the bulge in futures to sell around 175,000 bu cash corn to arrive, including some obtained from other terminal markets.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Disposition of grain traders is to look more to the bright side of the situation as a result of hardening in the stock, cotton and grain markets, the stock market being the leader. Despite the good advance in grain prices, there is no increased disposition to press the short side and buying on breaks is more pronounced. More caution is displayed by the majority of traders, with the foreign situation working stronger and stocks there decreasing. The trend of values for the time being is regarded as irregularly upward, although traders say purchases should not be made on bulges.

Cash wheat is being bought at Kansas City by the Farmers National and moderate sales to millers are reported. Kansas City has 24,794,000 bu of wheat. Minneapolis has 32,000,000 bu; Duluth, 29,000,000 bu; Chicago, 20,000,000 and Omaha, 12,000,000, a total of practically 113,000,000 bu. The total visible is 192,000,000 bu against practically 160,000,000 bu last year.

MORE INTEREST IN COTTON

An increased interest was visible in the cotton market yesterday due to the better tone in stocks and grain, which has attracted more speculative buying and assisted in advancing prices. Profit taking at the last, however, carried prices off 7 or 8 points from the top. At the close futures in Chicago were 17@20 points higher on the active trading futures with New Orleans up 20@22 points and New York 19@29 points. Spots advanced 20 points. New York reaching 10.90c. New Orleans, 10.60c; Galveston, 10.65c; Houston, 10.55c. Liverpool was strong and 8@9 points higher, with spot sales, 3,000 bales.
